A Time For Compromise

[From Lancaster Examiner.]

The Rape of Shantung

[From Lancaster Examiner.1
Compromise is the ultimate road to progress. To turn a deaf ear to any offers of conciliation is the method of fools. A man is never too big or too wise to listen to the method of fools. A man is never too big or too wise to listen to the method of fools. A man is never too big or too wise to listen to the method of fools. Here is a thought for Harrisburg to get into its mind and to keep there now that reorganization of the National Guard of Pennsylvania is well started as far the preliminaries go and the apportionment of various units to Harrisburg will soon be considered. The city of Erie has offered to give to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania a lot almost the size of an ordinary city block and $75,000 to the State on condition that the State appropriates a like sum for the erection of an armory on the plot. Half a dozen other county seats have secured State armories by the same system, although none has done as handsomely in the way of offers as the lake city. Towns like Greensburg, Waynesburg and Connellsville gave the State ground and the Commonwealth through its Armory Board erected handsome armories. The only way that Harrisburg will be able to get the arms of the National Guard that it should have will be by offering to co-operate in giving armory facilities, Several times in the last ten years the suggestion has been made that if Harrisburg would give a site fronting on Capitol Park extension or in Wildwood Park or in Reservoir Park for a building and drill hall large enough to locate a battery of artiliery or a troop of cavalry the State would put up the structure. This same willingness remains at the State Capitol. Harrisburg is yoorly off for armory facilities. The ouilding at Second and Forster was frected through fine local enterprise, but it is hardly suited now for the military organizations that properly belong here. Indeed, when two infantry companies and a truck company have quarters there not much is left. The situation is that Harrisburg is sure to have a troop of cavalry, but it does not have a suitable armory; it is certain to have a company of infantry and perhaps two, and a truck companies with no place for them. It stands a chance of securing a machine gun company and a battery of artillery if it puts up the necessary cash to house them as required. soon as China is able to guarantee that it will not again fall into the hands of a third party. What more can China desire? And does justice require more? China talks as if she were an absolutely independent nation, granting concessions to no country. If she will take this attitude toward all Western countries Japan will be ready to concede China her new status. But to show a desire to cast out Japan while leaving fire to cast out Japan while leaving one can expect Japan to approve."

One of the most delightful features of the boys' camp now being held under the auspices of the Harrisburg Y. M. C. A. at Big Pond, Cumberland county, is the nightly campfire. The lads, under the leadership of Arch Dinsmore and "Doc" Miller, sit about a huge camp fire on a circle of stones provided for the purpose. Dinsmore leads the singing and Miller looks after the "stunts." All manner of games are played, camp experiences recited, stories told and the evening comes to a close with a most beautiful little Indian prayer song in which the boys stand hand in hand and sing the crooning, wistful, pleading notes of the Shawnee to his "Great Spirit." It is a mighty pretty ceremony and one which few who have seen it will ever forget. The members of the Harrisburg Rotary Club and their families are spending to-day at camp and will take part in the campfire to-night.
