CITY TO HONOR DEAD HERO

Bronze Tablet to Be Placed Beside That of Great-grandfather

Santa Ana, Calif., Aug. 23. — Nathaniel Rochester, of Santa Ana, who was a member of America's famous "Lost Battalion" and who was killed in the Argonne, will be honored here in the same fashion that his great-grandfather, Colonel Nathaniel Rochester, founder of the city of Rochester, N. Y., and one of Washington's officers in the Revolutionary War, was honored in the city he founded. In St. Luke's church, Rochester, is a bronze tablet, in memory of a Colonel Rochester. A replica will be placed in the Episcopal church here. It will bear this inscription: "In memory of Nathaniel Rochester: Co. B, 38th U. S. Infantry, Born Nov. 1897. Killed in France while fighting for the 'Lost Battalion,' Oct. 8, 1918. Just like skipping a grade in school." In a letter written to his mother while he was at the front, Rochester said that "skipping the supreme sacrifice" would be just like skipping a grade in school.

100,000 AUTOS SHORT OF NEEDS

This Number Will Be Delivered Within a Short Time

Upon inquiring of several prominent automobile agents in Automobile Row, New York, last week whether they could deliver a new car, at once, on a spot cash order, it was informed that it was very difficult to get any new car because there were demands for 100,000 more than can, now, be delivered.

It is too soon after the war, for all the materials to be procured. It takes considerable time for the automobile manufacturers to catch up with the ever-growing demand. A conservative estimate of the output for this year, 1919, is 2,000,000 passenger cars; 400,000 trucks, and 200,000 tractors. The demand for motor boats is also increasing. The majority of these vehicles are made up of assembled parts, each part representing, in many instances, the entire output of a modern factory. For instance, to make the "magneto" which generates the current for the dependable electric sparks which fire the gas in the engines of the best automobiles, this being the source of power to make the cars go, there are several factories each equipped with machinery worth about a million dollars, each employing thousands of skilled workmen, each having a weekly capacity of from 2,000 to 10,000 finished and fully tested magnetos, worth $50 to $75 each.

Ninety-seven per cent. of the motor trucks, and about ninety-nine per cent. of the motor tractors have magneto ignition. These types of vehicles are used for heavy work and rough ground and must have the sturdy magneto ignition. This infant-giant, known as the automotive industry, has grown in twenty years to be the third largest in the United States and influences the prosperity of nearly every industry and trade in the civilized world.
