WOULD HAVE MEN ON TICKETS GET INTO BALL GAME

Gettysburg's Baseball Race Is Exciting; Court House Officials to Contest

Gettysburg, Pa., Aug. 28.—With a neck and neck race on between the first and second wards in the Gettysburg Ward baseball league excitement is at high pitch. Interest is greater than it was during the days of the Blue Ridge League a few years ago. A strictly amateur organization, the rabid fans turn out from seven hundred to a thousand strong to see the team play and rooting for the favorites is always in evidence. With all this interest the fans are strong for the settlement of the question of supremacy between different organizations. Accordingly, the court house officials, under the leadership of Sheriff Hartman, and the battlefield, headed by Frank Hersh, will meet on the diamond as soon as an open date in the league schedule can be found. It now is suggested that the candidates for office of the two political parties meet for a game before the primaries. The following lineup has been suggested:

For the Democrats—J. W. Harman, catcher; J. C. Reinecker, pitcher; Harry M. Keller, first base; C. C. Bream, second base; Harry B. Beard, third base; Walter C. Snyder, short stop; George A. Haar, left field; George B. Pittenturf, center field; and A. J. Guise, with the rest of the men fighting for office as utility men, the left overs on the Republican list also to be used in utility roles.

INSTITUTES TO BE LIVE ONES CLERGYMEN ARE HIS PALLBEARERS

Local Problems, Songs and Snappy Speeches Planned

Radical changes in the methods of holding farmers institutes where by women will have more of a show and the sessions thrown open for general discussion of the agricultural problems of the district instead of a crowded program of experts of various kinds, have been determined upon by Secretary of Agriculture Frederick Rasmussen as the result of the conference of institute managers held at State College.

The Secretary said that the proposition was to cut down the number of meetings thirty per cent because of the lack of funds and to increase value 100 per cent. Co-operation of State College has been assured and the application of advice to local farming conditions will be made a feature.

Two new features will be personal work among men who may be benefited by institutes so that they will come to the meetings and requests for newspaper co-operation, especially by inviting men with problems to attend institutes and ask advice, and the assignment of men familiar with the agricultural troubles of each community.

Another feature will be singing. At the conference of the county managers there was considerable zest added to the meeting by community singing and each man in charge has been asked to send a couple of songs to the secretary so that they can be printed and sent around. "Singing livens up things, especially if the songs have some go to them I have found and we are going to try it out," said the Secretary. "Every community has some good singers among the farmers. We're going to ask them to help."

The institutes will be held in early winter when outdoor work is over and be held at places easily accessible.

York, Pa., Aug. 28.—To look out into the back yard and see her babe dangling from a wash line, was the experience of Mrs. Frank J. Arnold, of this city, yesterday forenoon. Mrs. Arnold hurried to the child, which was hanging by its neck, and released it from its perilous position.

It happened in this way: Viola, a 19-year-old daughter, had been carrying the babe around on her shoulders when the infant was suddenly taken from behind her. Thinking an older sister had lifted the little one from her, she pulled it off with no attention and walked into the house. Do You Know Your Own Business?

If you own shares in a business do you want a Government employe to tell your executives how to run your business?

If you are a loyal employe, do you want a political appointee to have the power to injure your concern by hampering its operations or by interfering with its efficiency?

Perhaps you have noticed the effect of Government control on the railroads, telegraph, and telephone.

Bills have been introduced to license and regulate the packing industry—perhaps your business will be next.

You would probably dislike to have this happen to your business even more than you would dislike to have your daily supply of meat interfered with.
