

STATE'S LEGION DELEGATES COME HERE TOMORROW

Convention to Open Unofficially With Arrival of Many Representatives

The State convention of the American Legion will open unofficially tomorrow with the arrival of the delegates from all parts of Pennsylv-vania. More than one thousand ex-service men are expected for the convention which will be in session on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The opening session will be held on Thursday morning at 9 o'clock in the Chestnut Street Auditorium. Demonstrating the representative character of the organization, the first step at the opening meeting will be to elect a chairman and secretary for the convention sessions. Thus unofficially designated executives who have made possible the development of the Legion to this point will stop aside and let the will of the majority prevail. The officers for the ensuing year are to be nominated on Friday and elected on Saturday.

Mayor Keister will officially welcome the delegates to Harrisburg. Governor Sproul, who has taken a great interest in the movement, will make an address at the afternoon session on Friday. The greatest care has been exercised by the posts of the State, which number 350 in selecting delegates for this convention. Representing over 340,000 service men of Pennsylvania, these delegates will introduce resolutions from their home posts on questions such as the enemy alien slacker, the matter of the treatment of soldiers, sailors and marines, war risk insurance, vocational training and bonuses for those who served in the war.

INCOME BETTER THAN MORTGAGE

Compensation Board Makes Unusual Decision in Caring For a Widow

The State Compensation Board in an opinion by Chairman Harry A. Mackey, has refused to make a commutation of the award of compensation in Crum vs. Standard Brewing Co., New Castle, on the ground that the beneficiary, a widow and a cripple, would not be better off with a lump sum than otherwise. An award of compensation was made which is commuted would approximate $1,900. The widow wishes to buy a property worth $3,500, believing that if she could do so she could take roomers and improve her condition. "With all her compensation thus invested, she would own a property heavily encumbered with her only source of income, namely her weekly compensation, exhausted," says the decision. "Her hopeful expectations as to a successful business might result in a disappointment and then she would be in a very helpless condition, owning a mortgaged property with no income. We fail to see any reason why we should exercise the discretion vested in us by the law to grant this petition. We feel that we would be risking the widow's money in a hazardous undertaking and at best her condition would be worse rather than better." In Clydesdale vs. Hayworth & Dowhurst, Pittsburgh, it is held that the accident suffered by the claimant is not the cause of present disability, but that the "alleged inability to work is largely due to his own attitude." It is suggested that some light work to keep the man from brooding should be undertaken. It is suggested in Di Blase vs. Baldwin Locomotive Works that every effort be made to see that compensation reaches the dependents in Italy and that under the circumstances a power of attorney might be ignored and money sent through the consular service. Hearing Set—The Public Service Commission has fixed November 17 as the time for hearing argument on the complaints against fares and service of the Pittsburgh Railway Company. The argument will be held in this city. This action was taken after hearing the report of Chairman W. D. B. Ainey on the completion of the testimony at Pittsburgh.

Governor Sproul was the chief speaker when Pittsburgh dedicated the United States Bureau of Mines group of buildings in the East End district. Governor Sproul touched on the question of housing. He said he would make certain recommendations to the next Legislature which may be considered radical but which he believed would be most effective in giving workers more sanitary places to live in. "The State can compel action in this direction," he said, "but we would rather have your co-operation."

State Highway Commissioner Sadler has served official notice on Glenn W. Sigbee, residing in Chapman township, Clinton county, to vacate his home and remove the building within fifteen days, on penalty of being ejected by the State officials and having the house razed. Sigbee's home is directly in the pathway of Route No. 105, in Chapman township as surveyed by the State Highway Department's engineers. This is the road which is a part of the proposed new highway between Renovo and Lock Haven.

In a recent message to the Presbyterian New Era Movement at Presbyterian headquarters, New York City, Superintendent of Public Instruction Finegan said: "The churches of the rural communities will best serve their interests by exerting all the influence which they possess to improve roads and schools throughout the country. Good roads will help build good schools and good roads and good schools will help in the reconstruction and improvement of rural life in all parts of the country."

Thirty-nine of the counties have filed judicial returns at the Capitol, the latest being Cambria, Fayette, Armstrong, McKean, Butler and Chester.

It is probable that steps for purchase of additional lands for State forests in western Pennsylvania counties will be taken by the State Forest Commission when it meets here Friday. Surveys of lands offered have been made.

Dr. Thomas E. Finegan, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, has been at Albany arranging for removal of his household goods to this city. He will occupy the Jennings residence in North Front street.

No session of the Public Service Commission was held to-day, but arrangements were made for hearings to-morrow on grade crossings in Northampton and Dauphin counties and on the application for a charter for an Easton airplane express company, the first of the kind ever made here.

Adjutant General Frank D. Beary is arranging for a conference with Major General W. G. Price, Jr., within a few days in regard to the new unit locations of the National Guard. Reports on armory facilities are being made.

From what comes here from Philadelphia it appears that the Vore claims of error in election counts in a number of districts have fallen down and that there will be no chance of contesting the Moore nomination. Congressman J. Hampton Moore's expense account shows that he spent less than $50 in his campaign.

Charles B. Hall, well known to many at the Capitol, will succeed Charles Seger as candidate for council in the seventh ward district of Philadelphia.

The Public Service Commission today received an application for a certificate of convenience to operate in Philadelphia from the Quaker City Company, a taxicab concern, and fixed October 24 for the hearing. No other action was taken in regard to the taxicab matters. The Bell Telephone hearing will be resumed on October 15.

Claims for reparation to the amount of thousands of dollars were filed with the Public Service Commission to-day against the Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railroad, it being alleged that it discriminated against certain coal companies and in favor of others which were affiliated in the matter of coal cars. The claims are Meadowlands Coal Co., Pittsburgh, $12,200; W. W. Werry Coal and Coke Co., Pittsburgh, $770; Avela Coal Co., Greensburg, $2,885; Pryor Coal Co., Greensburg, $1,330, and Duquesne Coal and Coke Co., Pittsburgh, $1,480. The claims are the first of the kind to come before the Commission.

The Bedford County Telephone Co. to-day filed a notice of a $3.50 connection charge and increase of rates amounting to $3.

Action of the inspectors of the Western Penitentiary in fixing compensation of employees and in awarding contracts must be approved by the Governor under an opinion rendered to-day by the Attorney General's Department. The act of 1913 which was designed to relieve the Governor of certain routine duties does not operate to change the procedure in such matters as those connected with the penitentiary. This is the first opinion to be given in construing the law relative to the powers of the Governor in routine matters from departments.

The Civitan Improvement Association, of Philadelphia, has filed a protest with the Public Service Commission against the proposition of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company to stop making payments to the City of Philadelphia under the 1907 contract. The protest is made by Joseph F. Lewis, president, and George R. Miller, secretary, and contends that the stopping of payments would throw additional burdens upon the taxpayers.

SPARROWS POINT RUNNING
By Associated Press.
Baltimore, Sept. 30.—The Sparrows Point plant of the Bethlehem Steel Company was reported by the management to be in full operation to-day as usual. A few workers in the tin plate mill were reported "absent" but without hampering the operation of the mill, it was added.

It Took the Genius of Dickens to Describe a Chop

This was necessary because the people could not see the said chop. It must be very aggravating to have one's mouth all ready and then realize that they cannot taste, touch nor handle.

How would you like to visit a place where you could do all these things, and more, to a plate of steaming hot roast beef, garnished with potatoes light as mountain dew, covered over with brown gravy—regular brown gravy—then follow up with a piece of apple pie and the best of coffee, at a price so low it would look like a typographical error to put it in print? Dickens never saw The Cafeteria, a place to eat, or he would be describing yet. You have that chance.

SUPPOSE you had a lump sum of money—say five hundred dollars—that you want to set aside for the benefit of your young child.

If you will deposit it now in a savings account at the Dauphin Deposit Trust Company it will double itself and there will be $1,000 for him when he is old enough to enter college or to take a business position.

The 3% interest, compounded semi-annually, will do this alone, but if you continue making deposits this fund, or any other such fund you establish, will grow all the more rapidly.

Set compound interest at work for you.
