

BLAME FOR HIGH COSTS LOOMS AS ISSUE IN 1920

Charges Fly Between Old Parties, With Democrats on Defensive

Washington, D. C., Aug. 4.—Are the Democrats responsible for the high cost of living, and will the Republicans or the Democrats succeed in cutting down exorbitant prices? There are the questions which are going to agitate the political world now until December, 1920.

And along with them will come a struggle between radicalism and conservatism, of which the politicians today are fearful lest it may mean the entire obliteration of the old party lines and a reorganization that will shake the two political camps to their foundations.

Dodging responsibility has already started. Attempts to obtain credit for reforms will follow in short order.

Delusions Seem to Vanish

The failure of Congress to realize earlier that the high cost of living would be the campaign issue and would require early consideration is puzzling some of the most astute politicians. All signs for months have pointed to the necessity for reducing the price scale. During the war the issue was dodged and the theory that when peace came the tension would be eased. With the cessation of hostilities and the ever upward trend of prices, Congress has been deluding itself by believing affairs would somehow adjust themselves, and that the Legislators would not have to tackle a problem which goes far deeper than they are accustomed to look in Congressional investigations.

The Democrats are responsible for the present high costs, Republicans are now charging. They assert the policy of the War Department in disposing of its surplus, the agreement entered into by the administration officials with packers, cannery and other manufacturers to protect them on their war contracts, have held costs up high. Good food has been allowed to spoil instead of being on the market. It is said, in order that companies supplying the government might be protected, Europe has been supplied with foodstuffs at cheaper prices than the American workingman, is the charge, and the wheat guarantee was maintained for the farmer at a ruinous cost to the consumers.

Good Will Honors Its Returned Veterans

The Good Will Fire Engine Company No. 7, of this city held their outing in honor of the return of the thirty members of the company who were in the service of the United States during the war, at their summer home at Perdix, which was enjoyed by 125 members and their wives.

Speeches were made by John D. Berrier, ex-city fire chief, George W. Lutz, Mayor D. L. Keister and William Lynch, city commissioner, and a very agreeable entertainment was made through the efforts of the committee in charge of the affair, which included different games for the women and men, and a ball game between the married men and the single men which was won by the married men by the score of 27 to 17. Mayor Keister umpired.

The committee was composed of Miles DeSilvey, Harvey Dintman, Warren Bretz, George Ellis, Lewis Tress, David Martin, Joe Erb, Stephen Cripples, John Clark, Ralph Peters and H. L. Glavin.

BANK DEBTORS ARE TO BE SUED

Men Who Aided in Failure Are Not to Escape, Pusey Warns

Philadelphia, Aug. 4.—Depositors who connived with the wreckers of the North Penn Bank to secure overdrafts and obtain undue extension of notes will not escape "scot free," even though they make good in full their financial indebtedness to the institution. If the charge of connivance can be upheld, they will be held accountable in court by the District Attorney's office for the part they played in the downfall of Ralph T. Moyer's financial dream.

"Payment of indebtedness will not grant these men immunity if it can be proved that they connived with bank officials to get overdrafts," Colonel Fred Taylor Pusey, the Attorney General's official prober, declared yesterday. "Their names will be turned over to the District Attorney and they will be made the subjects of all the prosecution that law allows."
