

LONDON PAYS HER TRIBUTE TO PERSHING

spected the guards and then entered the hall and was conducted to the dais, where he was greeted by the Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress. After the ceremony in the Guild hall the Lord Mayor entertained the company at a luncheon at the Mansion House. General Pershing sat at his right, with Mrs. Davis, wife of the Ambassador, at the left. Others present at the function included Ambassador Davies, Winston Spencer Churchill, the War Secretary, the Earl of Reading, Lord Chief Justice, Lord Lee, Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig and Lady Haig, Walter Hume Long, First Lord of the Admiralty; Viscount Bryce, the members of General Pershing's staff and the commanding officers of the American units which were taking part in tomorrow's Victory celebration.

Also attending the luncheon were the members of the American embassy staff, Major General John Bidde and his staff; Rear Admiral Knapp and other American Naval officers, together with Major G. M. Scott and Brigadier General E. M. Maitland, of R-34 fame.

Pershing Replies After General Pershing had been greeted by the Lord Mayor, Sir Horace B. Marshall and the Lady Mayoress the town clerk, Sir James Bell, read the resolution of the corporation authorizing the present ceremony.

"It is now nine years," said the chamberlain, "of the incorporation of this ancient city welcomed in this hall Theodore Roosevelt, and it is a happy circumstance that the ceremony which is being celebrated here should be one in which another great American is the honored guest of the city—the gallant commander of the American Expeditionary Force in France, whose character and qualities were recognized and appreciated by no one so quickly as by Colonel Roosevelt."

CITIES MAY BUY SURPLUS PROVENDER

vegetables were announced, reductions would enable the committee to offer inducements to the people of Harrisburg to buy the Government surplus. He will explain to the committee just what the 20 per cent. reduction on Government products means to the people here. It was admitted yesterday that the prices were in some instances high, and this was explained that when the Government purchased the goods there was a necessity for prompt delivery and that while some of the wholesale prices were high the Government was forced to buy.

canned goods are being sold at about half the current prices in the stores. "If it is found that the demand for the goods is much greater than the supply another carload will be ordered at once and additional orders will be placed as long as there is sale for the goods. The bacon will be weighed. It will be in slabs which vary in weight from three to four pounds. These will all be weighed and tagged with the weight, under the direction of the License Tax Officer W. Blair Dunn, then if anyone sends more money than his order than his bill amounts to the surplus will be refunded.

"The bacon could have been secured in cans, each can having three pieces, the whole weighing about twelve pounds, but in the absence of knowledge of the condition of the cans, it was decided to order it in crates. The crates being about 2 cents cheaper than that placed in cans." Governor Sprout, departing from ordinary custom at a review of the Pennsylvania Militia yesterday afternoon at Mt. Gretno, wore his straw hat and a dark blue suit, instead of the frock coat and top hat which the conventional reviewer. The Governor gave his colored valet an awful start when he announced that such was to be his uniform when he mounted for the review, and when he mounted for the review could say would induce him to change his plan.

In speaking of the review later, the Governor said that he was very, very proud of their record. At a time when the National Guard of the State had been called out to act as a Federal division in France, the Militia had organized mainly from civilians who had absolutely no military experience whatever, and the way they held their own in the "flu" epidemic last fall there was a great number of deaths among the militia, which was called out to assist in the checking of the disease. Governor Sprout spoke very feelingly of this service and it was noticed that he was in tears as the review ended. When Company G, of the First Regiment, passed in review, the Governor was poignantly reminded of his son-in-law, Captain Klair, who until he died of the "flu" last fall was prominent in that company. The other members of the Governor's family did not attend the review yesterday on that account.

Enormous Hoarding Charged

Chicago, July 18.—In a report issued yesterday, officials of the Illinois Department of Agriculture declare that enormous quantities of meats, butter and eggs are now in storage in Chicago warehouses, chiefly under control of the five big packers. The report states that since the last regular compilation of figures, June 1, the stocks of these commodities have grown an abnormal proportion and that their resale would go far toward relieving the present shortage and tend to reduce prices.

According to the report, the following quantities are at present stored in Chicago: Beef, $5,971,000 pounds. Pork, 70,517,000 pounds. Butter, 7,892,000 pounds. Eggs, 1,280,000 cases or 360,000,000 dozen e. g. s.

The figures in the report will be used by District Attorney Clyne in the Federal Government's inquiry into the high cost of food products in Chicago. Adjutant General Frank D. Beary, and Mayor E. V. Babcock, of Pittsburgh, Mrs. Babcock with her son and daughter followed in another machine; they had been guests of the Governor over Wednesday night. Most of those recognized as belonging to the Governor's cabinet were present. They included State Treasurer H. M. Kephart, Secretary of Internal Affairs, James P. Wood, Banking Commissioner John S. Fisher, Commissioner of Labor and Industry, Clifford B. Connelly, Appropriations Committee, Chairman, William McClellan; Auditor General Charles Snyder and Benjamin W. Demming, chief clerk in the Adjutant General's Department, together with a large number of prominent officers of the guard, some of whom have returned home from overseas; Major General Price, and Generals Shannon and Rickard, the military contingent which included former N. G. P. officers, Colonel H. E. Haldeman, Colonel H. C. Trexler, Colonel Edward Young and others who were for years prominent in uniform at similar functions here, but most of whom to-day were in civilian attire.

pronounced by old-time officers of the Guard as the most distinguished escort of actual soldiers ever seen accompanying a Governor in the history of the State Militia, as there were but two civilian officers in the assemblage, and one of these was a veteran of the Civil War, the rest being almost direct from actual service in France. They included Major General William G. Price and his aid, Captain Robert Mortis; General George C. Richards, General E. C. Shannon—all already appointed in the new National Guard; Colonel Horace E. Haldeman, Colonel Frederick A. Snyder, Colonel William J. Crookston, Lieutenant-Colonel Robert Brookfield, Lieutenant-Colonel Fred Taylor Pusey, Lieutenant-Colonel Charles F. Clement, who commanded the military police of the Pennsylvania Division in France; Major J. Warner Hutchins, Major Quinton O. Reitzel and Major Samuel B. Wolfe. In the evening, following the band concert in his honor by the Second Regiment, accompanied by the members of the Third Regiment, as the guest of Colonel Franklin B. Earnest, a motorcade back to Harrisburg about 9 o'clock.
