

PEACE TREATY IS GIVEN TO BULGARS

he said that the people must share the responsibility. "Won't Accept Servitude. "They are willing to do so," he said, "but feel that in no way have they committed such a crime as to compel them to accept servitude."

King Ferdinand and Vasil Radoslavoff, Bulgarian foreign minister in 1914, were blamed for Bulgaria's entry into the war by M. Theodoroff. He said the Bulgarian people did not approve of the German alliance, which, he declared, "came to them as a cataclysm," but they realized they must accept part of the responsibility.

"We have committed faults," he said, "and we should bear their consequences within the bounds of equity, but there is a punishment no crime can justify, and that is servitude."

Polk Represents U. S. Each of the 27 governments participating in the conference, including Rumania, was present. Frank L. Polk, head of the United States delegation, sat on M. Clemenceau's right and Sir Eyre Crowe, the new British plenipotentiary to the Peace Conference, sat on the President's left.

The Bulgarian delegates, M. Theodoroff, M. Ganef, M. Sakessoff, M. Stambulsky and H. Sarsoff entered after the other delegates, who rose when the enemy representatives appeared. The Bulgarians showed courteous confidence.

Twenty-five days are allowed in Bulgaria to present observations on the Treaty terms. The ceremony ended at 11 o'clock.

Many delays have marked consideration of the Bulgarian treaty which was presented to the representatives of that government today. Work on the pact was begun on May 26, but the negotiations with Germany and Austria prevented the Peace Conference from completing the convention until late this week.

powers, which will later announce their decision as to the future status of the country. A plan by which the Port of Deceagatch, on the Aegean sea, would be given to Bulgaria, with a corridor leading to it similar to that provided for in the German treaty by which Poland was given access to Danzig on the Baltic, has been considered but it has never been formally adopted. Bulgaria, under the treaty terms, however, is assured an economic outlet to the Aegean.

Dizziness Causes Fall—Head Injured

"A year ago my stomach bloated so badly with gas that I fell unconscious and cut my head badly on corner of door. I had suffered from stomach trouble for several years and no medicine helped me to speak of. A druggist patched up my head and advised me to use May's Wonderful Remedy for my stomach trouble. The results have been really wonderful. I have never had any sign of my former symptoms since." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.
