Most all of us are able to make a more or less pleasing sound which we call singing. With a little experience any of us can draw a sweet note from a violin string. Every high school has a few talented sketchers. Yet how rare in the arts is that note of genius which spells greatness.

Designing millinery is an art. And most all of us can trim a hat-after a fashion. Yet how few truly talented designers of millinery exist. They're as rare, almost, as great singers, violinists or painters.

There is one, however, in Harrisburg. It is Miss Golden. Have you noted her
