COUNTY SCHOOL DISTRICTS HAVE A NEW PROBLEM

The school directors of Lemoyno

"The school directors of Lemoyno as well as many other school districts are puzzled to know just how the conditions of the new Woodruff teachers' salary increase law will be met.

"We are told that the appropriation which goes with the law, in fact is a part of the law, will not be available until next year, although the increase given the teachers, which for us will amount to nearly $2.000 more each year, applies with the beginning of this school year.

RETAIN HOME GUARDS UNDER THIN GUISE

School directors in the county districts are confronted with the problem of providing additional funds to meet the provisions of the Woodruff salary bill which has become law, and which provides for considerable increases in teachers' salaries, the greater part of which must be paid from school district funds.

County school officials to-day said that some of the districts will have a serious financial situation before them to comply with the salary bill requirements. While some of the increases in teachers' pay are to be available until next year, but the new schedule goes into effect according to information before the school board officials in Cumberland county called attention to the fact that this money is not to be available until next year, but the new schedule goes into effect has fall.

In many of the districts, both in Dauphin and Cumberland counties, the school boards have a large percentage of teachers holding only provisional or professional certificates, and under the provisions of the bill they must pay the greater part of the salary which is placed at an increased minimum figure. In addition to this financial burden, the old school code provision for a refund of the amount paid over the minimum salaries of 1896 has been repealed by the Woodruff bill.

In Harrisburg the situation is not so serious, Superintendent F. E. Downes explaining at a recent school board meeting that this cug-has a large majority of teachers holding normal or college diplomas or certificates, and because of this fact about $3,000 more money will be needed to meet the requirements of the new bill than had been anticipated when the 1919-1920 budget; when he was approved.
