AMERICANS TO GET PROPERTY

Was Not Liquidated During War, Says German Official

Berlin, July 26.—Germany has not liquidated American private or business property, Clemens Von Delbrueck, acting Minister of Justice, told the Associated Press correspondent today.

While America carried out this liquidation measure, the minister said that Germany never did so, but, on the contrary, merely regulated and administered American property.

"In no single case has Germany touched or violated American trademarks," continued the minister. In the case of patents we distributed licenses for their use by Germans in five cases but we never declared American patents null or expired.

"The Ministry of Justice quoted A. Mitchell Palmer, formerly Alien Property Custodian of America, as having declared in his report of the United States senate in February last that Germany had done the same as America in liquidating alien property but had always been so.
