The official decorator for the town has arrived and is rapidly putting the town in parade dress.

The request sent out by the council of general committee, that all shade trees be trimmed fifteen feet from the ground is meeting with public approval and accordingly many citizens have had this work done.

The baseball park is being repaired and repainted and will be in first class shape for the afternoon game between the Kitz Chocolate Company and Williamsport.

Mummies of the town and vicinity are urged to turn out in gala attire. Already many novelty costumes have been promised. It is expected that this will constitute a big attraction in the parade. Carpenters are busily engaged in putting an additional platform to the side of the bandstand so as to accommodate the large Spring Garden Band of York, which will give the evening concert.

The certificates of honor which the town will present to each service man, have been signed by each of the councilmen, the burgess and the chairman of the celebration, Dr. John L. Good.

The Valley Railways will run special cars from Harrisburg to New Cumberland next Saturday. They will leave Market Square every fifteen minutes. Ample accommodations are being provided for the largest crowd the town has ever had.

GETS FIRED FOR UNIONIZING HIS FATHER'S PLANT

Riverside, N. J., Sept. 4.—John Miller, Jr., son of the head of the Keystone Water, case Company, who went into the factory to "learn the business from the bottom up," was "fired" by his father following a walkout of 1,000 of the company's employees, whom he is alleged to have aided in unionizing.

It was impossible to learn whether young Miller had joined the walkout, nor could it be learned whether the strikers contemplated adding a demand for his reinstatement to their other demands. Miller, who has been interested in unions ever since he put on overalls, is said to have been instrumental in unionizing more than seventy per cent. of the company's force.

While the industrial relations of the Miller family are broken, it is reported that their cordial social relations still maintain.

ment of the coal lands in the upper end of the county, which will add large sums yearly to the county revenues without expense to the taxpayers in general. Mr. Cumber is well known throughout the county in business and political circles as well, he having large quarry interests in the lower end and having been treasurer of the county committee many years. His friends are confident he will win. Both he and Dr. Sime have the support of the Republican organization, which has a regular backing none but good men, as the present official make-up of the courthouse staff will show. Other Republicans who are vying for the honor are Harry G. Page, a laborer, residing at 411 Hummel street, who is seeking the support of the labor element of the voters; David Bohner, well known throughout the lower end of the county, and Frank M. Shadel, of Lykens, who announced himself early in the summer and has been active, particularly in the upper end. The Democratic candidates, aside from Wells, are John J. Buffington, a well-known business man and a member of the Holstein, who ran on the Honnwell ticket for Lieutenant Governor last fall; Fred L. Merz, a prominent in Democrat; and Samuel M. Taylor, another old Democratic war horse, who has many friends here in the city and the country roundabout.

For recorder of deeds on the Democratic side, William R. Danler is in opposition, but there is a contest for the Republican nomination with M. Harvey Taylor and Lockwood B. Worden as the candidates. Mr. Taylor is a native of Harrisburg, prominent in his early days as a baseball player and later a councilman from the old First ward in the days of ward elections to the city legislative bodies. He made an excellent reputation for himself there and was a member of the new city council after the passage of the Clark act, having charge of the parks and city department. He is well known in business circles and particularly to the younger men of the city. His opponent, Mr. Worden, is also a native of the city, having been born in the Seventh ward, the son of James H. Worden, who presided over the occupying office of prothonotary to which the younger Mr. Worden was appointed and served until the remainder of the term. He is well known in the city as a hunter and trapshooters of the county, being an enthusiastic sportsman. Mr. Taylor has the support of the Republican side, the Democrats having no contest. J. Clyde Myton, head of the Harrisburg Motor Club, and well known in automobile circles, being alone in the field. Friends of George V. Karmany say there is no question of his nomination on the Republican ticket. He has the support of a majority of the Republican leaders, but is well known and popular. He comes from an old local family and is the leading undertaker in the vicinity of Hummelstown, where his folks have been in business for years. He is a graduate of Gettysburg College and well known in athletic circles. Henry D. Koons and A. J. Mitchell are also well known Republicans who have been active in politics for a long time and they are in the race to no finish.

For district attorney, J. Douglas Royal, son of former Mayor John K. Royal, is alone in the field, occupying the office called by the law to fill a vacancy. The race on the Republican side apparently is favoring Philip S. Moyer, who has the support of all the leaders, not to mention almost all of his fellow members at the bar. Moyer has the advantage of being better known than his opponent, Edward F. Doehne, of Harrisburg, who, however, is making a very vigorous contest. Doehne has practiced at the Dauphin county bar for years and is a member of a prominent Harrisburg family. Moyer was born in Millersburg, has taken part in many Republican campaigns, is an orator of ability and is now serving as county solicitor.

Vigorous contests are also being waged for county treasurer and director of the poor, but attention for the present is being devoted to the offices mentioned, with the other places bound to come to the front as the campaign progresses.

For the School Board

Of the Republican candidates for nomination for school directors, Franklin J. Roth, 225 South Thirtieth street, was the first to file papers. Mr. Roth has been official county reporter and stenographer since 1892 and has been a resident of the city for many years. He numbers his friends by the hundred.

William Favord, 1514 State street, for years connected with the Harrisburg Shoe Manufacturing Company and for about two years in business as a shoe manufacturer himself, is another Republican candidate who filed nomination petitions for a School Board position. He has been active in city affairs for a long time and is well known in business circles.

Howard M. Bingham, 2205 North Front street, is seeking nomination also for the school directorship. He is an attorney and has been a member of the Dauphin county bar for about nine years. Formerly he was in partnership with the late Major W. C. Farnsworth and upon the latter's death took charge of the legal work which had been handled by the firm. Herbert A. Peters, 19 North Fifth street, a passenger conductor, is the fourth Republican candidate on the ticket. Mr. Peters is one of the best-known broadsiders in the city and is making an active canvass.

On the Democratic side the candidates for nomination are not opposed. They are J. E. Kistner, 1944 North Cameron street, a railroad brakeman; Clarence B. Roberts, 1316 Green street, an accountant, and Warren R. VanDyke, 820 North Sixth street, who has been active in real estate and building circles, particularly in the development of part of the Eighth ward north of State street. He is secretary of the State Democratic Committee, with headquarters in this city.

Holds Clemenceau Responsible For Failure to Secure Better Terms

Paris, Wednesday, Sept. 3.—Debate in the Chamber of Deputies on the ratification of the treaty of peace with Germany was marked by personal attacks today when Deputy Franklin-Bouillon declared that he would vote against the treaty and held Premier Clemenceau personally responsible for the failure of France to obtain better guarantees in the treaty.

"It was a grave error," said M. Franklin-Bouillon, "to accept President Wilson's fourteen points unreservedly and without discussion. The British were careful to take exception to the 'point' dealing with the freedom of the seas and Great Britain, America and Japan obtained entire satisfaction of all their claims."

Sprull, who was back at his desk in the Capitol today after his trip to Salt Lake and to Washington, expressed himself as delighted with his visit to the Danville welcome home to the soldiers yesterday. "It was one of the most enjoyable occasions I have known in a long time and Danville certainly did itself proud," said he.

The Governor devoted himself to departmental affairs during the day, having meetings with various heads of departments, including Superintendent of Public Instruction Thomas E. Finegan, Commissioner of Banking John S. Fisher and others.

Bitterness Between Races Amazes Tuskegee President

Tuskegee, Ala., Sept. 4.—R. I. Morton, Booker T. Washington's successor as head of Tuskegee Institute, declared in a statement regarding recent race riots in North and South that it is difficult to understand why there should be so much apparent suspicion and bitterness on the part of both the white and negro races.

"I have never known the colored people to have more intense feeling towards the white than at the present," Morton said, "and I have never known a time when there was less reason. I never knew a time when the white people of the South—not only the leading white people, but the average white man—were more anxious than at present to be absolutely fair to the negro. This is also true of the North."
