Ailenrhu relieves at once. Immediately after you start to take it the good work begins. It searches out the uric acid deposits, dissolves the secretions and drives rheumatic poison out of the body through the kidneys and bowels.

It's marvelous how quickly it acts. Blessed relief often comes in two days, and even in cases where the suffering is most painful all traces disappear in a few days.

This report treats of conditions in the Leather Tanning Industry including the hide trade and the boot and shoe industry, including the merchandising of shoes. The period covered by the inquiry is from 1914 to 1918 inclusive, except in regard to certain financial data. The outstanding facts established by the inquiry are as follows:

Between 1914 and 1917 the

Between 1914 and 1917 the prices of hides, the principal factor in the cost of producing leather, greatly advanced and the differential between country hides and packer hides increased beyond the usual proportion, due to the more marked increase in the price of packer hides.

crease in the price of packer hides.

Though there was an increase in the cost of hides to the tanner, the prices of his product—leather—advanced to a point that could not be justified by the cost of producing it. This conclusion is supported by the high rates of return on investment received by tanners.

The cost of manufacturing shoes increased greatly between 1914 and 1917, but, as evidenced by the high rates of return on investment, not to an extent that warranted the prices at which manufacturiers sold their product.

The absolute margins of profit taken by retail shoe merchants per pair of shoes grew wider as their costs of shoes increased because their rate of profit remained substantially without change.

As a result the public had to pay prices for shoes that could not be justified not only because retail shoe dealers took too much profit but because the dealer had to pass on to the consumer the excessive profits received by butchers for hides and also the excess profits of tanners and shoe manufacturers.

During the progress of the war in Europe, even before the United States became a belligerent, the demand for leather and leather goods for the Allied nations of Europe had a marked effect on prices. The demand was not only for large quantities of leather and shoes, but there was pressure for quick delivery. Either one of these factors would tend to stimulate prices and both of them together brought rapid and marked advances in the prices of both leather and shoes, and also of hides and skins.

When the United States entered the war, there was immediate demand for shoes and other equipment made of leather to meet the requirements of the Army. The shoes needed by the Government were required to be made of specified highgrade leather. Only the better grades of hides could be used in making such leather, and as a result hides, especially the better grades, rapidly advanced in price. The situation became so acute that in 1918 the War Industries Board undertook to provide means of supplying the tanners with hides at fixed maximum prices. Maximum prices for leather was also fixed for the shoe manufacturers. The demand for labor in other industries compelled tanners and shoe manufacturers to increase wages.

Bela Kun and Leaders

By Associated Press.

Berlin, Wednesday, Aug. 6.—It is expected that the Entente powers will demand the surrender of Bela Kun and under Hungarian Soviet leaders by the Austrian government, according to dispatches received here from Vienna. It is said that Austria will probably be asked to hand them over to the new Hungarian government when it is finally constituted. At a meeting of the Vienna workmen's, stated that Austria will be open as an asylum to fleeing members of the Hungarian Soviet regime.

A dispatch from Vienna states that search of the Hungarian legation there has revealed a box of nand grenades, one bomb and a rife which were concealed in the building.

State Banking Head Believes They Know More Than They Are Telling

By Associated Press.
Philadelphia, Aug. 7.—Ralph T.
Moyer, cashier of the North Penn
Bank "has been made the goat by the directors," according to State Banking Commissioner John S. Commissioner Fisher. Moyer is under $25,000 ban! in connection with the failure.

"It is my opinion," said the Com-missioner, "that the directors know considerably more than they are telling." Mr. Fisher announced that $100,000 of the bank's outstanding accounts had been liquidated and that the prospects of further gains in this direction in the near future were good.

New Receiver Named

Commissioner Fisher also anounced that Frederick L. Homsher nounced that Frederick L. Homsher, of Strasburg, Lancaster county, had been appointed receiver of the North Penn to succeed James W. MacBurney, whose commission was revoked yesterday. Mr. MacBurney was removed, the Commissioner said, on the technical ground that a new State law prohibits an examiner from liquidating an institution which has been taken over by the Banking Department if he has made an examination of its affairs within a year. MacBurney examined the bank last September and resigned as an examiner the first of the year to become an officer in a trust company. When the appointment was made MacBurney did not know of the new law and Commissioner Fisher, who took office in January, was not aware that MacBurney had examined the bank. It is said that MacBurney's report showed the bank was then in bad condition.

More than $400,000 of the assets of Strasburg, Lancaster county, had been appointed receiver of the

American Legion to Keep Out of Politics

Keep Out of Politics

The American Legion has pledged itself to keep clear of politics, according to an editorial in the American Legion Weekly of this week. The magazine is one recording the progress of the Legion and is sent to every new member for three months without charge. The editorial follows:

"Mingling in local politics is a temptation and pitfall which posts throughout the country must avoid. Everything bearing on partisan politics was put aside at the Paris caucus and again at the St. Louis caucus when the American Legion was founded. Partisan politics has been barred successfully from every consideration and step in the development of the Legion thus far. This must continue to be.

No doubt wily politicians of every denomination will be courting the local posts. There will be crafty campaigns to procure an indorsement of this or that local issue or candidate for public office. It would be more than a blunder for a local post to engage in any such activity. It would be an act of bad faith. Policies—not politics, is the watchword; and the policies are confined to the pronouncements of the St. Louis caucus and the temporary constitution, pending the great November caucus, where all the men who were in service are to express themselves."

Havana, Wednesday, Aug. 6.— A vote of thanks and a testimony of public estimation and gratitude to Major General E. H. Crowder, U. S. A., in recognition of the service he has rendered Cuba in revising the electoral and census laws, was passed in both Houses of the Cuban Congress to-day.

A resolution also was adopted by both legislative branches authorizing the bestowal of honorary degrees by the national university upon illustrious foreigners who have rendered "exceptional service to this country or to humanity." This action was taken to open the way for the bestowal of the degree of Doctor of Laws upon General Crowder, who expects to return to the United States on August 9, following a farewell visit to President Menocal at a summer resort near Cardenas, where the latter is spending a short vacation.
