"Most Days Per Dollar"
You've seen the auto tire slogan "most miles per dollar." It has occurred to me that it could well be paraphrased to apply to women's clothes. It's not the price but the value which interests the shrewd purchaser.
Suppose you buy a suit for $50 and it renders three months' service. Suppose you buy a suit for $100 and it renders eight months' service. Which was the better investment? And remember the $100 suit looked like $100 during its entire life. The $50 suit never did look like more than $50. Also it required pressing about three times as often as the $100 suit.
When you buy clothing, especially in these days when fabrics in the cheaper garments are so adulterated, keep in mind the phrase "Most Days per Dollar."
Right now I'm displaying some very handsome fur coats which will render a surprisingly large number of days' service per dollar.

SISTERS TELL OF WORK ABROAD
The Misses Westbrook Home After Canteen Work in France and Germany
"The Army co-operated with the 'Y' in Germany in such a way as to make the work both easy and pleasant for the workers there," said Miss Kathleen Westbrook and Miss Suzanne Westbrook this morning at their home in Melrose, to which they returned last evening after participating in the big Pershing Parade, in New York city.

Sisters Work Together
It was there that Miss Kathleen Westbrook, who left this country November, 1919, joined her sister, in April. Prior to that time she was in Paris at the Avenue Montaigne Canteen, the first one there, started by Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr. This canteen was in a beautiful residence that Napoleon had given one of his court favorites and was luxuriously decorated and furnished throughout. After remaining there for about three months she left for Germany where the sisters worked together for a brief period when Miss Kathleen was sent out in the field with the "Fighting 28th." Most of her canteens were in outpost towns and she traveled from one to the other carrying food and provisions to the boys.

WHAT EARLY BUYING DID FOR US!
WHAT EARLY BUYING WILL DO FOR YOU!
For Us
We saved a good many hundreds of dollars by buying our Fall merchandise early—and this is not the only advantage of our early buying. We had first choice of every new material that was shown. This season there were lots and lots of fabrics shown in very limited quantities, and of these we secured our share by early buying. Another great, big advantage by early buying this season was to get garments made without rushing and using unskilled labor. Many of our garments were on order eight and ten weeks, giving the manufacturers plenty of time to turn out our orders in the usual way—not rushed. We have a store full of new Fall and Winter Suits, Coats, Dresses, Waists and Petticoats, in proper materials. All well made and fully 20 per cent. less than to-day's prices.

Fall Opening at Y.M.C.A. to Be Held October 3

Invitations have been extended to the women to be present at the event, to be held in Fahnstoeck Hall. There will be vaudeville entertainment followed by an exercise in the gymnasium under the direction of "Doc" Miller. Refreshments will be served in the assembly room.

IF I were to tell you why I dislike traveling, you'd laugh at me, I know," remarked an elderly matron several days ago. "But, foolish as it may seem," she continued, "I have a reason that, to me, is a most excellent one. You see, I'm a lover of coffee; in fact, I don't enjoy a meal unless I have at least one cup of it. And that's exactly why I hate to go away. Oh, it's not that I can't get coffee when traveling or visiting friends," she hastened to add, "but, you see, I'm spoiled. The only kinds I really care for are the Grand Union Tea Company coffees, and when people serve me other brands—well, I just wish I were home, where I could have the delicious, superior variety I so much prefer."

AND now I'm talking to the girls who attend that well-known Institution at Capital and Forster streets—dear old Central High. Don't you find that one of the most perplexing problems confronting you is one which has nothing to do with your studies? Rather, it relates to your feet! In other words, isn't it difficult to get shoes that are exactly suitable for school? You want something stylish and dressy, yet sensible and reasonable in price. And the combination is a rare one, indeed. But I have found just the very thing at the Paul Shoe Shop, 11 North Fourth street. It is a dark brown La France shoe, with either milled or Cuban heel, and comes in sizes from 1 to 8 and in widths from Double A to D. For style, comfort and wear it has no equal and it sells for $10 with a military heel, and $11 with a Cuban. In these days of high prices, that is reasonable, you must admit.

TAKE several yards of black silk velvet, a bit of Australian opossum and a lining of soft pearl gray. Mix them together and sew a fine seam. Then, if you are an artist, you may find the resulting garment competing with the suit I saw yesterday at the Closs Shop. It was the inspiration of a noted designer and was evolved of the materials mentioned above. The opossum collar winked wickedly at the clever tabs on the skirt of the coat with a "Now-aren't-we-just-the-best-looking-things-you-ever-saw?" in its air. And the narrow, crushed belt seemed to say, "Just look at me. I'm a little bit different from most belts you see, and I'm certainly proud of the fact."

GOMO'S
Our Business is to sell Good Shoes—and to sell them at less than the prevailing in-town prices.
We have shoes at $6—$7—$8 that bring $10 to $12 in most stores. The quality is identical and we like to think our service is better.
Our SHOES will please your FEET.
