

SCHOOL BELLS FOR 1,500,000 Army of Pupils Will Resume Studies Within the Next Fortnight in State

School bells will ring in Pennsylvania for more than a million and a half school children within the next fortnight. The bulk of the public schools of the State will reopen next Tuesday, although in some rural districts they have already opened and in others they will resume sessions after the long vacation the second week in September.

The last reports made to the State Department of Public Instruction show that there were 1,514,984 pupils on the lists of the public schools and 44,323 teachers. In addition, there are thousands of pupils and students in private and parochial schools and in preparatory, normal and other advanced schools and in colleges for whom studies will start again within the next fortnight.

The great problem attending public school affairs now is the teachers salary increase authorized by the last Legislature. A number of questions which affect the pay of teachers have been presented to the department by local boards.

Capitol Closed—The State Capitol departments have closed for the Labor Day holiday with exception of a few which remained open today because of special business and they will not reopen until Tuesday morning. The Public Service Commission and other boards are scheduled for meetings Tuesday.

Board of Pardons—The September session of the State Board of Pardons has been announced for September 1, the board having been in recess since June. The first applications have already been filed.

State Highway Department is preparing detailed information to be issued to heads of police departments in the cities, boroughs and townships of the State in regard to the enforcement of the automobile laws which went into effect September 15 and has urged that all owners of motor vehicles familiarize themselves with the provisions of the 1919 State Police Department will co-operate with the inspectors in checking up headlights, weight and other requirements.

Farmers Report—More than 3,000 Pennsylvania farmers have sent to the State Department of Agriculture data as to acreage of various crops on their farms in 1918 and 1919 for the compilation of a national report system and it is expected that thousands more will join in the plan. The State authorities have requested that Pennsylvania farmers make the reports so that a State record of areas under cultivation may be made up from first hand information.

Permit Issued—Permits have been issued for the sewer improvements of Danmore, Throop and Archbold. New Location Ordered—The Public Service Commission today issued an order relocating a subway ordered established near Six-Mile Creek in Harbor Creek township, Erie county, and placing it 175 feet west of the Depot road at Harbor Creek station on the New York Central railroad. The railroad is to submit detailed plans by October 1 and the county engineer of Erie is to make survey plans.

New Brick Company—L. M. Bricker, of Lemoyne, is one of the incorporators of the new Dillsburg Grain and Milling Co., of Dillsburg, chartered with a capital of $75,000. W. E. Bushey and C. S. Willis also are incorporators.

Dauphin Contract—The contract between Dauphin borough and the Harrisburg Light and Power Company for five years electric street lighting has been listed for hearing by the Public Service Commission next week.

Many Hearings Listed—Hearings have been scheduled for September's first week in Harrisburg, Allentown and Scranton by the Public Service Commission, which will also hold its first September session here on Tuesday. The Harrisburg hearings will include complaints against refusal of electric lines in Lebanon county to give connections, against the North Branch Transit fares, for new train stops near Herndon and from Clivedan regarding train stops and tickets to Wayne Junction. The Scranton cases include jitney cases and the Allentown list for Friday includes complaints against Lehigh Valley Transit fares and the New Street bridge tolls. A number of Jefferson county electric companies are asking for charters.

Compliment Morgan—W. J. Morgan, of the fire detection bureau, has been highly complimented by Capitol Hill people upon his address at Gettysburg on preventable fires.

Pennsylvania Labor Day Dates From 1893

Observance of Labor Day in Pennsylvania, which will take place on Monday, September 1, this year, dates from 1893 when in response to activities of men in labor organizations the Legislature passed a bill establishing the first Saturday in September as Labor Day. Other states have established Labor Day and the observance was general. In 1897 a bill was passed designating the first Monday of September as Labor Day and this has been observed since, the day being mentioned in the general holiday act of several sessions ago.

Bryan Denounces Private Ownership of the Railroads

Washington, Aug. 30.—William Jennings Bryan laid before the House Interstate Commerce Committee his dual plan of State and Federal ownership of railway lines as a solution of the railroad reorganization problem. In doing so, the former Secretary of State denounced private ownership of the railroads as indefensible and intolerable and characterized railroad magnates as political corruptionists. "We have never tried Government ownership," he declared. Mr. Bryan, referring to the railroad administration, "A subsidized newspaper never thinks to tell that the Government took over the railroads when the private owners could not run them. The Government has been only in temporary control, and the roads in the hands of those who wanted to see Government ownership fail so they could get the roads back."

Philadelphia Theaters Await End of Strike

Philadelphia, Aug. 30.—As a result of the strike in New York, two Philadelphia theaters scheduled to open their seasons next Monday, will remain dark. The Garrick theater which was to show "La La Lucille" and the Adelphi with "Toby's Boy" as the attraction last night closed the advance sale of seats, withdrew their advertisements and will refund money received in the advanced sale. In theatrical circles the opinion was expressed that it is unlikely any legitimate attraction will be shown in Philadelphia until the strike is settled.

Middletown Steel Falls From Car and Damages Fast Train

An eastbound passenger train on the Pennsylvania Railroad yesterday morning was struck by a car load of structural steel that had broken loose from its supports. The sides of the train were badly damaged as the steel scraped along the train, although none of the passengers were injured. The engineer of the train saw the steel just in time to leap to the floor of the cabin, the top of which was torn off when it was hit. The freight car was taken to the local car plant where the steel was again bound up. The passenger train was delayed for several hours. Joseph Florn has returned home from a week's trip to Philadelphia. C. G. Baumbach, Jr., has purchased the Harry Baumbach property on South Wood street and will take possession October 1. Mrs. D. H.
