WILSON FORBIDS ANY CHANGES IN PEACE PACT

Democrats Know They Cannot Win, and Feel Resentful

Washington, Sept. 16. — President Wilson, encouraged by his own speeches into believing that it is still possible to force through the Peace Treaty without change, has again demanded of his supporters in the Senate that they oppose all reservations as well as amendments, and make their fight for the ratification of the measure, exactly as it came from the Peace Conference.

Knowing that such a fight is futile, and that there are more than enough votes, several of them Democratic, to adopt reservations sufficiently strong to protect the independence and rights of the American people, the Democratic leaders, with the exception of Senator Hitchcock, have been urging a compromise with the Republicans upon the best terms they could obtain. Just before the President left Washington on his campaigning trip, he had given his consent to this program. Thereupon Senator Simmons made the announcement in the Senate that it had become obvious the Treaty could not be ratified without changes and that reservations would be made.

The President shifted his position at the moment when the sentiment against the Treaty both in the Senate and throughout the country is manifestly stronger than it ever has been before, and when the Democratic Senators are freely admitting that it may be difficult to obtain ratification, even with reservations.

It was, therefore, a resentful Democratic minority that rallied to the defense of the Treaty when the document was formally taken up for consideration by the Senate yesterday afternoon.

Debate Not Impressive

Nothing could have been milder or less impressive than the opening of the discussion. Nothwithstanding that it is the first time a Treaty has ever been considered by the Senate in public sessions, there was no demonstration of unusual interest, either on the floor or in the galleries.

Senator Lodge moved to take the Treaty up and make it the unfinished business, to which the Senate silently, but unanimously, consented.

The general discussion is likely to run along for several days before there is any test of strength. The first vote will come upon the Johnson amendment to give the United States voting strength in the League of Nations equal that of any other nation. It is conceded that any Senator who votes against this proposal will have some explaining to do, and the Democrats are in a hurry to meet the issue. Were they not trying to show their loyalty to the President, there is little question that the amendment would be unanimously adopted.

Senator Lodge again expressed hope that the Senate would act finally upon the Treaty within the next four weeks.

He has, however, wired to Senator Johnson, of California, to continue his speaking engagements. This means that Johnson will not return to Washington for another three weeks, and during that time he will visit all the cities on the Pacific coast which the President has visited.

Wilson Loses Support

The telegrams Senators are receiving from the states in which Senators Johnson and Borah have answered the President declare that the feeling is intense against any surrender of American rights. Senator Kenyon has been receiving information from Iowa which indicates a very marked reversal of sentiment in that state.

A few weeks ago Iowa was declared to be in favor of the Treaty as the President wants it. Now it is decidedly opposed to the President's program.

In the Senate yesterday afternoon, Senator Hitchock charged that Senator Lodge was attempting to delay consideration of the Treaty by asking unanimous consent to have the Austrian Treaty read to the Senate.

Senator Lodge obtained a copy of the Austrian Treaty from the Chicago Tribune, the same source from which the Senate obtained its first copy of the Treaty with Germany.

New Clauses in Austrian Treaty

The copy of the Austrian Treaty, as presented to the Senate, contained some clauses not contained in the Treaty as hitherto published in this country.

The military clause provides that within three months Austria must demobilize her forces of 30,000.

The penal section provides for bringing before military tribunals persons accused of having committed acts "in violation of the acts and customs of war."

Reparation provisions require Austria to accept responsibility, with her allies, "for causing the loss and damage to which the allied and associated governments and their nationals had been subjected by Austria and her Allies."

Like the German Treaty, the amount of compensation is to be fixed by an inter-allied reparations commission.

The financial clauses are similar to the German Treaty.

American Legion to Welcome Every Man Who Wore Uniform

Adjutant General Frank D. Beary will be one of the speakers at the big rally and mass meeting of Post No. 27, American Legion, which is to be held at the Courthouse on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

Several other prominent Harrisburgers will be on the list of speakers but their names will not be announced until to-morrow. Several thousand service men went to the ranks fom this city and at least a thousand of them are expected to be present at the meeting.

Differing from other war organizations, the American Legion is for soldiers both on this side and overseas. The activities of the organization will be carried on by wearers of both white and gold strikes and soldiers, sailors and marines who went from Harrisburg are not to think that because they were unlucky enough to have to stay on this side, that they will have no part in the formation and doings of the post.

Three Arrests Made in Disorders in Protest Against Zone Carfares

By Associated Press.

Camden, N. J., Sept. 16.—Three men were arrested to-day at the New York Shipyard for disorder in the protest against the zone trolley fares. Two are charged with not paying fares and he third with interfering with a mounted policeman.

Yesterday's scenes at the Camden and Gloucester Shipyards were repeated, with the exception that less damage was done to the cars. Windows were not broken, but screens were ripped off by the men who got out without paying as they left. Ten thousand men were in the criwd at the New York shipyard and two thousand at the Pusey and Jones yard at Gloucester.

A dozen cars were attacked and several motormen and spectors were struck. Employes say that more than seventy-five men have quit the cars because of the trouble and the extra wrk brought about by the new system. There were not enough crews to take out all the shipyard cars, it was said, although officials of the trolley company declare the men are sticking to the cars.
