"Of course you'll stay to dinner, children," I observed to Neal and Phoebe—trying not to let feminine mentality find any flaw in this happy occasion because once on a rare happy occasion Neal and Evvy had come together for a betrothal dinner.

"You bet we'll stay," agreed Neal heartily. "If ever I wanted to shake a man's hand until it ached, that hand belongs to old Jimmie. Some brother, Jimmie—he sure has stood up."

I wondered how much Neal had told Phoebe of Jim's part in winning freedom for him from Evvy. But that was a subject on which I knew I'd always have to be silent. The game had gone Evvy's way for so long, I had been so terrified up to the very last for fear she was going to win, that the whole subject was a very tender one with me. And I imagined it must be a far more tender one to Phoebe, whose happiness had depended entirely on the success of Neal. Suppose it hadn't been successful—suppose Neal had been released? I couldn't think about it calmly, much less dream of mentioning it.

So my surprise was overwhelming when Jim got home, and Neal rushed to greet him with a laughing "Hail, Jim the giant-killer! I'm your brother now, whether you like it or not. Your brother twice over, Phoebe's— Then his laughing face broke, and he said with a queer strengthening to pride that defied the world, "Phoebe cares for me—after all, Jim, the way I do for her. We're going to be married."

And Phoebe, tumbling into Jim's arms with something between a laugh and a sob, cried: "You darling old match-maker, you got him back for me, didn't you?"

Jim, hugging Phoebe and pumping Neal's hand, seemed no whit less frank than they and as little embarrassed by that frankness. I loved them all for it. Phoebe and

To Free Your Skin of Hair or Fuzz

(Boudoir Secrets)

No toilet table is complete without a small package of deLatorre, for with it hair or fuzz can be quickly finished from the skin. To remove hairs you merely mix into a paste enough of the powder and water to cover the objectionable hair. This should be left on the skin about 2 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed, when it will be found free from hair or fuzz. Be sure you get genuine deLatorre.

Note that it toasts perfectly

There is the same difference in toast as in the breads it is made from

SOME bread simply won't toast—it crumbles. That smooth, firm consistency is lacking, as well as the appetizing aroma and the palate-tickling taste.

is neither a miracle or a discovery. It is simply the successful result of hard work, covering years of search and research.

her look like sea foam and cherry blossoms. I hummed to myself as I dreamed what a gay and perfect little party this was going to be. Jim strode into the room looking like a thunder cloud.

"I sneaked in the back way," he said amazingly.

"Where's Jeanie?" I asked.

"At home," replied Jim. "And she can jolly well stay there. Only I won't have the evening spoiled for those youngsters. So we'll make up some lying yarn about her having gone out before I could get to her."

"Why, Jim?" I cried: "Jim, have you quarreled with Virginia?"

"I'm pretty darn well through with Virginia Dalton and her blooming nonsense," said Jim bitterly.

"Then Jeanie won't consent to their happiness," I murmured to myself.

"Jeanie!" repeated Jim. "Jeanie! Who ever gave her a sweet, gentle name like that? Virginia Dalton's as hard as nails. She won't consent to any one's happiness—that's what ails that woman. Come on in sweetheart, we'll give those poor devils an evening of happiness in preparing the public for a rise in the price of shoes to $25 a pair."

How Leather Profiteer Figures in Shoes at $25

The estimated production of leather—raw product and manufactures—in America this year will reach in value $378,246,722. Of this amount it is estimated that $157,742,329 will be sent abroad. Exports have taken up to July 1, $195,449,825 in value. With five shipping months left, the estimated total is conservative.

Important leather interests admit that twenty per cent. of the total production value goes to profiteers. Thus they will gain more than $175,000,000 this year, while the leather trade is preparing the public for a rise in the price of shoes to $25 a pair.

CHEAP GOVERNMENT FOOD TO GO ON SALE

goods. In other words the committee representing the city does not stand any responsibility. It gets the food on a credit assignment and pays for only as much as it sold.

Mayor Keister was enthusiastic over the new plan. He announced that he will get his food committee to work at once. Big trucks probably will be engaged to bring the food to the city. The freighting costs, of course, will be added to the price to consumers but as virtually all work will be done by volunteers this will be about the only charge added.

Means Big Saving
Prices are not yet available but bacon will cost several cents under 40 cents a pound. Similar bacon costs 55 to 60 cents in the regular markets. Lieutenant Boyle also announced that the peas and corn, except some gallon cans of the former are gone. There are plenty of tomatoes left and millions of pounds of meats.

The bacon is packed in twelve pound tins and plans may be made by the Mayor's committee to cut the amount in halves or quarters. This will permit small purchases. Any other arrangement likely to be sought by the committee is to have small families band together and split and divide it among themselves.

Sale Through Post Offices
Lieut. Boyle also has received instructions concerning the sale of foodstuffs through postmasters. Prices will be fixed by the Government within a short time and made public by Lieut. Boyle without delay. Postmasters must furnish cash with orders and an arrangement has been made whereby spoiled foods may be returned where an allowance is made concerning its unfitness for food.

The new Regulations
The following is part of the regulations governing the new mode of sale:

"Sales to municipalities will be continued on the basis of former orders, except that if municipalities or other local governments, owing to their charter and laws, are unable to buy and sell, we will ship them upon consignment, subsistence stores in not less than case lots, the goods to be paid for or returned within thirty days from their receipt. Shipments of this kind are to be made only when the mayor of the city or the head of the local government either acts as the government's agent and superintends the distribution of food or appoints some one to act as agent. Municipalities pay freight from point of shipment and pay freight on goods returned."

Lieut. Boyle to-day said that purchasers who desire quick delivery under the new plan ought to get their orders in now. Shipment will be made when the new price list is announced.

Livestock Market at Chicago Is Dead
Chicago, August 8. — There was practically no trading in live stock here to-day. Even before the beginning of the strike in the packing establishments, the buyers for the packing houses held off, awaiting developments as to the labor situation. Business was further hampered by the uncertainty of shippers as to whether any railroad outlet for purchase here would be available.

The first workmen to walk out were 400 pork cutters in the plant of G. H. Hammond Packing Company. State troops were withdrawn from the plants and mobilized in Dexter pavilion, near the entrance of the stock yards to be held for emergency duty. More than 1,000 policemen and deputy sheriffs remained on duty in the various plants.

While thousands of white employees were walking out, a large number of negro men and women applied for employment.

Officers of the stock yards labor councils said that about 12,000 negroes have been employed by the different packers in Chicago and that of this number 3,000 are union men who walked out with the white workers.

Visit of Archduke Is Delayed by Thief Who Steals His Trousers

Vienna, Thursday, Aug. 7.—There is no intention of making Archduke Joseph king of Hungary, according to advices received here from Budapest, his office being merely that of president. Although he is surrounded by old monarchial influences, he would attempt to work along the same lines as Count Michael Karolyi, saying:

"I am a true democrat. I tried to show this by transferring most of my estates last fall. It is my in-
