FALLS TO DEATH UNDER "DINKEY"

Eleven-Year-Old Boy Meets Fatal Accident at Stone Quarry

York, Pa., Sept. 29.—James Fisher, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Fisher, 1730 Monroe street, West York, received injuries while riding on a "dinkey" engine used to haul stone to a crusher at Cunningham's quarry, along the Western Maryland Railway, near here, which proved fatal about two hours later at the York Hospital.

The boy, with several companions, went to the quarry for a short time before the accident. He was standing on the engine, which was towing a load of stones to the crusher, and was ordered off by one of the workmen. The younger boy obeyed and started playing nearby. However, the other children, disregarding the warning, continued, when a rod to which Fisher was holding became loose from its fastenings, throwing him to the tracks in front of the engine. The boy was unable to jump away before the engine hit him, passing over his legs above the knees, nearly severing them, and crushing his right foot.

After the boy was extricated from beneath the wheels, Dr. W. H. Horning, West Market street, was summoned. After rendering necessary first-aid, Dr. Horning took the child to the hospital in the city ambulance, where he expired. Coroner Pius Jones was notified, but decided that an inquest was unnecessary, as the case was accidental.

Some years ago, PYRODENTO CREME TOOTH PASTE was offered to the public at the earnest request of dentists who, from actual experience, had found that it would help their patients to better teeth and better health.

Since then PYRODENTO has received the unqualified endorsement of dentists in all parts of the country because of its efficient performance.

It is not merely a "tooth paste" that cleans and polishes the teeth, but it has every feature that an ideal antiseptic must have.

It destroys 99.15% of mouth bacteria in 15 minutes, conclusively showing its high germicidal value.

The consistency of PYRODENTO is such that the active principle is held on the tissues of the mouth many times longer than is really necessary to completely destroy the dangerous and destructive bacteria.

This consistency has been obtained by the elimination of a soap base and the introduction of a pure Olive Oil base, which is not only insoluble in the mouth juices, but is a tissue food as well.

Neither water nor saliva will wash PYRODENTO away from the gums quickly. It clings to the blood cells for hours, a protection against the ravages of Pyorrhea and contagious diseases resulting from decayed teeth.

Here is an interesting thing to know about PYRODENTO CREME TOOTH PASTE---

Another exclusive feature of the formula is the introduction of the use of pure albumen, which, as you know, is also present in the normal blood. PYRODENTO not only destroys the dangerous mouth germs, but supplies immediately an excess of albumen that aids nature in healing. It is recognized at the same time that this ingredient, albumen, acts as a protection to the healthy tissues and cells, thereby rendering PYRODENTO a beneficial preparation for even a child to use.

WE WANT YOU TO KNOW PYRODENTO—to know it intimately—because we feel its use by your patients will prove to be an active support to the work you have accomplished.

We sincerely thank you in advance for your co-operation.

A Frank Discussion with the Dentists of Harrisburg and Vicinity

ONLY RECENTLY HAS THE PUBLIC AT LARGE recognized the great part that DENTISTRY plays as a preventative of disease. They are just beginning to realize that the mouth is the greatest channel through which infections find access to the system and, as a result, are seeking the services of competent dentists at regular intervals for examination and needed dental service.

IT IS QUITE EVIDENT THAT PEOPLE APPRECIATE that the condition of the teeth and gums has a direct relation to their general health. People whose gums are spongy and infected, whose teeth are decayed and unsightly are constantly in jeopardy of becoming victims of infectious diseases.

IT HAS, HOWEVER, BEEN CONCEDED BY DENTISTS that the most expeditious way by which to avoid tooth troubles lies, not so much in trying to cure the diseases, as in preventing the teeth from becoming diseased.

To this end a safe, pure and effective dentifrice should be used—and used regularly—to supplement and aid the dentist in his work.
