

MORE FOOD IS BOUGHT FROM THE POST OFFICE

Mail Carriers Bring in Many Orders For Fruits and Vegetables

The second day of the food sale through the local post office started off with a rush to-day as soon as the carriers came back from their first hour of delivery.

Although the sales at the window of the central station have fallen off to practically nothing, orders are beginning to pour in by the other route. At the window occasional buyers stop to inquire about prices or to place a small order, but in comparison with the order system there is really very little action there.

Early this morning the orders had passed the two hundred mark and were still going strong, and it is estimated that before the day is over the carriers are going to begin to look forward with no enthusiasm at all to the influx of food to fill these orders which begins next week.

Canned fruits still leads the list in popularity with canned vegetables a close second. Of course, there are still many people who are more or less doubtful about all government food and they are buying in small quantities to see just what the stuff will be like.

Former soldiers are going to it with avidity as they know just how good it is, but they are steering clear of the old standby, "corned willy," which is not at all bad when you have it occasionally, but pretty poor when you eat it three times a day, cold, for many days, and finish the meal off with hard tack. However, corned beef in the majority of homes is getting a good reception.

Americans Should Lie Where They Fell, Advice of Pershing

Washington, Aug. 20.—General Pershing in a cablegram to the War Department has expressed the opinion that bodies of American soldiers who died abroad should be left near where they fell.

"I believe that, could these soldiers speak for themselves, they would wish to be left undisturbed, where, with their comrades, they fought the last fight," he said. "Those who rest in England gave their lives in the same cause and their remains represent the same salvation as those who lie on the battlefields."

"The graves of our soldiers constitute, if they are allowed to remain, a perpetual reminder to our allies of the liberty and ideals upon which the greatness of America rests. Recommend that none of our dead be removed from Europe unless their nearest relatives so demand after a full understanding of all the sentimental reasons against such removal."
