JAIL FOR THREE WHO STOLE MEAT

Minister's Plea Results in Suspension of Sentence For Three Others

Lewistown, Pa., Aug. 26.—Isaac, Harry and Banks Siefred and Reed Rhodes, of McAllisterville, charged with the larceny of hams from Abram Spicher, of the Big Valley, plead guilty in court here yesterday to larceny and carrying concealed weapons. Sheriff Davis was the prosecutor. The meat stolen by the Juniata county men was sold in Lewistown.

Harry and Isaac Siefred were sentenced each to pay their share of the costs, a fine of $1 and to serve one year in jail. Banks Siefred was sentenced to pay his share of the costs, a fine of $4 and to serve six months in jail. Reed Rhodes, the younger man, was ordered to pay his share of the costs, a fine of $5 and be confined in the Huntingdon Reformatory. The men are also to pay for the stolen meat. Cases against them in Snyder and Perry counties have been settled. The men are the ones who stole an auto near Duncannon, a number of hams in Mifflin county and who engaged in a revolver duel with Mifflin county officers before they were captured.

Oscar Rager, W. T. Cummings and Robert Yeager, of Yeagertown, pleaded guilty to stealing 60 sticks of dynamite from the house of the Lewistown and Reedsville Railway Co. on July 2. The Rev. A. H. Spangler appeared in court and asked that the young men be given a chance to do better. He asked that they be paroled in his custody. The court suspended sentence and gave the three into the custody of the minister. Cummings is the star pitcher of the champion baseball team of the Standard Steel Works.

Sister Raphael Is to Leave Lebanon Convent

Lebanon, Aug. 26.—Catholic circles to-day received with much regret the announcement that Sister Raphael, mother Superior of St. Joseph's Convent, is shortly to be transferred to another convent which is still unannounced. Mother Raphael has been located in Lebanon for nearly 38 years, during which time she took a most active part in St. Mary's parish and the parochial schools, besides having charge of the music department. Many Lebanonians owe their musical ability, both instrumental and vocal, to Mother Raphael's careful teachings, and to these former students as well as the entire congregation of St. Mary's and other churchgoers her transfer is received with regret. Mother Raphael is originally from McSherrystown, Adams county.

COURT SUITS IN PATH OF PARADE

Waynesboro Strikers Postpone Demonstration to Attend Injunction Hearing

Waynesboro, Pa., Aug. 26.—There was no labor parade here yesterday. The demonstration to have been held was postponed because of the injunction proceedings before Judge Gillan at Chambersburg. The parade will be held probably on Labor Day. All of the manufacturing plants are still closed down as a result of the strike. Several organizers of the Federation Labor Union, were here yesterday arranging to bring the matter before the shop officials for an adjustment of the grievances.

A big meeting was held in the Junior Order Hall in the afternoon, and meetings will be held every day until the strike is settled. A large meeting was held at Friedley's mill, west of town, this morning at 10.30 o'clock, at which several thousands of members of the labor unions were present. Speeches were made.

Many of the men who went on strike have sought other employment, in other cities and while many are visiting relatives and friends out of town. Several hundred more are whiling away the time until a settlement of the difficulty is made.

This is the biggest tie-up Waynesboro industries has ever experienced and means a loss of $10,000 or more a day in wages to employes to say nothing of the loss to owners of the plants.

Constable Walter R. Klipp yesterday served warrants on thirty-three of the strikers who are said to have forced employes of the Landis Tool Company at Greencastle to quit.

ADAMS CRIMINAL TERM UNDER WAY

No Cases of Importance Are on List and Session May Be Short

Gettysburg, Pa., Aug. 26. — The August term of the Adams county court began yesterday with a large list of criminal cases on the list. Thirty-five cases, the largest for some time, have been returned for trial. In the whole list there is nothing of any importance. It is likely a number of them will be settled outside of court, so that the list will be considerably shortened and the court will not last many days.

It was expected that the petition of the liquor dealers who ask that a part of their license money be returned to them for the time they were compelled to close under Government orders would be heard this time, but this matter will be heard at a special argument court on September 15. Since the date for the hearing has been set it has been stated war-time prohibition would in all probability be lifted by President Wilson on October 1. This likely will have a bearing on the situation at the time of argument. Liquor dealers in Adams county are making an effort to have refunded a proportionate share of their license money, depending upon the time they will be closed. They claim it is not fair to charge them for the entire year when they have in reality sold but a portion of the time. Part of this refund, provided the liquor men win their case, will come from the State and the Attorney General's office, which is interesting itself in the matter, was represented by Guy W. Davies when the order setting the time for September 15 was made.

Two Lewistown Men Who Raise Big Tomatoes

Lewistown, Pa., Aug. 26. — The latest men to come forward in the big tomato contest are Alfred Kitting, with two tomatoes weighing 2 pounds each, and Henry Yocom, with a two pound tomato. Chas. Dunkinson has some large tomatoes in his garden that have not been placed on the scales yet. Henry Yocom cut cabbage from his lot which measured fourteen inches in diameter and Charles Smith has some big heads at Stony Ridge farm.

Every day big loads of tomatoes and sweet corn are being brought in by farmers, big crops ought to reduce the high cost of living. At many points the cucumber crop will be short, blight having struck the vines. Flowers, known as Black Eyed Susan's, have also been hard hit by the blight.

Four Ministers Drawn on Jury at Sunbury

Sunbury, Pa., Aug. 26. — Two Sunbury ministers are drawn for the September term of criminal court which will open September 22, and at which Paul D. Bailey will probably be tried for the murder of George W. Sassaman.

STRIKERS FORCED MANAGER TO BEAR FLAG IN PARADE

Witnesses Tell Judge Gillan of Trouble at Greencastle Plant of Landis Tool Company; Special Officer Carried From Building by Dissatisfied Workmen From Waynesboro; Hearing in Injunction Proceedings

Chambersburg, Pa., Aug. 26. — Judge Gillan yesterday heard evidence in court here in the injunction proceedings instituted by the Landis Tool Company of Waynesboro, whose employes are on strike. Fully 200 citizens, many of them strikers, were present at the hearing. The injunction was continued until the further order of the court.

J. E. Frantz, secretary and treasurer of the Landis Tool Company, told of the strike in Waynesboro and of the trouble at the Greencastle plant. It was brought out by the witness that Robert Myers, a Waynesboro barber, had participated in the Greencastle trouble.

J. Groce Beaver, employed by the company in Greencastle, gave the court details of the trouble there. After the mob of 250 or more persons gathered at Greencastle, he testified that they secured a ladder and entered the second floor of the building. After opening the doors down stairs they forced the men to go out. The manager at Greencastle, Earle Martin, was forced to carry the American flag about town. Four of the men were dressed in the army uniform. The witness testified the men claimed that Manager Martin pinched them in an effort to keep them out of his office. He named many of the defendants whom he recognized in the mob.

Earl Martin told how he was taken from the office of the company and forced to carry the flag about the town at the head of the striking procession. He was followed by Harry Stahl, a special officer, who said he was carried from the plant by the strikers who opened the doors after they had entered the building through an upper story door. He told of the threats of violence made at the time.

The defendants were represented by Garnet Gehr and Edmund C. Wingerd and the plaintiff by Charles Walter, O. C. Bowers, W. L. Minick and Watson R. Davison.

GETTYSBURG HAS SUGAR SHORTAGE

Blame Waynesboro's Crafty Citizens For Getting Bulk of Needed Supply

Gettysburg, Pa., Aug. 26.—Many merchants here are entirely out of sugar. Those who have a small supply are limiting sales to one or two pounds to each customer. The wholesale dealers say their supply is exhausted and that they have had no reserve stock of the commodity for four weeks. With the canning and preserving season on, the lack of sugar is quite serious, as many of the housewives have had no warning and were unable to lay in a supply to tide them over the period of shortage. It is expected the situation will be relieved by the end of the week, as shipments have been promised from the refineries.

It is said one of the causes for the shortage here is the fact that people have been motoring here from Waynesboro and other nearby towns where the supply of sugar was low and making purchases from merchants in twenty-pound lots. When this was discovered the storekeepers refused to sell to motorists, but it was too late.

LONG JOURNEY IS HALTED BY DEATH

William J. Scanleberry Expires on Train While on Way to England

Altoona, Aug. 26.—William John Scanleberry, aged 47, who was a passenger with his wife and five children on train No. 26, due here at 10.30 o'clock, died yesterday morning about the time the train reached this city. He was on his way from Carterville, Mo., where the family had lived the past seven years, to England. Death was caused by tuberculosis.

Scanleberry had been in failing health for several months and he was very desirous of returning to England, believing that his health would be benefited by the change in climate. Owing to the uncertainty of transport conditions they were delayed in getting started on the long journey and he steadily grew weaker, but when they left Missouri he seemed to be in fair condition and thought he could make the trip.

During the night, as the train was speeding through Ohio, he became much worse and at Columbus a physician was called to attend him. He gave the wife medicine for him and she administered it regularly. He continued to grow worse, however, and expired about the time the train reached this city.
