

EIGHTY REELS OF PICTURES SENT MARINES IN HAITI

Is Part of Entertainment Provided by Uncle Sam's "Devil Dogs" Stationed on the Island

New York, July 25.—Eighty reels of motion picture films, supplied by the Y. M. C. A., have been sent to Haiti in charge of Chaplain H. M. Peterson, of the First Provisional Brigade, Marine Corps, for the entertainment of Uncle Sam's "Devil Dogs" now stationed on the island. The films are the products of some of the biggest motion picture stars, including such players as William S. Hart, Douglas Fairbanks, Dustin Farnum, Wallace Reid, Blanche Sweet and Mae Murray.

These movies, nevertheless, are but a part of the regular monthly shipment made by the Y. M. C. A. to the Marines in the West Indies. The total cost of the material sent them in the last year approximates $50,000, a fourth of this amount going to Haiti.

In acknowledgment of the films, Chaplain Peterson has written to the "Y" as follows: "We have received our motion picture service from the Y. M. C. A. with an average of perhaps about four shows per month. We are now endeavoring to show the films at five points in Haiti. The service has been appreciated by officers and men alike. "I cannot give a full detailed list of the many supplies you have sent during the past year without consulting my files, as they are too numerous to recall from memory. Let me say that no other organization has done so much—or rather, all the organizations together have not done so much as the Y. M. C. A. alone."

SUGGESTS PLAN TO AID IN FINANCING EUROPE

New York Banker Would Pool Her Needs of Credits and Commodities and Then Merge American Resources to Meet Them

New York, July 25.—To pool Europe's needs of credits and commodities is one hand and to pool America's resources to meet them is a plan suggested by James S. Alexander, President of the National Bank of Commerce, in a report for rehabilitating European countries and enabling them to reconstruct their war-stricken industries.

A committee recently formed to investigate methods for supplying Europe with American money and goods during the reconstruction period. The committee was formed upon the suggestion of Henry P. Davidson and is headed by J. P. Morgan as chairman.

"A pool of Europe's needs should be met by a pool of America's resources," asserts Mr. Alexander. "That is, America's resources should be applied to Europe's needs through a great centralized credit organization, with extensive powers of coordination. This may sound like an ideal plan stated in sweeping terms but I think its details can be worked out in practical concrete form."

There seems to be no existing machinery adequate to do so. Therefore, a special instrumentality must be set up probably in the form of a great credit corporation with capital enough to handle transactions of a size that would be involved, transactions representing not merely the business of individual concerns but the combined requirements of nations.

"A necessary step would seem to be that surveys be made of the needs of the nations of Europe, that is, an estimate of how much copper, steel, cotton, wheat and other supplies would be required for Belgium and also for the other needy countries."

"The supplies available in America are great but they are not so great as to meet unlimited and unbalanced demands. Therefore there should be a judicious rationing of our commodities among the nations requiring them, in accordance with their needs."

"In addition to this rationing and allocation of commodities, there is the question of establishing adequate credits in this country to be considered. The necessary credit will be great so that they must be carried to the investing public of the whole country in the form of bonds or debentures."

"Because of the deferred maturities of these debentures, the banks are not to be expected to absorb them. There will have to be an appeal to the general public on the grounds of a safe and lucrative investment and for the sake of humanity."

Mr. Alexander pointed out that this would be a means of maintaining the business prosperity and integrity of America and of protecting Americans from unsound investments in European securities.

MINERS TO ASK BIG WAGE RAISE

Minimum Scale of $6 a Day Will Be Included in the Demands

Scranton, Pa., July 25.—At the afternoon session of the mine workers of District No. 1, yesterday some of the demands that are to be made on the operators at the expiration of the present agreement next April were formulated. Those so far agreed upon are:

An increase in wages of sixty per cent, a minimum scale of $6 a day, the six hour work day, five and one half days a week, the closed shop, time and one-half for all work done on Sundays and legal holidays and payment of consideration rates when mine workers are compelled to lose any time through delays in the furnishing of props and other material.

These demands were presented in the form of resolution in the report of the resolutions committee. They were concurred in by the committee and the report was adopted by the convention. The demands will be presented to the scale committee at the tri-district convention to be held in Wilkes-Barre next month.

Negro Hanged by Mob of 500; Had Assaulted Woman

Gilmer, Tex., July 25.—Chilton Jennings, a negro, was taken from jail here yesterday afternoon and hanged in the court yard square by a mob of about five hundred men. The negro was arrested charged with assaulting a woman here yesterday. The mob dispersed after the negro was pronounced dead.

Survey Is Needed "There seems to be no existing machinery adequate to do so. Therefore, a special instrumentality must be set up probably in the form of a great credit corporation with capital enough to handle transactions of a size that would be involved, transactions representing not merely the business of individual concerns but the combined requirements of nations."

"A necessary step would seem to be that surveys be made of the needs of the nations of Europe, that is, an estimate of how much copper, steel, cotton, wheat and other supplies would be required for Belgium and also for the other needy countries."

"The supplies available in America are great but they are not so great as to meet unlimited and unbalanced demands. Therefore there should be a judicious rationing of our commodities among the nations requiring them, in accordance with their needs."

"In addition to this rationing and allocation of commodities, there is the question of establishing adequate credits in this country to be considered. The necessary credit will be great so that they must be carried to the investing public of the whole country in the form of bonds or debentures."

"Because of the deferred maturities of these debentures, the banks are not to be expected to absorb them. There will have to be an appeal to the general public on the grounds of a safe and lucrative investment and for the sake of humanity."

Mr. Alexander pointed out that this would be a means of maintaining the business prosperity and integrity of America and of protecting Americans from unsound investments in European securities.

"The security behind these debentures should make them almost equal to Government bonds in point of safety," Mr. Alexander said. "They must be based on everything in the way of collateral that Europe is able to offer. The individual European buyer must be prepared to give a general mortgage upon his entire assets. His loan should be further endorsed by a consortium of banks in his own country, reformed where possible by governmental guarantee. Thus every debenture sold to an American investor would have behind it equal security consisting of the pool of all the collateral supplied by Europe. There would be no direct loans against the collateral of weak concerns or nations individually by the American investor; neither would the strong be allowed to monopolize the benefits."

Mr. Alexander declared that sufficient credits must be extended to meet the full requirements of either of Europe as a whole, of the individual industries. The full needs of Europe must be ascertained and met, he said, and this would make imperative an interest survey of its requirements. Credits supplied should be made available not to the nations of Europe as such he added, but to the specific interests within the nations properly coordinated, that is, to industries, manufacturers, transportation lines and even to municipalities requiring funds for reconstruction.

To put his plan into operation, Mr. Alexander said, there would have to be "this scientific survey of Europe's needs," willingness of individual interests within the nations properly coordinated, to furnish satisfactory collateral and to pay American rates rather than European rates on loans made by the proposed American corporation.
