PRICES INCREASE IN ENGLAND, TOO

Newspapers Predict Trouble If Profiteering Is Not Curbed

London, Aug. 6.—The food riots in Italy and agitations elsewhere on the Continent are focusing attention on the continued increase in the prices of food and clothing in this country. Public feeling, judged by protesting letters to the press and the talk one hears in restaurants and private houses, is mounting to the point of extreme indignation.

Newspapers are devoting much space to this subject and warning the government that unless it takes action to curb profiteering, trouble may be expected this winter. The government's recent announcement that its present modified food control would be continued at least through the winter does not appear to have appeased the public, and the demand is widely made for a return to the strict wartime regulations.

There is great discontent among small householders. One writes to a London paper complaining of high prices for eggs, butter, marmalade and fruit and declaring "The who buy and sell seem to have gone mad in their 'get-rich-quick' craze, and their impertinence in what they charge the public is something gross."

The same writer, discussing the "extortion on clothing," quotes the announcement made Tuesday of Commons the other day that the high price of woollen garments is not due to short supplies or government charges, but to the stockpiling of wool in this country, and the greatest ever known.

Millions Needed to Develop Mexican Oil

Mexico City, Aug. 6.—The sum of $1,800,000,000 is needed to develop thoroughly the petroleum resources of Mexico, says an announcement of the Department of Commerce and Industry. The amount already invested in the petroleum industry is estimated as in excess of $200,000,000.

The department announces that eight producing oil wells with a daily flow of 684,798 barrels have been drilled in the Tampico field in the first five months of this year. The department says there is great need of better transportation facilities and that if there were provided the monthly shipments which now amount to 6,000,000 barrels could be increased to 17,534,940 barrels. The vast surplus of crude petroleum is stored in the ground awaiting improvement in transportation.
