

CHICAGO WILL BUILD HOTEL

Will Contain 441 Rooms and Cost Two Million Dollars

Chicago, July 30.—As substantial indication of improved building tendencies in the Middle West, announcement is made in Chicago of the completion of plans for the immediate erection of the new Somerset Hotel, representing a total investment of $2,000,000.

Somerset will be that all apartments are to be completely furnished and the one-room suites will have a living room, dressing room and bath. S. W. Straus & Co. have undertaken a $1,250,000 first mortgage 6 per cent serial bond issue on the property.

Fails to Recover Money He Wed For

Dublin, July 30.—William Pedlar, an American citizen, and a member of the Clan-na-Gael, who fought in the Easter Rebellion, to-day sued the chief commissioner of the police for money taken from him after arrest on a charge of drilling. The jury return a verdict for plaintiff but the judge refused, holding that an alien had no rights against a crown official acting with authority.

K. OF C. WILL EXTEND WORK

Will Include Demobilized Yeomanettes, Nurses and Relief Workers

New York, July 30.—Having already attained the largest record of any employment agency in the country for finding jobs for ex-soldiers and sailors, the Knights of Columbus Reconstruction and Employment Service will now extend the scope of its activities to include the demobilized yeomanettes, nurses, relief workers and other women and girls in the various branches of the U. S. service who have been released.

Hundreds of these girls have been let go by the War and Navy Departments, and are now looking for work. Mary D. Burgen, of New York, was the first girl placed by the K. of C. bureau. She was a nurse at Base Hospital 69, and the Knights found a job for her as supervisor for the Pullman Car Company.

"Although the Knights are devoting their efforts to placing demobilized soldiers, sailors and marines, we are glad of the opportunity to be of assistance to the women veterans of the war, some of whom did heroic work overseas," said William P. Larkin, director of overseas activities for the K. of C. The K. of C. employment office in Longacre hut is crowded every day with hundreds of soldiers and sailors who have been demobilized and are looking for jobs in New York. There is still a demand for skilled workmen, according to "Casey" secretaries, and jobs will be found for every man who really wants to work.

H. C. L. CHARGED TO WAR DEPARTMENT

Washington, July 30.—Republican Congressman Frank Kenvis, of Nebraska, chairman of the House subcommittee investigating the activities of the quartermaster department of the army, has made a report based on the hearings held to date regarding the supply and disposition of foodstuffs. The report bares the fact that large supplies of food, much of which was perished, have been withheld from the market and requested the Secretary of War to take action at once to place on the market the food, amounting in value to $120,000,000, which it is contained in and has been held from consumption for the protection of those who sold these products to the Government and in order to prevent a decline in food prices.

Much Food Spoiled The report sets forth that when the armistice was signed the army consisted of 3,700,000 men, while food was being accumulated for an army of 5,000,000; that demobilization began at once and by January 11, 800,000 men had been discharged and by May 14, 2,252,000 had been released from the army; that on November 30, 1918, General March, chief of staff, ordered the declaration of a surplus of all perishable foods with a view to their sale to the consumers, but that no action was taken to carry out this order until May, 1919. The report shows that these food stores were depreciating rapidly, that the incalculable delay resulted in the spoiling of millions of pounds of ham and bacon to the great loss of the Government and the people, who were in need of food products.

"This policy," says the report, "finds expression not only in the testimony given to the committee by the officers of the War Department, but in documentary evidence as well. As an instance of such intention to prevent the American people from purchasing these products the Quartermaster General's department through General R. E. Wood, Quartermaster General, entered into an agreement with the Canner's Association that some 200,000 cases of canned vegetables would be kept off the domestic market during the season; this agreement was subsequently extended by an order of the Quartermaster General adding these canned vegetables to the soldiers' ration in the expressed hope that they would be entirely consumed and that none would be left for sale. This order would have resulted in a loss to the Government of millions of dollars to be derived from the sale of this surplus, as well as depriving the American people of a large quantity of food."

The purpose as shown by the testimony was to protect the canners who had sold the produce from competition with the governmental surplus.

Urges Food Be Sold In order to relieve the situation, which shows the surplus of food to be constantly growing larger because of the continued demobilization of the Army, the committee recommends that these food supplies be sold without delay on the domestic market to the American people who, it is great sacrifice, bought and paid for them and the committee looks with disfavor on the policy of exporting them from America to foreign nations for sale and consumption. The committee further recommends that plans be devised by the Secretary of War, through the War Department, for the early disposition of all surplus food products on the domestic market under a system which will grant to the American people the opportunity to secure the same for food purposes.

Rip Van Winkle was not perfect Neither was the Old fashioned Razor—But

RIP lacked some of those qualities which society demands—yet, year after year, people kept the great and good Joseph Jefferson playing the part of that lovable vagabond.

Like Rip, the old-fashioned razor was not perfect either—but it was a real razor—an efficient shaving tool developed by centuries of use and workmanship, and entitled to be kept for its good points. In fact, it was old-fashioned only in that it lacked two modern things—the two-edged, detachable blade and—safety.

To add these, but to retain the good of the old, is real progress in razor development.

The razor that has both what the old style had and what it lacked is the

DURHAM-DUPLEX A Real Razor—made Safe

An evolution, not a revolution in razors—all the good points of the new idea, all the good points of the old. The shape, balance and blade-angle-on-the-face of the old style razor have always been recognized as unbeatable. To these, the Durham-Duplex adds a guarded, detachable, double-edged blade—the longest, strongest, keenest blade on earth. Furthermore, it is the best-tempered blade you can buy. There is also a stropping attachment that gives you the luxury of a fresh edge at a moment's notice. These advantages added to the conceded virtues of the old-style razor have led Seven Million Shavers to change from other razors to the Durham-Duplex. Why don't you, too, change—today?

CZECHS WANT JULIA LATHROP

Extend Invitation to Give Advice to the Children Oversea

New York, July 30.—Authorities of the Czech-Slovak government have sent to Herbert Hoover, Director General of the American Relief Administration, a request that Miss Julia Lathrop, Director of the Federal Bureau of Children's Relief in Washington be asked to visit the European countries during the coming winter to give advice on children's relief work. This became known through a cable received from Mr. Hoover yesterday by Edgar Rickard, joint director of the Relief Administration, 42 Broadway.

Announcement of the wish expressed by the Czech-Slovaks for the presence of Miss Lathrop in their country is particularly interesting in view of the fact that it closely follows the news of Mr. Hoover's new charitable organization, the American Relief Administration European Children's Relief, which will raise funds for some time to come to carry on the child-feeding organizations already established abroad.

Miss Lathrop, when interviewed to-day in Washington by the received official notification of the invitations from the Czech-Slovak government. Three hundred and fifty thousand children in Czech-Slovakia are receiving one meal a day from the National Czech-Slovak Child Welfare Society which was organized by the American Relief Administration. According to a cable received from Prague to the Relief Administration in Paris by Lieutenant Colonel A. J. Carlson, of Chicago, the director of the Children's Relief Bureau there, the growth of the children has been so stunted that it was evident undernourishment had continued throughout the war. These conditions, he said, are particularly bad in Prague, but worse along the German border.

It is expected that the state of the children in Central Europe will be greatly improved by the time the harvest is in. Meanwhile, America must contribute milk and fats for the nourishment of little ones abroad.

The American Relief Administration European Children's Relief will organize all of the national societies in this country for the report of the child bureaus in their native lands.

28th, With 732 Men Taken Captive, Leads All of U. S. Divisions

Philadelphia, July 30.—The 28th Division—Pennsylvania's "Own"—had more of its men taken prisoners by the Germans than any other American division in France. A statement, issued by the War Department to-day, shows that eighteen officers and 714 enlisted men of the Iron Division were removed from the fighting through capture by the Germans. In all, 4,480 Americans, 316 of whom were officers, were captured by the enemy. The 28th Division, made up of the New England National Guard, was second only to the 28th in the number of men lost by capture, eighteen officers and 428 men of that organization having been forced to surrender.

WELLS GIVE UP REFINED OIL

Coal Oil and Kerosene Is Ready to Burn in Lamps

London, July 30.—Not only coal but refined kerosene which may be burned in lamps is flowing from the mysterious oil wells at Ramsey near Peterborough.

The oil was first discovered nearly two years ago rising to the top of water wells by the hundreds of thousands of gallons or so had been collected the flow diminished but two or three gallons were gathered from the top of the water each day until lately. On July 1 two of the wells showed a largely increased yield which has continued. As the oil was refined it was thought at first that it had leaked from some tankage station, but this has been disproved by geologists, and the theory is accepted that by some freak of nature the oil is purified in the strata and then forced to the surface through the only openings available. The vicinity of the find has not been drilled by the prospectors who are now testing what are believed to be important oil fields in other parts of the Kingdom.

Low my fine complexion to Resinol Soap

The soothing, healing Resinol medication in Resinol Soap, combined with its freedom from harsh, irritating alkali, gives to red, rough and pimply complexions that whiteness and velvety softness which women crave. A skin washed only with Resinol Soap is usually a skin to be proud of. When the skin is in really bad condition, spread on just a little Resinol Ointment for ten minutes before using Resinol Soap. Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment are sold by all druggists.
