CITY FORESTER GIVES WARNING

Following Complaints He Insists Permission Be Secured to Trim Trees

Because of the number of complaints which have been received at the office of City Forester Louis G. Baltimore, about branches of trees growing too near the sidewalks in some sections of the city, he has issued instructions for pruning and caring for trees.

A number of complaints have been received by this office in regard to limbs and branches growing too near the sidewalks so as to interfere with pedestrians.

In cities a distance of eight to ten or more feet should be left between the roadway and the lowest limbs as the nature and amount of trees necessitates higher pruning than in small towns or in open country.

Flowering shrubs should not be pruned during resting season unless you can sacrifice next year's flowers.

Poor People Want Small Loaf at Lower Price, Is Governor's Conclusion

"No law should be passed specifically stating the quantity of an article of merchandise which can or cannot be sold" says Governor Spraul in vetoing the bill making it unlawful to make or sell a loaf of bread weighing less than a pound.

"There are thousands of people who do not want to purchase a loaf of bread weighing a pound as they may not use that quantity within a certain time and the unused portion become stale," says he.

There are many bakers who are awaiting the opportunity to make a good small loaf of bread that can be sold for five cents, but if this bill were approved, it would prevent the manufacture of a five cent loaf, thereby taking away from very poor people the opportunity to secure a fresh loaf of bread at frequent intervals.
