Truckers Threaten to Feed Corn to Swine

Gettysburg, Pa., Aug. 12.—While housekeepers and wage earners are complaining of the high cost of living, truckers who attend the curb market are strong in their belief they will not sell their goods except for a good price.

In other years sweet corn sold as low as ten and twelve cents a dozen ears. This year the price has remained at 20 cents. The truckers say unless they can get this price they will feed it to their pigs.

The high price which yellow or field corn commands in the market influences the growers in the price they ask for the sweet variety.

One of the market men said: "With yellow corn selling at the price it is I believe it is to my advantage to feed sweet corn as soon as I have to take less than 20 cents for it. Pigs like the sweet corn better than the yellow. They eat the husks and appear to thrive on them." This opinion is held by almost every market man.

U. S. Flag, Flown by English Premier, Waves in St. Marys

St. Marys, Pa., Aug. 12.—A large American flag which flies in front of the residence of Lieutenant Harry Conrad, of St. Marys, is attracting considerable attention in the Summit town, for it is none other than the flag which flew gallantly in front of the residence of Premier Lloyd George when the United States declared war on Germany and graced the front of the London mansion thereafter.

Lieutenant Conrad was in London the night the armistice was signed and the city went mad with joy. The St. Marys man was in front of the residence of Lloyd George and a British sergeant was given the flag by Mrs. Lloyd George and a parade was started. Lieutenant Conrad asked the Tommy what he wanted for the emblem, and the latter said ten pounds, or $50. However, to make a long story short, Lieutenant Conrad purchased it for two pounds.

more carloads of meat are shipped from Kansas City than from any other city except Chicago?

Chart No. 1 U. S. Internal Revenue figures show cigarettes to be gaining in popularity much faster than any other form of smoking.

Chart No. 2 Turkish blends are so popular that their sales almost equal the combined sales of the other two kinds of cigarettes.

Are you a normal Smoker?

This Fatima advertisement may help you find the type of cigarette you will like, whether it happens to be Fatima or not.

"WHICH one of the several forms of smoking will give me the most pleasure and solid comfort?"

That is your real question.

And you can answer it best if you classify your smoking likes and dislikes—if you know whether your smoke taste is, or is not, normal, or like that of most men.

So the first thing to find is the normal smoke-taste. Which smoke, or type of smoke, do most men prefer?

Then along came the "Turkish blend" blends of various proportions; and Fatima was the first one of this type. "Turkish blends" seemed to be the smoke that this country had been waiting for.

Look at the increase during recent years shown on Chart No. 1, and notice the tremendous difference in favor of blends on Chart No. 2.

There is no doubt about it—the "normal" smoke-taste goes straight for cigarettes—and for those of the Turkish blend type.

Perhaps you are a Turkish blend smoker yourself. If not, your first step towards checking up on your own smoke-taste will be to discontinue your straight Turkish or straight Domestic cigarette long enough to give the blended cigarette a fair trial.

If—as is quite natural—your taste is unlike that of the majority, you will, of course, go back to your present cigarette.

But do not do this simply because your first two or three blended cigarettes do not ring the bell. There are some pretty bad, as well as some wonderfully good, Turkish blend cigarettes.

As between cigars and cigarettes, Chart No. 1 tells the story—the cigarettes have a "walk away."

This is not merely because the cigarette is, as medical men have proved, the mildest form of smoking. Nor is it wholly because of the cigarette's cleanness, convenience and moderate cost. Beyond question, it is due very largely to improvements in the types of cigarettes.

Until about 30 years ago most cigarettes were of straight American (or Domestic) tobacco. Then cigarettes of Turkish tobacco were introduced and the business took quite a jump.

But these clean, mild short smokes did not really strike their gait until "Turkish blend" cigarettes came on the market. These are cigarettes containing both Domestic and Turkish tobaccos in

It may or may not be Fatima

Every man's taste is his own and it is, of course, rather ridiculous to find some cigarettes actually claiming to suit the taste of every smoker. Fatima makes no such claim. But you owe it to yourself to try Fatima, the founder of the whole Turkish blend family, before you decide on your final steady smoke.

This is the only cigarette above the cheaper brands that has ever won a tremendous, nationwide popularity.

Fatima's sales nearly double those of all the straight Turkish cigarettes combined; and no other cigarette costing as much as Fatima has even one-half of Fatima's annual sales.

Even at leading clubs and hotels and at the fashionable resorts such as Palm Beach and Atlantic City, Fatima is today outselling the fancy, expensive, straight Turkish cigarettes which formerly enjoyed leadership among smokers with plenty of money.

No, Fatima does not claim to suit every one. But its big sales and high standing indicate that this cigarette does come nearer than any other to meeting the "normal" taste.

The reason may be that Fatima contains more Turkish than any other Turkish blend. This would mean, in other words, that instead of containing too much Turkish as straight Turkish cigarettes do, or too little as in the poorer Turkish blends, Fatima's famous blend contains just enough Turkish—just enough to taste right and just enough to leave a man feeling right even after smoking more than usual.

What the Army Doctors smoke:

At Ft. Riley, Kansas, where the thousands of doctors from all over the U. S. A. were trained for overseas service, Turkish blend cigarettes were almost the only kind smoked. Incidentally, Fatima was far in the lead from first to last.
