SOCIAL PROGRAM FOR COLONIAL

Plans for September Events at Country Club Have Been Completed

During the summer months interest in club activities at the Colonial Country Club ran high. Now that autumn is approaching and the members are unable to leave for vacation, a social program has been prepared that promises still greater things than have ever been presented in the past.

Due to the postponement of Labor Day there will be no holiday features but by special arrangement with F. F. Davenport, the caterer, a buffet luncheon will be served at noon and a full course dinner between 6 and 8 o'clock, in the evening. Reservations for either meal must be made not later than Friday.

The regular monthly club night and card night will be held as usual during September and the Saturday night dances will be resumed after the twentieth of that month.

Sports at the club have not been allowed to lag and on August 30, the tennis committee announces, the final matches in men's singles will be played off. The golf match with the York Country Club, played here on the 16th, resulted with a tie, side winning seven of the contests. The return match will be played at York next Saturday, and it is hoped that the club's best players will participate in the event and carry off the honors.

CHURCH WEDDING LAST EVENING

Miss Gwenilian Shakespeare is Bride of Cloyd L. Hearn

An attractive wedding ceremony was solemnized in St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal Church last evening at 7 o'clock when Miss Gwenilian Shakespeare and Cloyd L. Hearn were united in marriage, the Rev. Dr. Leroy F. Baker, officiating.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a lovely gown of white satin habitue with Irish lace trimmings. Her hat was of lavender chiffon and she carried an arm bouquet of bride roses with a shower of lavender ribbon to harmonize with her hat.

Miss Olive Zeigler, acting as maid of honor, wore a charming frock of lavender pussy willow and a hat of lavender Georgette. She carried pink rosebuds and trench flowers. Benjamin F. Derick was best man.

Newell Albright, organist of the church, played the Lohengrin prelude and Mendelssohn's recessional, and during the service the soft strains of "O Promise Me" were heard.

Mrs. Hearn, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Shakespeare, of 1924 Wood street, was formerly an employe of the State Printer and a member of the choir of St. Paul's Church.

The bridegroom, a son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hearn, of Huntingdon, where he served as a member of the Thirty-eighth Infantry, Third Division, during the war, was recently wounded.

After a wedding supper at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Benjamin Derick, 2253 Jefferson street, Mr. and Mrs. Hearn left for Detroit, where they will attend a business party before leaving for a short stay in Pittsburgh. They will reside in Altoona, where Mr. Hearn is employed as a machinist.

Pittsburgh Will Make Midnight Attempt to Resume Trolley Service

Pittsburgh, Aug. 27.—An attempt will be made to run street cars at midnight to-morrow night and break the strike that has tied up trolley transportation here thirteen days, receivers of the Pittsburgh Street Railway Company announced. This decision was made at a meeting of the general executive board of the Amalgamated Street and Electric Railway Employees, which was voted only to uphold International President W. D. Mahon, who last Saturday suspended the local division of the union No. 85, for striking in violation of its agreement to abide by the decision of the War Labor Board, but to serve notice of non-acceptance of the decision that if members did not return to work immediately a new division will be organized and the strikers would be considered as out-laws of the National Union.

Visiting the Shops with Adele SPEAKING OF masterpieces—I'm gazing at one now. Indeed it is with great difficulty that I keep my eyes from constantly seeking a photograph which daily hangs before me. And ever as I look, I smile, for smiling back at me is a radiant, young bride. Every one who enters my office remarks on the beauty of the portrait and I explain that it is but one of many artistic and idealistic, taken and finished by J. W. Koshon, the Market street photographer. Mr. Koshon, realize you are a bride's photograph should be a work of art, in every sense of the word, and using all his skill he makes it so. He specializes in taking either the bride or the whole wedding party, right after the ceremony, at the studio or outdoors. For interior work he carries with him a portable electric light intended especially for photographic purpose.

FLOWERS always add an essential touch to any decorative scheme. They beautify a home and make or mar a wedding. Imagine a charming bride with a bouquet of the most magnificent, wild blossoms. It surely spoils the picture, doesn't it? Now, no matter what the occasion, if you desire flowers, go to Keneey's Flower Shop, 814 North Third street. There you will find specialists in floral decorations and floral needs, ready to assist you with valuable suggestions and prepared to supply you with blooms that rival fairland in their many delightful tints and forms. And, while you are sure of obtaining the best of everything, including courteous attention, you are also certain that exorbitant, unreasonable prices will never be charged.

THESE cool days and evenings are certainly making the people of Harrisburg scamper round in search of warm wearing apparel. And in most cases they return from the scrimmage clad in that garment universally acknowledged as an essential—the sweater. No wardrobe is complete without several of these cool weather defenders and the man or woman who finds himself without one had better remedy the deficiency. Now is the logical time to do so for two reasons: First of all, the weather demands it, and, in the second place, Dourtrichs are selling a wonderful assortment of sweaters at their Mark-Down Sale. Can you imagine anything more obliging? They know that you would buy them at this season of the year, no matter what the price, yet they deliberately give them to you at a reduction when you need them most. Just another example of the Dourtrich policy!

THE Venetian School of Art, which flourished in Italy during the early part of the sixteenth century, gave to the world some of its greatest masterpieces. Expressing life free from care and restraint, it was singularly open to the influence of beauty. As for its color—bright, without being gaudy, always harmonious and with full allowance for all the subtle effects of light and shade, Venetian color has never been surpassed. The masters of this period grappled with the realities of nature and their influence was felt throughout the whole of Europe. An example of Venetian art, with a slight trace of French influence, now stands in the window of Sattzgriver's Art and Antique Shop, 223 North Second street. It is a mirror, a beautiful thing, and exhibits the best features of the school. Incidentally, it sells for $75.

The Mother Whose Daughter Is at School or College now faces the problem of clothes for the coming term. Girls at college, at finishing school or juniors and seniors in High School will find me especially well equipped to meet their needs. I am very anxious to secure their patronage, because the young girl strikes the keynote of this age. The shop which can satisfy their requirements will secure the older woman's business, too. We all want to look young and remain young in spirit. So I devote much attention to the wants of the rising generation. Pretty frocks, suits of graceful lines, smart coats, fetching hats—but you know the grade of goods I display. And this season I'm showing a wider variety than ever. Mary Sachs North Third Street at No. 20
