An organization of such men, consecrated and sanctified in their comradeship by devotion of mutual helpfulness, cannot be otherwise than a great asset to the Nation.

Harrisburg will be more than iglad to welcome the delegates to the forthcoming organization conference of the Legion and to extend the hospitality of a patriotic community on that occasion.

Americans will not be greatly impressed with the administration's efforts to ridicule the opposition of United States Senators to the League of Nations. They are discharging their duty as they understand it and the presumption of supreme wisdom in the White House will not influence the public mind once the facts are fully exhibited.

SALESMEN VISITORS

The gathering here of some of the few in Harrisburg with international connections and a trade as wide as the world. It is a big and growing concern of which any city may be proud and the meeting here this week is almost as important to the community as it is to the comporation. The men gathered from all parts of the world will carry back with them impressions of Harrisburg that, to say the least, will do us no harm. This is city advertising of the highest order and the Elliott-Pisher people are giving it to us for nothing.

As the Grand Army of the Republic has united and held together through a long period of years the veterans of the Civil Wars into a single organization throughout the country the men who served with unselfish devotion the great cause of human freedom in the World War.

Harrisburg will see the actual welding together of the various units of the organization at a convention to be held in this city in October. Preliminary steps are now being taken and the principles upon which the organization is being built are already attracting wide at tention and interest.

Nothing does more to strengthen that delusion than the spectacle of the Government diligently furthering the schemes of those whose chief concern is to keep up food prices.

Medical men, who have noted the health of Harrisburg for a generation, are frank to say that they believe the plans of Dr. J. M. J. Raunick for eradicating the mosquito nuisance in this city can not fail to produce good results and also will demonstrate to any doubter that control of the sources of the mosquito plague is feasible. Harrisburg has been a sufferer from mosquitoes for years. There have been periodical invasions of them every summer and no section of the city has been free from them. Steelton has also suffered. This year, because of the unusual weather conditions and the collecting of water in low places, there have been more than usual. Recently, some people who were familiar with the plans of the State Department of Health for eliminating plague spots under the act.approved a short time ago, identified a dozen places in and about Harrisburg where Dr. Raunick's workers could find material for experiments. Some of these are in the northern end of the city, but the Hill section and down town have a few. All that is needed, say these people, is the digging of some ditches and use of oil. Furthermore, they predict that once the steps are taken to get rid of the pests in the early stages there will be enough people benefited to volunteer for work.

This is the story of a hurry call for policemen. The hens on a property in an outlying section of the city were heard squawking. Three policemen responded and visited the city were heard squawkins. Three policemen responded and visited the place. They tapped the doors and they went over the porch trying the windows. Then they looked into the cellar windows, tramping down the hollyhocks in their ardor. Then they approached the rear of the lot and found—One large rat which had killed a hen and was having supper. "Be Americans first, Republicans second, and individuals third," is the advice Magistrate George Genung, of New York, gave a group of women who had invited him to talk to them about politics. Judge Genung doesn't believe in nonpartisan alliances or third parties;—use your influence to make the party you belong to keep to high ideals, then you have its strength and its organization to get results.

"And, because somebody does something you don't like," he added "don't leave the Republican fold for the Democratic and expect them to reward you with any political plums. Those are for the women who have always been Democrata, and you will
