

DISCUSS U. S. PARTICIPATION IN INDEMNITY

Question of Whether America Shall Receive Share of Hun Payments Is Open One

By Associated Press. Washington, July 31.—Bernard M. Baruch, economic adviser to the American peace delegation, told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today that he thought the question whether the United States should receive a part of the indemnity to be paid by Germany still was an open one.

Senator Knox, Republican, Pennsylvania, said he understood from the President's message to the Senate in submitting the League Treaty, that the United States was to have no part of the indemnity, but Mr. Baruch replied that he thought this was only the President's opinion, and did not represent a definite decision.

Asked by Senator Knox whether the President expected to reach a decision on the matter within the consulting Congress, Mr. Baruch said he did not know.

The English text of the Treaty says the division of indemnity shall be "in proportion which have been determined" but Mr. Baruch pointed out that the French text more properly should be translated, "shall be determined." In this Chairman Lodge agreed.

Keyes For Treaty My back is stiffer than ever for ratification of the Treaty with reservations, said Senator Keyes, Republican, New Hampshire, today, after a conference with President Wilson at the White House.

Senator New of Indiana, a Republican member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said after a visit to the White House today that he had told the President it would be "utterly impossible to get the Senate to accept the Peace Treaty as it stands," and that it either would be "ratified with reservations or fail."

New Against Article X Senator New of Indiana, who was utterly opposed to Article ten of the League of Nations covenant. He added that in reply to the President's statement that adoption of reservations by the Senate might set a precedent for other nations he said that the questions of reservations was one of the United States to decide regardless of the effect on other countries.

Senator Keyes, who was one of the signers of the round robin on the League of Nations circulated by Republican Senators, in the closing hours of the last Congress, told the President he favored reservations along the lines proposed by former President Woodrow Wilson. Evans Hughes and Elihu Root.

Two Die When Freight Trains on New Haven Line Collide; Wreckage Burns

By Associated Press. Greenwich, Conn., July 31.—Two men were killed, both employees, when two freight trains over the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad collided at East Port Chester, N. Y., early today.

The dead are Charles Brickley, engineer of the train from New Haven, and Charles E. Rust, instructor of New Haven. They were in motor engine 0102, hauling a westbound freight, which was struck by another freight, the Harlem river extra 98A, just west of the signal station.

The crash threw the motor engine crosswise on the track and both men were wedged in. The wreckage of the leading freight was thrown over all four tracks. The wreckage caught fire, but this was quickly extinguished.

An official explanation of the accident has not been made. Among railroad men here it was stated that an extra train, thought to be a work train was using the tracks at East Port Chester, and extra 98A stopped to get a clearance. The train drawn by motor 0102 came up behind it. All in all, however, got out unhurt.

Eight Cases of Whisky Hauled Away From Capitol Building

Washington, July 31.—A wagon stopped in front of the Capitol yesterday and in a few minutes eight cases of "Old Tub" Kentucky whisky were brought from one of the basement rooms in the House end of the big building.

The Capitol employe who, on an order, delivered the liquor to the driver could not deny that the boxes contained whisky, as they were plainly marked. When questioned as to the ownership he admitted they had been ordered before shipments to Washington were prohibited by law and had been stored in the Capitol for safekeeping by a member of Congress, but the employe, of course, was not reckless enough to divulge the name of the lawmaker or tell whether the Congressman, who is tolerably well prepared for emergencies, voted "wet" or "dry" on the prohibition enforcement bill recently passed by the House.

BRIGLAR NOW CONNECTED WITH 3 MORE CRIMES

Home of Dr. Pyles One of Those Entered by Negro

Three more robberies have been fastened by the Harrisburg police on James Bruce Martin, alias Willie Hoskins, confessed housebreaker, who now is being held under $2,000 bail. He is held in three separate cases of housebreaking yesterday and in one case on Tuesday. It is possible that Martin committed nearly all of the other burglaries reported.

Robberies with which Martin has been connected in addition to the three of yesterday and one of Tuesday, are: H. J. Williams, 1717 State street, July 10. Mrs. Eva George, 1112 North Seventh street, July 22. Mr. Pyles has yet been located. Martin was arrested at 654 Cumberland street, was identified to-day by Mr. Williams.

A number of silk shirts, stolen from the Williams' residence and found in a suitcase in the room of Detective Speers in the rooms of Martin at 654 Cumberland street, were identified to-day by Mr. Williams.

None of the various articles taken from the residence of the Rev. Mr. Pyles has yet been located. Martin, however, is said to have admitted to police authorities that he was the man who committed the burglary in the room of the Rev. Mr. Pyles.

Before Alderman DeShong yesterday, Martin was held responsible for entering the residence of Joseph Drexler, 404 North street; Upton Crampton, 108 Mary street; and Ralph C. Eckels, 1 North Harrisburg street, Steelton. In each case he was held under $500 bail for court. On Tuesday he was held under $500 bail on the charge of breaking into the residence of William C. Fisher, 325 MacLay street, where he was caught early this morning by Patrolman Frank Jackson. He will be given hearings in the Williams and George cases during the afternoon.

FIRST MONTH BREAKS RECORD [Continued from First Page.] were reported during the thirty days of June, and in only eight instances did too much liquor share in the responsibility this month.

Of the total of sixty-five arrests made during July, arrests in ninety-nine instances were made through the strict enforcement of the traffic ordinance. With the department waging an intensive campaign against traffic violators and many arrests being made, the prohibition result stands out all the more prominently.

But nineteen cases are marked up on the police docket as "disorderly conduct" cases. In eight of these cases the men were held on charges which might arise from too much liquid refreshments. In eight of these cases the men were held on charges which might arise from too much liquid refreshments.

June Was Busy Month June had more than three times the number of cases in which it was found that the person arrested was either drunk or drinking. Exactly twenty-eight persons had had too much liquor when they were arrested, according to statements made by the members of the force who took them into custody.

While the difference in number of disorderly practice cases in June and July does not account for the difference in number of arrests, police authorities, however, maintain that liquor has been responsible for the more serious charges. In some instances, more serious charges were recorded against the individual and the difference in such cases in the two months will account for the difference in arrests.

Effects Far-Reaching During seven of the thirty-one days of July, not a single arrest was reported by the department. It is not an especially common thing for no arrests to be made during a day by the police department during late years, but to have almost twenty-five per cent. of the days of a month pass without an arrest is regarded as quite an uncommon circumstance by officials, patrolmen and hangers-on at the police station. The effect of the amendment was felt on July 3 and after that the 13, 17, 19, 24, 27 and 28 passed without any persons being arrested.

Prohibition's effect has appeared quite forcibly on the surface, but it has been making itself felt in the police business in a manner not readily noticed by the average business.

Pawnbrokers Lose The effect in the pawnbroking business, a record of which are kept at the police station, has been also quite remarkable when it is considered that the change in such a business would not be as readily felt in other lines.

This branch of the business shows a ten per cent. reduction over the business of an average month, according to the records of Earl White, clerk to Chief of Police Weizel. The pawnbrokers' daily reports showed a slight reduction at the very start and this reduction is becoming more noticeable now, according to Mr. White. The reduction, while not as marked in some of the other branches of police work, as in this one, is nevertheless noticeable.

Prohibition's effects are likewise noticed by J. J. Haynes, warden of the Dauphin county jail. To-day he reports that he has but 116 prisoners, the lowest number that has been confined there for months. He is emphatic in his belief that within a month the figure will drop below the hundred mark.
