

MAGAZINE COVERS USEFUL
Many people do not know that magazine covers can be made into useful household furnishings, such as curtains or portieres with but little trouble and expense, says the Thrift Magazine. The covers usually contain many brilliant colors and these are the ones that should be used. With a pair of scissors, paste, shellac and some cord you will be able to fashion very pretty beads out of the covers from which you can make the Japanese curtains or portieres. Cut off all the white space that may appear on the cover, fold lengthwise and cut into equilateral triangles. At the bottom part, commence to roll the triangle around the hat pin. When nearing the end apply a little paste and press with the fingers. Slide it off the pin and you will have a pretty, long-shaped bead containing many different colors.

Get a long piece of wire and string the beads on it, then get some good shellac and shellac them. When they have dried them string on strong cord the length of an ordinary sized curtain or portiere. Make little loops on the end and fasten them on to a curtain pole or portiere rod. A glass or wooden bead may, if desired be inserted between the paper ones by way of variety.

BANK NOTE ENGRAVING
Bank note engraving is one of the highest specialized branches of the art, and there are no more skilled experts than those employed at Washington. They are constantly designing "stock" for future bills that may be ordered by the government. They keep their supply in such completed. The making of the small square letters is on of the most difficult branches and for this work a man stock on hand. Some of the engravers specialize in vignette work, which consists of the drawing of the figures on the bills, such as "The Landing of Columbus," etc. Particular care is taken in this because the slightest change in a line on a forged bill makes the counterfeit apparent. The making of the small square letters is on of the most difficult branches and for this work a man must have particular aptitude. The engraving of a bill is done piecemeal, with all the portraits, figures, corners, etc. assembled after all is done. The engravers are constantly planning on leaving the counterfeit. The cleverest counterfeiter in American history was a man in the employ of a New York concern which formerly printed money for the United States, who spent his evenings making duplicates for his gang.—Detroit News.

PRO AND CON
"They tell me women have no strength of character."
"Nonsense!"
"That's what I say. Did you ever hear of an aviatrix stopping in mid-air to powder her nose?"
"No, sir, I never did. But do you suppose she is going to meet anybody in mid-air who can see whether or not her nose is shiny?"—Birmingham Age-Herald.

ARE YOU THERE?
Cholly—Rotten phone service we're having now, eh, old top?
Reggie—Right! But I've quit using the infernal old thing.
Cholly—Quit using them? How can you do that?
Reggie—Can't help it, old dear. Burn memory, you know—can't remember a number long enough to suit the operator.—London Observer.
