CECIL FANNING COMING IN RECITAL

Cecil Fanning, an American baritone, known all over the country and highly praised by critics, will make his initial Harrisburg appearance in the Chestnut Street Auditorium on Tuesday evening, October 7.

"FRIENDLY ENEMIES" The presentation of "Friendly Enemies," the famous comedy success at the Orpheum next Friday and Saturday, for an engagement of two days, under the direction of A. H. Woods, will be the most notable dramatic event of the season. In fact, not in many years has a play come to this city with so tremendous a reputation or with so sensational a record of success, as "Friendly Enemies."

WILLIAM HODGE, IN HIS NEW PLAY, "THE GUEST OF HONOR," AT ORPHEUM WEDNESDAY

Few stars, and probably none in the comedian class, are as popular and so welcome as William Hodge. This play has won the approval of the entire English-speaking world. Not only was it a sensation in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and practically throughout the length and breadth of the United States, but an equally great hit in the British Isles. This splendid dramatic masterpiece of comedy, pathos, of tears and love, of suspense and fun, will be presented at the Orpheum with a notable company.

interesting news to hear that William Hodge will appear in his brand-new play, "The Guest of Honor," at the Orpheum Theater for one night only, Wednesday, October 1. This new play is a comedy romance of New York life, presented in three acts, and in it Mr. Hodge believes he has the happiest vehicle of his stellar career.

"The Fall of Babylon," New Griffith Spectacle

It was to have been expected that David Wark Griffith, who gave to the motion picture world such notable works as "The Birth of a Nation," and "Hearts of the World," would soon focus his camera on another gigantic assemblage of scenes and produce another colossal super-picture for the enjoyment of those who seek the unusual in entertainment. Hence the announcement that in "The Fall of Babylon" he has actually surpassed his former achievements will be welcome news to the admirers of this indomitable producer of big, throbbing, startling plays.

Local interest is keen in "The Fall of Babylon," since it has been secured for a special engagement here, and will be shown at the Colonial Theater during the week of September 23rd, with "Kismet," a sensational classic dancer, appearing in person. Turning from the smoke and roar of battle in "Hearts of the World," Mr. Griffith has taken the historical Babylonian period as the background for the spectacular romance, "The Fall of Babylon," and has peopled his play with all the picturesque characters of that colorful era, with its dancing girls, its bacchanalian feasts of splendor, its high priests, the massive grandeur of its mighty walls, its chariot races, its bazaar life and its intrigue, greed and treachery.

Some idea of the magnitude of "The Fall of Babylon" may be gained from the announcement that more than 125,000 men and women appear in the tremendous scenes attending the Feast of Belshazzar, while almost countless thousands take part in the assault upon the walls during the great siege of Babylon.

A special accompaniment has been provided by Mr. Griffith for the further enjoyment of the production.

Wednesday and Thursday - Dorothy Gish in "Nugget Nell." Friday and Saturday - Charles Ray in "Hay Foot, Straw Foot."

Today is the last opportunity Harrisburgers have of seeing the extraordinary bill at the Regent. The Majestic Theater, "The Little Cottage," a spicy musical comedy, presented by George Choo is scoring a tremendous hit. The cast is composed of fifteen people, mostly pretty girls in handsome costumes. This act has won more applause in its tour of the vaudeville circuit than any of the comedy productions on the legitimate stage. Three other Keith acts are also being shown.

Next Monday a super show will start its three-day run at this theater, headed by Tom Brown's Musical Revue, a song and instrumental act. The first episode of "The Fatal Fortune," featuring Helen Holmes, the most daring woman in motion pictures to-day, will also be shown.

The program at the Victoria Theater commencing Monday will feature William Farnum in a new William Fox photoplay, "Wolves of the Night," in which the "Samson of the screen" will be seen in what advance report says is one of the best portrayals of his career. The story, as outlined in advance notices received here, certainly contains all the elements of great dramatic action.

See how a red-blooded American squared his accounts when he learned his wife had married to an enemy of his. Also a ROLLI CKING COMEDY.

after the past two days, will be shown at the local playhouse for the last time to-day. The story of this beautiful photoplay carries a message of love, pathos and human emotion that makes the production one of absorbing human interest. Little six-year-old Ben Alexander stands out amid the galaxy of stars. He creeps into the heart of the audience with the same ease that he crawled into the arms of the crusty old money king, who was all fussed up like a rib roast expecting to be shot any moment by desperate strikers.
