

Little Porch Party For Ridley Park Girl

There was a pleasant little porch party given last evening by Miss Esther DeWees at her home, 2209 North Fourth street, in honor of Miss Zettan Warner, of Ridley Park, who is visiting in the city.

Lanterns and flags decorated the porch and the guests enjoyed games and dancing. Refreshments were served to Miss Sara Dice, Miss Kathleen Eyster, Miss Mary Pentz, Miss Warner, Miss DeWees, Ray Gormley, George Lang, Robert Hubler, William Fackler, Paul Huntzberger, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene DeWees and Mrs. Miller.

TELLS ENGAGEMENT A T RAINBOW LUNCHEON

MISS ELEANOR COPELIN

When Miss Eleanor Copelin, daughter of Owen M. Copelin, Fourteenth and Verbeke streets, invited some of her friends to luncheon at the Penn-Harris to-day to meet her house guests, Mrs. J. Monroe Proctor, of El Paso, Texas, and Miss Elizabeth Boecking, of Tyrone, no one suspected that an engagement would be the surprise of the afternoon.

In the center of the table was a wonderful basket of garden flowers in rainbow effect, with phlox, yellow roses, mignonette and larkspur partly veiled with feathery foliage. At each corner stood a tiny hat stand topped with a little French bonnet of satin and chiffon, the streamers bearing two hearts with the names of Miss Copelin and L. Francis Simonetti in betrothal announcement. There were corsage bouquets of sweetpeas and sweetheart roses tied with satin ribbons in rainbow colorings as favors for the guests, who included Mrs. Proctor, Miss Boecking, Mrs. William Coulter Wanbaugh, Miss Mildred Astrich, Miss Constance Beideman, Mrs. J. Stewart Montgomery, Miss Miriam Keiser, Miss Jane Macdonald, Mrs. George L. Bauscher, Mrs. William Weber, Mrs. William J. Marks, Miss Katharine Simonetti, Mrs. Clara L. Miller and Miss Mary Koon.

Miss Copelin, one of the popular girls of the city, was educated at Linden Hall, Litz, and the Beechwood school, Jenkintown, where she specialized in art. She is an enthusiastic motorist, and served as a lieutenant of the local Red Cross Motor Corps during the war. Mr. Simonetti, a son of Louis Simonetti, 215 Forster street, has returned here after two years' service with the One Hundred and Third Motor Supply Train overseas. He is now connected with the new hardware firm of Albright & Simonetti, formerly J. S. Ryder, North Third street. The marriage will be an event of the early autumn.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS ENJOY AN OUTING

Party from Covenant Presbyterian Church Have Returned From Perdix

The Camp Fire Girls of the Covenant Presbyterian church have just returned home after an outing crowded with good times at the Alabama cottage, Perdix.

There were special duties for each day and Miss Esther Selsam, the guardian planned many pleasurable events. Among these were hikes to Marysville, Duncannon and over the mountains back of Perdix. Dips in the river were everyday occurrences and two parties were given to entertain Harrisburg friends.

The Camp Fire girls included: Miss Mary Lewis, Miss Marian Bassler, Miss Lillian Espenshade, Miss Esther Young, Miss Katharine Plover, Miss Beatrice Ploverman, Miss Alice File, Miss Adeline Julius, Miss Esther Coons, Miss Esther Pink, Miss Helen Dewalt, Miss Mary Genter, Miss Ester Ulrich, Miss Ruth Ulrich, and Miss Esther Selsam.

School-Days' Romance Leads to the Altar

A double wedding was solemnized last evening at the parsonage of the Augsburg Lutheran Church, when Miss Blanche Edna Martin and Paul Otto Wallace were united in marriage and Miss Adaline L. Burris became the bride of Chalmers Grove Moore, a discharged soldier. The Rev. Dr. Amos Maxwell Stamets officiated. They were unattended. Mrs. Wallace wore a pink crepe de chine gown with a hat of pink Georgette and a corsage bouquet of pink roses. Mrs. Moore's gown was of white crepe de chine with a white Georgette hat and a corsage bouquet of pink roses.

The double wedding is the culmination of a romance which dates back to the days when the couples were school children.

Mrs. Wallace is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Martin, 514 Macley street. Mr. Wallace, who is in the employ of the Pennsylvania railroad, is the son of William H. Wallace, 2122 Moore street.

Mrs. Moore is the daughter of Amos Burris, 2315 North Sixth street and was employed as operator for the Bell Telephone Company. Mr. Moore is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred M. Moore, 547 Camp street.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace and Mr. and Mrs. Moore will spend the honeymoon in Camp at the Cove.

Mrs. J. A. Spencer, Miss Bernice Bollinger and G. L. Sawtelle, have moved to Reese Gap, Juniata Company for the weekend.

T. N. T. CLUB MEETING

The regular monthly meeting of the T. N. T. Club was held Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. William F. Stoll, 557 Race street. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Todd C. Frantz, Mr. and Mrs. Ross H. Swartz, Mr. and Mrs. Howard D. Haulman, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Stoll, Mr. and Mrs. Buxton and daughter, Isabella; Mrs. Harry Hoover and son, Abner; William Swartz, Dorothy Stoll, Kathryn Nicholas, Mrs. William F. Stoll and James H. Stoll.

SPENDS FURLOUGH HERE

Sergeant Edward Lander, of Canton, Ohio, has been spending a short furlough with Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Roberts, Fifth and Camp streets. Sergeant Lander is stationed at Camp Dix after a service of eight months overseas and his wife is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roberts.
