KNOW YOUR BUSINESS

THE Chamber of Commerce has arranged its Merchants' Institute at a particularly opportune time, when businessmen more than ever have come to an understanding that their only hope for success lies in an intimate and detailed knowledge of their line.

A BUMPY BOULEVARD

UNLESS and until the city authorities provide definite traffic regulations for the River Drive, the city's main boulevard, the pride of Harrisburg in its well-paved streets and its reputation as well will surely suffer.

A CITY TREE CAMPAIGN

HERE are said to be at least five hundred oaks, maples, elms and other trees suitable for shade purposes ready for transplanting at the Island Park nursery.

the Shade Tree act, or pass suitable ordinances in accordance therewith, in order that there may be proper supervision of planting, removal and protection of the trees of the city.

But there must be leadership, and it would seem the Department of Parks, with control over the nursery and several hundred trees ready for transplanting, is equipped as no individual or group of individuals to blaze the way for citizens generally in this great work.

THEY COME AND GO

MARION, ILL., where the late Colonel Ingersoll once lived and which he aspired to see a church town, has become a veritable city of churches.

We don't know whether this is a reflex of the Colonel's teachings or if it is merely one of those peculiar coincidences in which history appears to take delight, but it serves to remind one that while the disturbing doctrines of Ingersoll are almost forgotten, the church he slighted is still a mighty and ever-growing force for good in the world.

NOT FOR US

AMERICAN representatives in Paris may as well save themselves the pains they apparently are taking to procure for the United States a mandatory of Armenia, Constantinople and the Straits.

MONEY THAT GOT AWAY

IN THE last decade probably several dozen men who had amassed fortunes in business of various kinds in Pennsylvania, Florida or California and the State within whose limits they had made millions did not get a cent in the way of taxes.

A CITY TREE CAMPAIGN

THESE are said to be at least five hundred oaks, maples, elms and other trees suitable for shade purposes ready for transplanting at the Island Park nursery.

Politics in Pennsylvania

One of the interesting things about the final ten days of the primary campaign in Pennsylvania is the sudden awakening of people in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and other cities where there has been interest centered in majority or county nomination contests to the importance of the general elections.

SOMEbody IS ALWAYS TAKING THE JOY OUT OF LIFE

No Wonder Germany Quit

"We're rarin' to go, used to be echoed down the long column of footsore, weary men, stretching away an unknown distance into the darkness. And I say advisedly an unknown distance, for there might be twenty or thirty miles of dough-boys strung out behind, a solid column of fours. Perhaps you have noticed how the infantry back from France and cadence, a rhythmic thud to the hobnailed shoes that is thrilling, the marching of veterans.

Midvale Workers' Sound Stand

It should be a matter of record, well preserved, that the Midvale Steel workers sounded the first note of sane doctrine for labor throughout the world, in this period of serious upheaval among the working classes in all parts of the earth.

Naturalizing Names

[From the St. Joseph Gazette.] During the war it became very common for foreign residents of America and Great Britain to adopt English names. In many cases this was done by simplifying the spelling or by translating the foreign name into the English equivalent.

Hidden Facts of History

[Henry Watterson in the Saturday Evening Post.] I wonder shall we ever get any real truth out of what is called history. There are so many sides to it and such a confusing din of opinion.

The Black Boreen

There's a lane beyond the village that they call the Black Boreen. There's a bog the earliest cowpals, and grass is soonest green. And if you're there at noontide when shadows shortest fall, you'll hear the faintest voice out of the hedgerow.

Evening Chat

The woman hunter seems to have come to stay in Pennsylvania, according to reports returns being made by the various county treasurers to the State Game Commission on the hunters' licenses issued a few years ago to the issuance of a license to a woman to hunt, was a rarity and caused much comment, but now it is nothing uncommon, and several of the counties in the southern part of the State, especially the mountain counties, have reported women taking out licenses and they have also been issued to women in the north central section.
