

EARLY SOLUTION PROMISED LABOR BY SEC. WILSON

American Standards Must Be Maintained, Postmasters Are Told

Secretary of Labor William B. Wilson, speaking to three hundred members of the Pennsylvania State Postmasters Association last evening at their banquet in the Penn-Harris Hotel, said that an early solution of labor problems was a certainty.

Mr. Wilson said that we are now passing through a period of uncertainty, but that there was no doubt of an early change from war to peace time conditions. Just as we changed so rapidly the other way at the declaration of hostilities. The American standard must be maintained, according to Mr. Wilson, and the American laborer will see that it is maintained.

The Secretary of Labor went on to outline the Bolshevik movement in Russia and its relation to this country. That the movement in this country is broken there can be no doubt, he said. Speaking of the high cost of living, he predicted that the government would bring about a reduction in prices by going after the profiteer and hoarder.

Mr. Wilson was the only scheduled speaker who was able to be present. Vance C. McCormick, chairman of the War Trade Board, A. Mitchell Palmer, Attorney General, and Postmaster General Burleson all sent telegrams expressing their regret at their inability to be present.

The first speaker of the evening was Third Assistant Postmaster General A. M. Dockery, former governor of Missouri. Mr. Dockery urged the vital importance of a speedy ratification of the treaty. He predicted a period of prosperity greater than the country has ever known, after the treaty is ratified.

United States Senator Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas, made the final address. He assailed the opponents of the League of Nations, and those who were arguing over the ratification of the treaty. The President deserves highest commendation for the way in which he put through the treaty, said the senator from Arkansas. Senator Robinson has the peculiar distinction of having been within the period of sixteen days, congressional senator and governor of his state.

Closing hours of the Pennsylvania Postmasters' convention were given a decided political coloring by a speech by James I. Blaklee, former secretary of the Democratic State Convention and now fourth Assistant Postmaster General, who twice took occasion in the course of his speech to boost Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer for President. Each time the convention rose and cheered.

The postmasters adopted resolutions praising the President. Postmaster General A. S. Burleson, whose letter of regret at inability to be present was read later, and Mr. Palmer. General John C. Koons warned the convention that while there might be an increase in salaries, it would be as great as some wanted and that a 35 per cent increase would mean one hundred million dollars additional expense.

Blaklee then spoke on the postal service as the saviour of the Nation and urged that the rural free delivery system be used to buy food direct from farmers and suggested that some of the motor vehicles bought for war uses be provided for such purposes. He said that he felt that the postmasters were ready to line up next year behind a Pennsylvanian and when the cheers had subsided decried attacks upon Palmer, whom he said had performed public service not only to the nation but to the State. Blaklee also criticized the cost per mile of the bids the State has been receiving for road construction and said good roads and adequate compensation were needed for rural carriers.

25,000 Knights Templar to March in Parade

Philadelphia, Sept. 5.—With arrangements completed for the entertainment of the women relatives and friends who will accompany Knights Templar to the triennial convocation of the order which opens here Saturday night, special committees of local women, who will act as escorts for the visitors, announced that there will be no dull moments for the guests.

The impossibility of providing quarters in this city for the 100,000 or more Knights Templar and their companions who will be in Philadelphia during the convocation became apparent several days ago, and yesterday arrangements were made by which 5,000 of the visiting knights will be cared for by hotels at Atlantic City. A special ticket to the shore will be provided by the railroads which will grant an exceedingly low rate of fare for daily trips to this city.

The Knights Templar parade on Tuesday is destined to be one of the most elaborate pageants ever staged on the streets of Philadelphia. More than 25,000 Knights will be in line. The line will be over eleven miles in length and will take from three and a half to four and a half hours to pass the reviewing stand. Some idea of its gorgeousness may be formed when it is stated that the value of the plumes which will be worn by the marchers exceeds a half million dollars. In all probability the total value of the regalia displayed will exceed $3,000,000.

Luther League Opens Fall and Winter Season

On Thursday evening the Luther League of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Holy Communion began the fall and winter program at the home of the pastor, the Rev. John Henry Miller, 1607 Forster street.

The meeting opened with the Luther League Rally hymn, after which the president, Herbert May, led the devotional exercises. Mrs.

W. A. Gernert gave an impressive explanation of the Luther League emblem—the black cross on a red heart resting on a white rose surrounded with blue and a rim of gold.

Interesting hymn studies were given by Miss Poorman and Mrs. May on "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," and "Rock of Ages Cleft For Me." The pastor led an instructive study of I Timothy.

A program has been arranged for the year, including Bible and hymn studies, biographical sketches, etc., which promises to be full of interest and profit.

The League will meet at various homes the first Thursday evening of each month, excepting June, July and August.

Adams County to Vote on Road Loan

Adams county people are considering a half million dollar road bond issue to be submitted to the voters early in 1920, according to what a delegation of Adams county today informed Assistant State Highway Commissioner George H. Bliss and candidates for county commissioner and county offices are being quizzed as to how they stand on the question. The delegates asked about improvements in Littlestown borough and were told that they would be made as soon as possible. The delegation included Superintendent of Printing Robert C. Miller, D. Elmer Buckey, S. M. Keagy and Austin Staley. "We believe that Adams county should join hands with York which voted a big bond issue recently," said Mr. Miller.

HAD DANDRUFF FOR SIX YEARS

Hair Thin, Lifeless and Dry. Cuticura Heals.

"I had much dandruff and it caused my scalp to begin itching. The dandruff scaled off and my scalp was sore and red. I scratched it and I lost many a night's rest. My hair fell out and became thin, lifeless and dry. This trouble lasted six years before I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I used them for about two months when I was completely healed." ### Demand German Officers Swear Allegiance to New Republican Constitution

Berlin, Thursday, Sept. 4.—The Social Democratic Society of Berlin has adopted a resolution introduced in the National Assembly by Vice-President Loebe, demanding that all army officers immediately take the oath to the new republican constitution and urging that those who refuse be dismissed from the army.

Another resolution introduced in the National Assembly calls upon the government to get rid of Gustav Noske, minister of defense, who, it is said, "is evidently unable to stem the tide of military reaction." The appointment of a "comrade capable of ending the military counter revolution" is demanded. There is also a protest before the National Assembly against the retention of the law providing for arrests during a period of martial law. This is taken as another indication that Herr Noske's regime is unpopular with the government and the Socialists.

Hamburg, Thursday, Sept. 4.—The editor of the independent Socialist newspaper Volks Zeitung has been sentenced to jail for three weeks on a charge of having "insulted Gustav Noske, minister of defense," in an editorial.

Wilson Seen as Ally of Universal Training

Washington, Sept. 5.—That President Wilson favors universal military training and supports the War Department's army reorganization bill creating a peace time army of 576,000 is the belief of General Payton C. March, chief of staff. He told the House military affairs committee, furthermore, that world unrest, and steps taken by other nations to maintain strong military forces make it necessary for the United States to keep its relative strength. He declared that if universal military training is adopted an army of the size proposed would be essential.

CAPITOL PARK PLANS GIVEN CONSIDERATION

the order from the Board of Public Grounds and Buildings to go ahead. The Commonwealth, under an act of Assembly will dedicate for the uses of the city such foot walks as may be necessary in the park along Walnut and Third streets.

Much Work in Prospect

In addition to the prospective street work along the Capitol Park, Commissioner Lynch is proceeding rapidly to cover the highway work outlined for this season. Considerable paving is necessary in the vicinity of the new Edison school building at Eighteenth and Chestnut streets, and it will also be necessary to pave the block in Chestnut, between Eighteenth and Nineteenth. The proposed loan for street paving of $50,000 will provide for other important street work contemplated for the 1920 program.

In addition to the item in the loan ordinance providing for the transfer of $300,000 for the proposed Walnut street bridge to the Memorial viaduct at State street, there is an important loan item of $100,000 for sewers. This sum will be utilized in general improvement of the sewerage conditions of the city and will take care of the large section embraced in the Thirteenth ward. It will also provide for the eventual annexation of Paxtang to the city. Another item which this loan will cover is an important main sewer along Asylum creek, which will provide a new sewer distribution point at Seventeenth and Calder streets and afford an outlet for the State Police Barracks and other important buildings in that section. This loan will also take care of the big sewer necessary to reclaim the lowlands in the vicinity of Italian Park at Shamokin street. Unless and until this loan is authorized no real relief can be provided for the big building developments which are contemplated in several sections of Harrisburg, especially in the suburban districts.

Another of the paving projects which is of interest is the Herr street section, from Cameron to Fourteenth, which will provide an outlet for the State Arsenal and the State Police Barracks.

Of all the loans, however, none is more popular than that proposing $400,000 in the Kleister ordinance for bathing facilities. Under a resolution adopted by City Council, Park Commissioner Gross is directed to employ an expert who shall determine what Harrisburg should do in respect to proper bathing accommodations. It is expected that this expert will be engaged and make a study of the matter without delay so the whole subject can be intelligently presented to the people before election.

The Gallery of Autumn Fashions

The Attention of Critical Dressers Will Be Centered ON SCHLEISNER'S Where the Authentic Modes Emanate in Harrisburg

Every woman, no matter how elaborate her wardrobe will be for this fall or how modest, looks forward to selecting her outfit at a store where correctness of fashion is assured.

Since the war great changes have been wrought in styles.

able garments ever brought to Harrisburg.

Our assortments are indeed the largest we have ever been privileged to show.

We wish to lay special emphasis on the fact that whilst our lines are larger than heretofore, each garment has been selected with the same rigid care, the same attention to tailoring, the same interest in fine details, as when our stocks were smaller.

and secondly, in the earlier part of the year when we selected our lines we made up our minds to have ample assortment for every patron of the store, so that whosoever chose to buy apparel would have every reason to be satisfied with our service.

Fine tailoring is one of the most important features of our garments. We cannot dwell upon this point too much.

We have often tried to impress upon our clientele the fact that the high class tailoring of our garments is a thing apart from what will be found in average garments.

Of course, we try to please you by having what you want, but on the other hand, we do not care to have you purchase any garment of us that does not truly become you.

In the long run this characteristic of our service will be greatly appreciated.

Our new fall lines are replete with suits, coats and dresses for the woman, miss and young girl. The new millinery is on display, the new blouses, the new skirts, the new silk and hand embroidered underwear and the new silk hosiery invite your inspection.

The development of the styles for this fall are peculiar to the apparel world. Despite the fact that the scarcity caused great concern among many manufacturers and the constantly rising cost of labor has hampered the manufacturing of garments, thereby causing somewhat of a dearth. We have been able to collect for your inspection and approval what we sincerely believe to be the finest variety of fashion-

We have two very important reasons why we have installed such a large stock for this fall. First, the steady and remarkable growth of our business demands that we prepare for a larger patronage than ever,

Another important side of our service is the strict attention we give to your individual requirements.

Visit our store without obligation to buy.
