GHENT LOSES BY RULING ON PLANTS

Botanic Gardens Face Annual Loss of Two Million Francs

Brussels, July 8 .- The city of Ghent which is noted for its magnificent botanic garden, is greatly concerned over the ruling of the American Department of Agriculture, prohibiting the importation of live plants owing to danger of insect infection. Controversy Over Tips Ends in Strike—Restaurants Closed Rome, July 5 .- Restaurant waiters have been recently veritable an-cient Caesars in Rome for they have controlled both the public and the hotel and restaurant proprietors. Romans cannot eat outside the confines of their own home for there is now no place to eat. All restaurants are closed.

The quarrel is on the unending subject of tips. It has been the policy during some weeks to include subject of tips. It has been the policy during some weeks to include the tip in the bill. At the end of each day, the waiter's share would amount to 20 per cent of the gross receipts in some cases. The proprietors found that this procedure was not acceptable to the guests and asked the waiters to return to the former system of voluntary tipping. They refused.

The refusal culminated in a strike.

former system of voluntary tipping. They refused.

The refusal culminated in a strike. Some hotels were forced to accede to the demands of the waiters and in these alone was anyone able to procure food. Because these hotels were the only ones in which people could be served, the waiters clashed with the patrons. Italian officers accompanied by women were insulted while a dignified British general, just returned from the campaign in Palestine was subjected to a somewhat torturesome excertation.

Oriental "Shimmy" to Give Atmosphere to New 1920 History Classes at Columbia

New York, July 8.—Oriental dancers will help Vahan H. Kalenderian, who was secretary of the United States Racial Advisory group Guring the war, teach history next fall at Columbia University, it was announced by the University's Department of Public Information.

The announcement stated that "whirling dervishes and brown-eyed dancers from the East" are to have a prominent part in the courses Mr. Kalenderian intends to introduce at Columbia. Through them he hopes to "bring to" American students the background of the peoples of such places as Abyssinia, Afghanistan and Baluchistan," and every dancer "will appear before the students in native costumes and perform the dances which will help to interpret the ideals, superstitions and customs of the races considered."

WAITERS CONTROL OBSOLETE BATTLESHIPS WROTE MANY PAGES IN U. S. NAVAL HISTORY

Twelve of Them, Ordered to Be Broken Up and Sold For Junk, Played Prominent Parts in American

Achievements

Washington, July 8. — Decision of Mercedes as that vessel attempted to Navy Department to break up and escape from the harbor at Santiago. washington, July 8. — Decision of the Navy Department to break up and sell for junk or use for targets twelve obsolete battleships marks the passing of a fleet of vessels long identified with many of the most glorious achievements of the new American navy. They wrote many bright pages into this country's naval history during their years of service and four of them have participated actively in two wars. The doomed ships, including the famous old Spanish-American war squadron consisting of the Oregon, Iowa, Indiana and Massachusetts and the more modern but hardly less famous Kentucky, Kearsarge, Alabama, Illinois, Wisconsin, Ohio, Missouri and Maine, composed one of the most, if not the most powerful battleship fleet in the world more than fifteen years ago.

Foremost among the achievements of these famous old fighting craft is the part they played in the Spanish-American war. The Oregon, which had been commissioned at San Francisco in July, 1896, was at Mare Island navy yard in 1898 when the message was flashed to her commander that the United States was at war with Spain. On March 6, 1898, the famous old ship cleared the Golden Gate, bound for the West Indies, or in the height of her fame, was cleaved in reserve commission. The Iowa, Massachusetts Fing Shtp

On March 6, 1898, the famous old ship cleared the Golden Gate, bound for the West Indies, on what proved to be the most epoch making battleship-voyage ever undertaken. With decks stripped for action and gun crews at their stations the Oregon plowed around Cape Horn, up the east coast of South America and arrived at Key West on May 26, ready for action, having made the 14,000 mile voyage in 68 cruising days. Captain C. E. Clark, the Oregon's commanding officer, was ordered to take his ship to Santiago and there join the blockading squadron which was awaiting battle with the Spanish fleet.

In that now historic sea fight the Oregon ran the Vizcaya, pride of the Spanish fleet ashore after riddling the craft with hits from her eight and thirteen-inch guns and then engaged in a running fight with the Colon which surrendered after having been cut off from the open sea by the Oregon and forced to head for the beach. A shot at the Colon from one of the Oregon's thirteen-inch guns was the last shot fired during the battle.
