DEFINITE STAND ON THE PEACE TREATY BY SENATE IS PRESIDENT'S REQUEST

IS PRESIDENT'S REQUEST

By Associated Press.

Pueble, Col., Sept. 26.—Reducing his fight for the Peace Treaty to a direct issue of acceptance or rejection, President Wilson has invited the Senate to take a definite and unmistakable stand one way or the other.

After declaring it would be his duty as chief executive to judge whether the Senate's action constituted acceptance or rejection, should reservations be incorporated in the ratification, the President addard warning that he did not him. Any man who carries a hyphen warning that he did not him. Any man who carries a hyphen warning that he did not him. Any man who carries a hyphen should him. Any man who carries a hyphen in the said, however, that he saw no objection to mere interpretations.

In two addresses in Colorado yesterday, Mr. Wilson reiterated again and again that the whole controversy had resolved itself into a clear cut question whether the United States should go into the League of Nations or stay out. It was time, he said, that the nation knew where it was to stand.

NACO Will Give You Pride in Your Table Linen

T will keep them just as snowy-white as they were when new. NACO poured into your wash dissolves stains and spots and is as harmless as pure soap itself. It is for use on household linen and all white linen and cotton apparel.

Whitens Clothes

Sheer white waists or muslin garments best show the harmlessness of NACO because they prove that it will not injure even the daintiest or the sheerest materials. It makes them wear longer because it does away with all the wear of hard rubbing.

NACO is used with soap. It softens the water and deodorizes and disinfects the clothes.

You'll be agreeably surprised at the success of your next washday if you use NACO.

Sold by all leading grocers.

GRIFFITH SPECTACLE COMING

HARRISBURG TELEGRAPS

After all, things are not so different to-day than they were three thousand years ago. D. W. Griffith shows this in his tremendous spectacle, "The Fall of Babylon," to be seen here for a special engagement at the Colonial Theater, beginning next Monday, with the season's dancing sensation, "Kyra," appearing in person.

Just as Mr. Griffith dealt with the simple theme of the love of a boy and a girl in his gigantic production, "Hearts of the World," so in "The Fall of Babylon," he plades the romantic career of a plain Ittle mountain girl against the colossal background of splendor and luxury in the days of Belshazar, and shows the intrigue, greed and treachery of that ancient day while revealing the adventures of the mountain waif.

"The Fall of Babylon" is enacted by a company of twenty-one principal players, and more than 125,000 supernumeraries. Its historic value also figures tremendously, as Mr. Griffith has reproduced the Babylonian scenes with the greatest accuracy and fidelity.

is the appearance of that droll comedian, William Hodge, especially is this the case when he appears in a new play. One of these worth-while occasions will occur locally at the Orpheum Theater for one night only, Wednesday, October I, when Mr. Lee Shubert will present William Hodge in his brand new play, "The Guest of Honor," a comedy romance of New York life, in three acts. So consistently successful have been the several plays in which Mr. Hodge has appeared since his tremendous achievement in "The Man From Home," that his legion of devoted admirers apparently never question in advance the success of a new play. "The Guest of Honor" is a typical American play for a typical American actor, who, as usual, has surrounded himself with a group of admirable players.

William Farnum is announced to appear in another of his motion pictures. "Wolves of Atthe Victoria Night" will be shown at the Victoria Theater, commencing Monday, In the role of a mining engineer whose life is imperiled by plotters, Mr. Farnum, it is said, gives some wonderfully dramatic demonstrations of his histriconic power and physical strength. The locale of the play is in the American Northwest, in Chile and in the financial district of New York City. The play is a William Fox production.

"Maytime" wide appeal would seem to be in its unique story and its treatment. It is romance rich in love interest that grips one from the start. There are four episodes, the first occurring in the year 1940, after which the story moves forward fifteen years. Then it moves to the eightles, and finally to 1918,

"RADISHES" WERE WEEDS

"You'd better be sure they are radish seeds before you plant them." Bessie Barriscale cautioned Husband-Director Howard Hickman.

"Tyou'd better be sure they are radish seeds before you plant them." Bessie Barriscale cautioned Husband-Director Howard Hickman.

"You can't fool me on seeds, Bessie. "The you can't fool me on seeds, Bessie. I now story and let me attend to this geden. I never did see a woman that knew story and let me attend to this geden. I never did see a woman that knew anything about garden seeds, anyway. Why, one time—"

"That will do" replied Bessie. "The not say another word; but if those seeds turn out to be poison oak, it won't be my fault."

"If you say another word reflecting upon my seedology education. I'll not give you a single radish when the vines are full of nice ripe red ones."

"A few days later Howard' fell ill and did not see his garden for a month. One day Bessie came in and said:

"Have you seen your garden, Howard? Those radishes must be up and almost big enough to eat by this time."

"Come on; we'll go see," replied Howard.

Arrived at the garden, Howard chortled with glee: "What'd I tell you, Bess? I call that some radish bed. I told you I knew all about seeds. If I'd listened to you—"

During the monologue Bessie had been pulling up a radish. She showed it to Howard. It looked like a wooden toothpick.

"What is it?" asked Howard.

"You ought to know. You're a farmer's boy."

P.S. The 'radishes were "Jimpson" weeds.
