

Escaped Insane Man Fought With Yankees

Scranton, Pa., Aug. 1.—Officials in charge of the State Asylum for Criminal Insane at Farview were surprised yesterday when Elmer Olsen, of Philadelphia, who is said to have slain several persons some years ago and who escaped from Farview a year ago, walked into the institution and surrendered himself. He said he wanted to get back on the job. Olsen, who is a violent patient at times, declared that he enlisted in the United States army after his escape from Farview and that he fought in France. He declared he was honorably discharged a week ago and then decided that he would return to the asylum as he did not like the outside world.

Another Victim Gladly Tells All of the Facts

"I am another victim of indigestion, an inactive liver and constipation who has been relieved by your Natonex and I gladly add my name to the long lists of endorsemts for this fine Nature medicine," said Charles Price, machinist, of 200 Spencer street, Dunmore, Pa. "I had been troubled for a long time, but this last year my digestive system got all out of gear. I got so bad that I had to be very careful of what I ate. Fatty meats and any kind of vegetables, like radishes and onions, were out of the question for me. "Even after eating the plainest food, gas would form from indigestion and acid stomach and I would get terrible dizzy spells, during which everything would look black and blur in front of me. My condition was so bad that I got very nervous and shaky. I am a machinist at the Perpetual Spark Plug Company, and sometimes I felt so bad that I thought I would have to give up work for a while. "I had been noticing the Natonex recommendations that were printed every day and I read the statements of people that I knew, so I decided that I had better try this new medicine. I had been taking Natonex only about two weeks when I saw a great change in my condition. "My system had been purified and regulated. I was able to eat most anything without having the old dizzy spells. I used to get so drowsy after eating that I could hardly keep awake, but now I have no more of these spells. "My nerves have become quiet and I sleep better. The shaky spells have left me and I feel 100 per cent better in every way. After what Natonex has done for me I do not hesitate to recommend it to any one who is suffering as I did." Dizzy spells, drowsiness, weakness, faintness, gas, bloating and pains come from a digestive system clogged with poisonous waste matter. Natonex, which contains 12 famous Nature remedies, each intended for special relief of some vital organ, is designed to act with Nature to cleanse, purify and invigorate the entire system. You cannot force vitality into the system with strong drugs. Nature alone creates rich, red blood, real nerve vigor and bodily strength through the assimilation of nourishing food. Natonex is designed to cleanse and build the inside of the body just as Nature heals a wound on the outside of the body when it has been cleansed and purified. Sufferers from indigestion, biliousness and constipation should at once begin this Natonex treatment, which costs but little.

CONGRESS URGES ARMY TRAINING

Bills in Both Branches Subject U. S. Youths to Six Months' Service in Army or Navy

Washington, August 1.—A sweeping and comprehensive system of universal military training to be coordinated with the after-the-war military program was submitted to both houses of Congress late yesterday. In the Senate Senator Chamberlain, ranking Democratic member of the military affairs committee, and in the House, Chairman Julius Kahn, of the military committee, introduced bills to initiate the training system. All youths, under the provisions of the bills, which were prepared largely by the National Training Camps Association, must take six months' training at any time during their eighteenth, nineteenth and twentieth years, with the exception of those who have served six months during the present war or are morally or physically unfit. Vocational training for a year with a small knowledge of the English language is also provided. Reserves in both the army and navy are created by the bill. These would be composed of all men who have served during the war, and they would be held in the reserve for five years after their discharge, providing they have not reached the age of 30 by that time, in addition to all men given military training under the bill. These would be held for 10 years. To provide for emergencies, the President is not only given power to call out the reserves in case of an emergency, but also all other persons liable for service between the ages of 18 and 45.

SIX TEACHERS ASK FOR COUNTY JOBS

Noticing the statement of Professor W. R. Zimmerman, assistant county superintendent, published in the Telegraph a few days ago, in which he told of the serious shortage of teachers, six applicants have written to him to secure schools in the county and have been referred to districts in need of teachers. The last examinations for provisional and professional certificates will be held August 15 and 16.

Charged with attempted forgery, Bernard Valentine, 15 years old, will be given a hearing in police court during the afternoon. Valentine is charged with having attempted to "raise" a check drawn in his mother's name on a local bank for $5 to $51. The arrest was made in the Capitol library.

MINERS DEBATE MAY PUT WEDGE INTO COALITION

Parliamentary Battle on Over Nationalization Plan

London, Aug. 1.—Belief is held by some political observers that the parliamentary battle over the proposed nationalization of mines and railways may split the coalition government of Great Britain. The coal magnates are trying to rally the mine owners to defend their rights and the whole principle of private ownership of under earth deposits is at stake. The government has an arrangement which Crowder's experts are exploring for oil and the Labor party and many liberals propose that the government shall deny any right of private ownership in oilfields. A hundred members of the coalition in the House of Commons have protested to the Prime Minister against the transport bill. This bill gives the new minister of transport, Sir Eric Geddes, control over highways, road transport, railways, tramways, docks, canals and coastwise shipping. It is now proposed to add electric power. Sir Eric claims that the ministry will have no greater authority than the Board of Trade formerly held. Opponents charge that the bill makes him a dictator with far more power than the Secretary McAdoo had in the United States. It also gives the minister the right to take over the coal and electric companies. The Westminster Gazette thinks the combination will have no real weight unless ready with definite alternative policy. Many observers believe the "interests" will subside gracefully before a flood of public opinion.

$694,250,000 Spent but Not One War Plane Reaches Lines of American Army

Washington, D. C., Aug. 1.—Failure of the aviation service to achieve results commensurate with the demands of the war was indicated in a testimony before the House Committee investigating aviation yesterday, at which it was developed that although Congress had appropriated $694,250,000 for the aviation service, not one combat or heavy bombing plane had reached the American Army in France when the armistice was signed. Secretary Baker's testimony was to the effect that none of the men appointed head of the aviation service had had experience with aviation or aviation production. John D. Ryan, the last head of the service, was cited by Mr. Baker as his personal selection because he believed him to be "an exceptional business executive."

Passed Over Tried Executives

Part of the examination of the Secretary of War concerned the appointment of Colonel E. A. Deeds to supervise the aviation service, who was unknown to Mr. Baker prior to his appointment, although both hailed from the same State. Asked why General Goethals and Wood and others of proved executive ability had been passed over for one unknown to him, Mr. Baker said that General Goethals had retired from the Army and entered into the private practice of his profession. When attention was called to the fact that General Goethals had applied to the Secretary for the aviation service, but had been denied and permitted to remain idle for six months, Secretary Baker said that General Goethals wanted to go overseas and that he was too old to fight. He admitted, however, that the General later "rendered extremely active service" after being named head of the purchase and storage and traffic division of the War Department. The hearings touched upon the severe criticism which had been leveled against various heads of aviation.

CLERK OF BANK DASHING SPENDER

Meteoritic Career of North Penn's Paying Teller Bared by Inquirers

Philadelphia, Aug. 1.—Lavish gifts of jewels to his wives, reckless use of three automobiles, care-free purchase for cash of a ten thousand-dollar home in Cynwyd, have marked the past five years of the life of Elwood H. Strang, the $125-a-month paying teller of the North Penn Bank, according to facts brought to light yesterday by investigators.

Detectives from the District Attorney's office have gone to Atlantic City to invite Strang to return to Philadelphia to throw some light on his extraordinary activities here, and on the muddled affairs of the bank.

Known under three names, and wedded under two, the young man spent money with a recklessness that attracted attention.

As Elwood H. Strang he met and married within five weeks, Miss Catherine Dewald. He then had three automobiles.

As J. E. Caldwell, five weeks after he had been divorced by the first Mrs. Strang on the grounds of desertion and cruel and barbarous treatment, he married Miss Julia Grah and installed her in a $10,000 home at 5 Latches lane, in Cynwyd. And he paid cash for the home.

Under the name of Foster he was also known to other women. At the North Penn Bank he answered the telephone either as Caldwell or Strang. And his salary was $125 a month.

Interest centers on Strang, owing to the fact that a subpoena served could not find him to serve a summons to appear as a witness at the further hearing of Ralph T. Moyer, the cashier of the wrecked institution, on Tuesday.

Under the name of Foster he was designated by Fred Taylor Pusey, the special Assistant Attorney General appointed by Governor Spruell, as a "hook" and who revealed to have automobiles, a summer home at a seashore resort, and to have been receiving $50 a week from an automobile company which has overdrains in the neighborhood of $15,000 at the bank.

Colored Pythians Call For End of Race Riot

Chester, Pa., Aug. 1.—Three thousand Knights of Pythias, colored, from all parts of Pennsylvania, gathered yesterday in connection with the Grand Lodge session. Most of those in the line of parade were uniformed knights of the military rank and made a fine appearance.

At the session strong resolutions deplored the race riots in Chicago and disturbances between the whites and blacks were passed. The resolutions call upon all law-abiding citizens to take every means to prevent further troubles of this kind, and the delegates to the Grand Lodge session pledged themselves to work to this end. They also call attention to the part the colored race played in the World War and what effort the Knights are making to uplift their race and win respect for them by all classes. Great praise was given the grand chancellor, B. G. Collier, for the work he is doing in connection with the home for aged members of the order. The home is located at Sun Set, near Pomeroy, Chester county.

DOCTOR URGED AN OPERATION

Instead I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Was Cured.

Baltimore, Md.—"Nearly four years I suffered from organic troubles, nervousness and headaches and every month would have to stay in bed most of the time. Treatments would relieve me for a time but my doctor was always urging me to have an operation. My sister asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before consenting to an operation. I took five bottles of it and it has completely cured me and my work is a pleasure. I tell all my friends who have any trouble of this kind what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."—Nellie B. BRITTINGHAM, 609 Calverton Rd., Baltimore, Md.

It is only natural for any woman to dread the thought of an operation. So many women have been restored to health by this famous remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, after an operation has been advised that it will any woman who suffers from such ailments to consider trying it before submitting to such a trying ordeal.

Why You Are Paying High Prices For Meat

The comment of the American press on the Federal Trade Commission's report on the packing industry would tend to show that the people do not seem to be worrying over the precise percentage of profits made by Mr. Armour and Mr. Swift and Mr. Wilson and the rest, nor are they so deeply concerned lest these gentlemen branch out too widely into the grocery business. What they do ask is: are the packers profiteering; are they keeping up the price of meat and other products they handle; are they one of the props of the High Cost of Living? While the packers have their defenders among the newspapers, there is a widespread belief that the "Big Five" can not be held guiltless of all blame for the continuance of high food prices, as is shown in the leading article in THE LITERARY DIGEST for August 2d.

Other features of more than ordinary interest in this number of "The Digest" are:

- Peace Can Only Come When Everybody Goes to Work Again and when "the healing processes of trade" have a chance to make themselves felt. So we hear on every hand. Here's a common-sense prediction of the future of America and the rest of the world, and a discussion of "the great volume of reconstruction business which Europe is expected to send here."
- Austria Paying the Fiddler She writhes and kicks against the terrible punishment but will submit. While the American dollar, quoted before the war at five crowns, is now worth thirty-two, "the future is not so black, even for Austria." A map accompanying this article shows proud Austria before the war and the shred of territory that now remains.
- Japan Rattles the Saber in Korea Japanese journals are publishing articles in which the failure of that country's authorities to administer affairs in Korea is pointed out in harsh terms. Korea through the Korean National Association appeals to the world for freedom and makes charges against Japan that are startling, to say the least. Be sure to read this "close-up" account, which includes translations direct from the Japanese press.
- A Race Riot At President Wilson's Door strikes some observers as a touch of irony, inasmuch as he had just returned from looking after the needs of suppress nationalities and subject races in Europe. In this article the opinions of various editors, including representatives of the colored race, are given as to the causes and tendencies of the race riots in Washington.
- Does Germany Consider the Treaty A "Scrap of Paper"? The Brussels Nation remarks cynically that the Germans have signed the Treaty, but they "will never execute it" as they consider it "a piece of dupes." Read this series of translations from the German, Austrian, and Italian press, and you will get an answer to a question that affects the future safety of the world.
- "Dry" America As An Example to England The Manchester Guardian says American prohibition is the "biggest blow at the use of alcohol that has been struck since Mohammed banned liquor among his followers," but other English papers are not so sure. It may be all right for America, but for England—perish the thought!
- The Uproar Over Shantung "The blackest page in all our history," cries Senator Hiram Johnson, of California, "was written when our name was signed to the Treaty delivering Shantung to Japan." Many newspapers agree and run such headlines as "Japan the Possessor of Stolen Goods," "Far Eastern Alsace-Lorraine." Others defend the Shantung Treaty. This article will give you the basic facts of the dispute and the leading opinions on both sides.
- And in Addition to these Features —The Vital News of Religion—Science and Invention—Literature—Poetry—to say nothing of the feast of Illustrations, including striking cartoons from the press of many lands—makes THE DIGEST indeed the one necessary magazine for intelligent men and women.
