WORLD'S SERIES BATTLES START TOMORROW---FIGHT AT STEELTON TOMORROW NIGHT

HOW OUTFIELD STARS WILL SIZE UP IN BIG SERIES; ALL ARE HARD HITTERS

and individually the outfield of the Chicago White Sox and the Cincinand individually the outfield of the Chicago White Sox and the Cincinnati Reds, which will put their prowess in the world's series, rank among the best in the major leagues and their work undoubtedly will be watched with keen interest during the championship contests. Considered, broadly, the men who will form the last lines of defense for the contending teams measure up to all the requirements sought in outer gardeners.

Defensively they are sure and quick judges of fly balls, steady on grounders past the infield, possess powerful arms and can make quick decisions when there is choice of one or more plays. Offensively some of the greatest hitters in either league, in addition to fast base-runners are included. But, if the records made by the various men this season may be taken as an accurate criterion of their ability, the White Sox gardeners have the edge on their opponents.

All Look Good

of their ability, the White Sox gardeners have the edge on their opponents.

All Look Good

The mention of such men as Felsch, Jackson and Liebold, voterans of the 1917 World's series against the New York Giants, coupled with those of Roush, the leading slugger of the Red aggregation, Neale, Magee and Duncan, a new comer, is sufficient to start controversy among the fans regardless of what the figures say. Already there is talk that Roush will outhit the mighty Jackson, and that Felsch and Liebold, will not compare with Neale, Magee and Duncan.

Duncan is a fair batter but a fast fielder. His hitting will not compare with that of Jackson, who is topping the White Sox, with an average which has been hovering around .350 the latter part of the season. Duncan has been hitting about .255, while his fielding average has been around .962. That of Jackson has been around .971.

May Change Lineup

There is some doubt just how the outfielders will line up for the opening game. Manager Gleason will have Jackson in left field, and Felsch in center. The right field will be assigned to either John Collins or Liebold, the choice for this position resting upon whether Manager Moran sends a right hander or a southpaw to the mound in the opening game.

The Reds will have Duncan, their new man in the left field garden.

The Reds will have Duncan, their new man in the let field garden, with Roush opposing Felsch in center field. Neale will be assigned to the right field position. However, held position. However, for an at the last moment to shift these players and Sherrood Magee, a sutgarden in the

The Ritter board is so complete that it shows every move of the ball and players in the game and one can almost imagine they are on the ball field at either Cincinnati or Chicago and watching the actual play. The ball is always in sight, switching over the plate and across the infield and into the outfield and the players run bases, slide and steal as in the real game. The reproduction is so realistic that the great crowds that throng the Chestnut street hall have rooted wildly as each spectacular play is reproduced. The doors will open at 2 o'clock. Moran's rookie. Duncan never has been under fire in a series of this kind but his work since joining the Red aggregation has been of such class that he has displaced the veteran Magee, and he may give Jacksson a good run. Jackson's batting has been one of the big assets of the Gleason tribe. He has a wonderfully strong arm which has cut many a run off at the plate. He can cover more ground than his younger rival, and is fielding around .971 to Duncar's .962, the averages being those of the first-part of September.

Stars in Centerfield

Roush will be pitted against Felsch in the center garden. Both these players have thousands of admirers for each is one of the stars of his league and a real battle is expected. Roush, who one time tried to make the White Sox team but was found wanting, has climbed the ladder of fame and to-day is one of the best hitters in the National league, having an average of more than .300 almost the entire season. He is a good fielder, with a mark around .987, has a good arm and covers a lot of ground. This will be his first world's series.

Felsch, on the other hand, suffered a slump in his batting this year, but has been a dangerous man in the pinch and has boosted his batting mark to about .259 while his fielding average for the greater part of the year is .974. He is rated by many experts as the greatest out; fielder in the American league. Felsch is a player who can go to any corner of the field and; get them, has a lot of speed and a powerful arm. Toward the class of the season Felsch showed signs of recovering his batting eye. Roush's mark during the first part of September was .319. In comparison, these two players will about break even, as where one outshines the other in hitting, the other will outfield his rival.

Right Field Position

The right field position seems to favor the Chicago aggregation. Liebold, Chicago's "lead off" is one of the hardest men in the league to pitch to, and is a patient waiter at the plate. He will invariably make work for a pitcher to count two and cerning the weather. It may be raining here, but the Sox and Reds may be fighting for supremacy in sunshine in either of the two big cities. Fans are sure of a seat, a great ball game and an admission that takes care of the war tax that is due the government for such a business venture.

WASHINGTON HANDS FANS POOR QUALITY OF BASEBALL; KLEIN TEAM IS THE WINNER

by Rice added two runs for Washington in the eleventh. Klein again tied up on Cranton's single, walk for Kay, sacrifice by Kauffman and double by Thompson. In the twelfth, Hunter singled, went to second on Johnson's error and bad throw, reached third on a sacrifice by Wrightstone and scored on Rice's wild pitch which looked like another gift from Washington. The score follows:

KLEIN Washington handed Klein Chocolate Company team and local fans a frost yesterday, playing indifferent baseball, and doing other things that did not meet with approval of the spectators. Johnson pitched but three innings and then went into the field where he did not show any form. Ellerbe at short permitted two balls to pass him, and Rice in the final inning threw a ball that looked as if he wanted the game to end. Klein played well, and won in the twelfth with a score of 4 to 3, one man being down when the winning run was scored.

Washington came here with but nine men and did not have a bat with them, using the Klein bats. looked as if he wanted the game to end. Klein played well, and won nine men and did not have a bat with them, using the Klein bats. There were times when the Senators looked like real players, but the lack of "pep" took much interest away from the game. There was a record crowd in attendance, the estimate being 10,000. Of this number about 5,000 were soldiers and their friends. It was "Soldiers' Day," and there were many interesting side features.

friends. It was "Soldiers' Day," and there were many interesting side features.

Ground Rules

Due to the big crowd ground rules were necessary. It was impossible to hit better than two bases no matter how far the ball went. Klein players went after the ball no matter where it was hit, but Washington players overlocked several easy chances. Good plays were not overlocked by the big crowd.

The Eighth Regiment Band was on hand, so were the boys with the flags of allied nations, nurses and women "Y" workers. They marched to the field. Through the Y. M. C. A., the soldiers and their friends were well fed during the game. Ice cream, pretzels, cleares, clearets, candy, chocolate bars, and apples were distributed by the "Y" girls. There were times when soldiers held in their hands at one time, apples, ice cream bricks, cleares and chocolate bars, but they got away with it. There was plenty on hand.

The Boy Scouts were a big help in taking care of yesterday's record crowd. They lined the field and kept the spectators back, and also were kept busy carrying water in their canteens to thirsty spectators. The Scouts were on the fob all the time and were accorded much praise.

How the Runs Came

Klein started the scoring in the third inning. With two down, Hunter lifted one out to right field which would under ordinary conditions have been more or less of an easy out, but went for two bases. Weightstone sent a rolling grounder to Ellerbe which the Washington ishortstop made little effort to get, the ball going through his legs. Hunter scored.

Washington tied the score in the sixth. Judge sent a fly to right field,

Huntsdale and Bowmans, was a member of the Luthurch at Centerville, at
