Music and Motion Pictures

The relationship of music to motion pictures is a subject of interest and importance to those who follow the development of the silent drama. Just how much of the effectiveness of a screen masterpiece is due to impressions received by the ear as well as the eye brought forth in David Wark Griffith's big dramatic production, "The Mother and the Law," to be seen at the Victoria next week coming direct from the George M. Cohan Theater, New York.

In this latest of the big Griffith features a special orchestra accompaniment is made part and parcel of the entertainment and numerous other things above the knowledge of the ordinary man.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week Charlie Chaplin will be offered in "Shoulder Arms" a story of life and adventures. A screen from start to finish.

When Jack Dempsey outfought Jess Willard at Toledo, on July 4, and won the heavyweight championship of the world, he turned the trick so easily that there was considerable agitation among the boxing fraternity as to who would be the next logical contender for the heavyweight crown.

BENNY LEONARD GIVEN DECISION

Champion Too Clever For Middleweight; Willie Jackson Wins

Philadelphia, Sept. 5.—Benny Leonard defeated Soldier Bartfield in the wind-up at the Philadelphia Ball Park last night, having the Soldier in bad shape at the last bell. It was a case of a skillful, careful boxer against a wild, slugging fighter, and the boxer had the better of the argument.

Philadelphia, Sept. 5.—Benny Leonard defeated Soldier Bartfield in the wind-up at the Philadelphia Ball Park last night, having the Soldier in bad shape at the last bell. It was a case of a skillful, careful boxer against a wild, slugging fighter, and the boxer had the better of the argument.

Johnny Murray outboxed Joe O'Donnell, the Gloucester ironworker, in six rounds that were far from exciting. O'Donnell, as usual, and at all times, carried the fight to the New Yorker, but Murray had the better of the boxing in every round, although he could never stop him from scoring.

Max Williamson and Patsey Wallace opened the show, their bout being staged 15 minutes after the time announced for the show to start. It was a tame affair, neither fighter inflicting any damage and ended with honors about even. Williamson landed more blows than Wallace, but Patsey's punches were the harder.

Also in Flight A bashful curate found the young ladies in the parish too helpful. At last it became so embarrassing that he left.

Not long afterward he met the curate who had succeeded him. "Well," he asked, "how do you get on with the ladies?" "Oh, well, indeed," said the other. "There is safety in numbers, you know."

Stars Who Fought Their Way to Finals in Tennis Championships

WILLIAM T. TILDEN, 2ND, AND INSERT WILLIAM M. JOHNSON.

Forest Hills, L. I., Sept. 5.—California is again supreme as the home of the world's greatest tennis player for the season of 1919. On the courts of West Side Club here yesterday William M. Johnson, of San Francisco, defeated William T. Tilden, 2nd, of Philadelphia, in straight sets in the final match for the national turf singles championship.

In eliminating the towering Philadelphia by the score of 6-4, 6-1, 6-2, Johnston placed himself upon a tennis pinnacle seldom reached by racket masters. With Tilden he was the sole survivor of 128 players who began the struggle for the title on August 25. This field contained the famous Australian team, winners of the English championships, at Wimbledon, as well as American players conquerors in the A. E. F. tournaments abroad. Thus Johnston's victory this afternoon stamps him unquestionably as the best tennis player competing in the game in any part of the world this year.

The new champion in winning his latest honors played fully up to the high standard necessary to clinch such an honor. It is doubtful if Johnston or any other tennis star has ever shown a better all-around game from both the standpoint of stroking and court strategy. This, too, in the face of the stiff opposition that he has never faced for Tilden did not go

U. S. Seizes 82,296 Cases of Tomatoes Stored by Packer

Philadelphia, Sept. 5.—In its fight against food hoarding the government yesterday turned its guns against Swift & Co., one of the "big five" packers of Chicago, when United States District Attorney Kane filed a suit in the Federal court for the confiscation of 82,296 cans of tomatoes the packing firm is alleged to have held in storage to "shoot up" the prices and obtain abnormal profits.

Seizure of 3,429 cases of tomatoes, each containing twenty-four cans, will be made by United States Deputy Marshal McCaffrey as soon as the necessary writs are issued by Clerk Brodbeck of the District court.

Swift & Co. is the second of the "big five" packers to be proceeded against by the government for hoarding foodstuffs until they could obtain almost a prohibitive price. The other packer is Morris & Co., against whom the government filed a suit on August 20, last, for holding fifty-two cases in storage while prices kept jumping upwards.

Dry Law ere to Stay, Asserts Judge, Fining 31 New York Sept. 5.—"I hope you men will understand that wartime prohibition is a necessary measure," said Judge Rufus E. Foster in the United States district court to-day, after imposing fines of $50 each on thirty-one hotelkeepers, saloon-keepers and bartenders for violation of the law.

"You must also understand," he added, "that by the adoption of the constitutional amendment there is a new order of things and as there is little chance of its repeal, you must make up your minds to engage in some other kind of business."
