cial mission and is now understood to be enroute from Omsk to Tokio. His reports have been made to President Wilson, who is understood to be personally directing American activities in connection with developments in Siberia.

His latest reports contain a strong plea for the immediate recognition of Admiral Kolchak's government. In his most recently received cables he insists that immediate recognition is highly essential to save the situation. It is understood that he recommends that it be given and that public announcement be made recommends that it be given and that public announcement be made of it for the moral effect such an announcement would have on the soldiers and population in Siberia. New Prices For Old Bonds

This is not a catch headline, but a statement of fact which should interest investors. There are bonds that have been on the market for years which are just as strong to-day as ever, but are selling at prices which make them more attractive than ever. For details regarding one of these bonds send for our Circular RM-57.
