

MOTOR VEHICLE CODE TO START

Police Co-operation and Inspection Will Begin on Sept. 15 Says Department

State Highway Department authorities are preparing to ask State and local police authorities to co-operate in a rigid enforcement of the new automobile regulation act commencing September 15.

The State will send out a squad of inspectors on motor vehicles to see that the law is enforced on State Highways. These men, it is stated, will be "fully empowered to act and equipped with devices for checking and testing excessive weights, glaring headlights, etc."

The department has also announced that specifications for tests of headlights have been prepared and that use of lights which are against the law will be prosecuted.

"SOUNDS LIKE BOSTONESSE" "Mother?" "Yes, darling."

"What is that strange phenomenon, occurring at alarming intervals, by which the whole firmament appears to be illuminated by an infinitesimal space and time, leaving all in impenetrable darkness?"

"That's my precious, is lightning. You must go to sleep now."

"Just one thing more. I note after each manifestation of nature you call lightning there follows a dull, lingering reverberation, commencing sharply and fortissimo, tumbling away with the most gradual diminuendo, vanishing at last into silence as black as the darkness that swallowed the light. What is that?"

"That is only thunder, caused from the lightning."

The baby's mother explains, was born only last November, and had never observed a thunderstorm until Wednesday night.—Kansas City Star.

STEELTON WOMAN WEAK FOR HOURS AFTER SUFFERING

Mrs. Mary Bowler Tells How Nature Products Restored Her Energy.

Mrs. Mary Bowler, of Steelton, Pa., said recently: "I had no energy, no pep, as my son would say, and even my housework. Headaches would come on me suddenly and sometimes last the whole day, and during these periods I would be unable to either eat or sleep."

"My stomach had gotten into very bad condition. Sometimes I suffered so from indigestion that my lips would turn blue and I would be so weak for hours that it was almost impossible for me to move around. I think that my entire system became affected through my condition. I tried a number of medicines, but none of them seemed to reach my trouble."

"I saw in the papers that other women who suffered just as I did had been helped by Natonex, so I could see no reason why this medicine, made of pure nature products, would not help me."

"That is how my relief began. I think that Natonex is really an extraordinary medicine, for it began to help me almost at once. I had taken it only a few days when my stomach began to improve and I felt that energy was returning."

ENGINEER TELLS STORY OF WRECK

Blames Collision on Faulty Engine; Piston Packing Bad

Philadelphia, Aug. 28.—Incensed at the charge of Coroner Cunningham, of Atlantic county, who expressed his belief that he had been "asleep on the job," Ralph Townsend, the engineer of the train which crashed into another at Ellwood, N. J., early Sunday morning, causing the death of one man and the injury of twenty-two other persons, yesterday placed the blame of the crash on a faulty locomotive which he said he was compelled to operate.

The engineer's disclosure was made to Edmund C. Gaskill, Jr., prosecutor for Atlantic county, at Atlantic City. He gave his story of the accident in the Atlantic City Hospital, where he has been since the accident, recovering from a fractured leg which he received when he leaped from the cabin of the engine.

"Telling the Truth" "Usually the engineer gets the worst end of it in a case like this. That's why I am going to tell the truth about this thing," he began.

"I have read in the newspapers that some people in authority say I was asleep. I never was more awake in my life. I had to be because of my engine. The Washington engineer whom I relieved at Philadelphia told me to report that the metallic packing was blowing badly on the right side of the engine as soon as I got to Atlantic City."

"Close to Signal" "I saw the tower plainly at Amatol. The next thing I got was the automatic signal. I wasn't six feet from it when I saw it first. Then about four or six coach-lengths further on we heard two torpedoes, saw the flash of a red fuse and then the rear lights of the train ahead. It looked to me as if he had been called in and then sent out again. Then I told the fireman to jump and let me go myself."

"I do not feel guilty of anything. I never saw the yellow caution signal. It was not my fault. I was lucky to see anything the way the steam was blowing from that engine."

"If that piston packing had been right I could have seen two blocks ahead all the time, for we had a bright electric headlight and the mist from the swamps we always find in the early morning below Lucaston would not have affected our vision seriously."

"Works Without Sleep" Shore detectives say Townsend made three round trips between Camden and Atlantic City in the twenty-four hours preceding the rear-end collision.

"Use of wooden coaches on excursion trains is in the spotlight of the press."

"The exact number of wooden coaches being used by the United States Railroad Administration in traffic to seashore points is being investigated," said Prosecutor Edmund C. Gaskill, Jr., of Atlantic City.

DIRECTOR HINES TELLS TRAVELING PUBLIC TO BUY TICKETS EARLY FOR TRIPS ON LABOR DAY

Walker D. Hines, director general of railroads, to-day authorized the following statement issued from Washington:

"The extent of the extraordinary heavy travel anticipated over Labor Day is urged that the public desiring to travel on the railroads over Labor Day make their traveling arrangements, including the purchase of railroad and sleeping car tickets, as far in advance as possible, so as to avoid adding to the congestion which usually occurs at this period."

"As far as is possible, everything that can properly be done has been done to care for the expected heavy travel over Labor Day. Several weeks ago our regional directors were asked to give special consideration to this matter, and each of them has answered that he has issued the necessary instructions and has taken steps to provide as much equipment as possible to adequately care for the travel, as far as its volume can be anticipated."

Reading Excursions Will Continue Another Month

Excursions on the Reading Railway to points of interest in this vicinity will be continued for one month longer than the customary time, according to officials.

No cause for the extension has been given, but it is evidently the idea of the United States Railway Administration. Under the new plan excursions will be run all through the month of September, while in previous years Labor Day marked the close of special trips.

This was a big day on the Reading and Pennsy. Special trains were run to Womeland for the big celebration at the Orphan's Home. Trains were also run to carry people to the big P. O. S. of A. parade at Womeland. On Sunday excursions will be run to Willow Grove and from Reading to this city.

HIGH PRICES PEAK REACHED; LOWERTREND IN ALL SECTIONS

Washington, Aug. 28.—President Wilson's recent assertion that the peak had been reached in high prices and that reductions may be expected to follow with the general movement toward normal conditions is already in process of verification, according to reports received by the Department of Justice.

"While the change has not been conspicuous for the country at large," Attorney General Palmer said yesterday, "there has been a material change in some articles and a generally lower trend in nearly all sections."

Mr. Palmer cited the shoe trade as prominent among those which had responded to the movement for a downward trend. He expressed the belief that the descending scale would be maintained, even if slowly.

Agreements with the fair price committees to obey the rates fixed by the latter do not come within the category of a "combination," the Attorney General said, nor would an agreement voluntarily entered into among dealers for a reduction in prices be looked upon by the Department of Justice as "unreasonable restraint of trade."
