New Haven News Writers Strike When

Refused Wage Increase

By Associated Press.

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 15. —
Three afternoon newspapers here, to-day issued their editions under unusual conditions, a strike of news writers having gone into effect on these publications following a strike on the Morning Journal-Courier at last midnight.

Managing editors and editorial writers who were not members of the newly-formed News Writers Equity Association took up duties of city editors and copy readers, while the places of street men were filled by substitutes. The strike follows refusal of publishers to increase wages of street and desk men.

The Equity Association claims that practically all staff and street men on the four dailies here are members and had endorsed the proposal to strike in event of the failure of the publishers to fix a definite scale of compensation. The evening papers are the New Haven Register, the New Haven Union.

Proofreaders on the papers did not strike, as they are not regarded as part of a news writing staff.

Local Engineers Figure in Good Train Records

During the month of August three Harrisburg passenger engineers were prominent in making good train records. One made 100 per cent. He was Samuel H. Alexander, 1534 North Fifth street. He is an extra man and made twenty-three trips. On eleven he reached the terminal on time, and twelve times he made up lost time.

Jesse S. Reynolds, 622 Muench street, and J. S. Kauffman, of Altona, lost time on but one trip and on the whole the percentages were high and they received special mention from the Middle division officials. Samuel S. Kirk, 2050 Fulton street, made the most trips of any engineer on the division, a total of fifty-eight. He lost time on but six trips.
