Married 52 Years, Now Ask Divorce

Hollidaysburg, Pa., Oct. 2.—"One wife is enough for me," said John J. Clooin, while telling his matrimonial troubles to Judge Baldrige in court at Hollidaysburg. Clooin, a Cross Keys lumberman, was brought before the court on a charge preferred by his wife, who claims he has not been supporting her properly.

The case is a remarkable one in that the pair have resided together more or less happily for 52 years. Both are now allotted three score years and ten.

When the court expressed the opinion that it was rather late in life for such a matrimonial alteration, the defendant earnestly contended that it was only a move on the part of his wife to get rid of him. "I'll go," explained Clooin, energetically, "but I don't want more wives; one is enough for me."

By the court's decree he will be obliged to pay his wife $12 monthly toward her support.

Shippensburg Case Is Again in Court

Carlisle, Pa., Oct. 2.—Another case of the fight of the Big Spring Electrical Company against Kitzmiller Brothers, of Shippensburg, was staged in court here to-day with Judge McPherson, of Adams County, presiding. It is claimed by the company that the Shippensburg men subscribed for bonds for which they did not pay and the company won a verdict for about $50,000 in the last session of court. The defendants have begun an action to secure a new trial and the case was presented to-day.

"The world is in a nasty mess, but we need not fear that the Almighty is not conversant with the great problems it has to face," said Bishop William M. Bell, of Washington, D. C., yesterday afternoon. He added:

"When the period of readjustment comes it will outline anything that has ever been done in this respect in 2,000 years."

Yesterday was largely devoted to business meetings of committees. This was devoted to a discussion of "the minister," with the Rev. O. S. Mease, of Middletown; the Rev. Arthur Lehman, of Hummelstown, and the Rev. H. J. Behney, of Shamokin, as the speakers.

National Cemetery at Gettysburg Repaired

Gettysburg, Pa., Oct. 2.—As a result of an appropriation from Congress for maintenance of national cemeteries the roadways in the resting place of the Civil War heroes here will be improved during the next few weeks. United States engineers and contractors are on the ground and actually work will start this week. It is likely that the work cannot be finished this year, but that some of it will have to go over until next year. Work on the roadways in the cemetery has been neglected for a long time on account of the failure of Congress to appropriate any money.

Wilhelm, near here, had a nasty row escape from death yesterday in the store of her father. The fact that she did not swallow any of the soda probably saved the girl's life. Her face, lips and tongue were badly burned. Included in a consignment of groceries the girl's father had received during the day and which he was unpacking was caustic soda. One of the cans had been open and the girl began immediately to eat it, thinking it was candy.

In the letter which asks confirmation of the find Mr. Glass says that he will make a trip to Hawley to view the bones Friday.

Correct Fashions and Real Economy in Men's Clothes

The one big important point which you can always remember about Schleisner clothes for men is the correctness of the style without sacrificing, in the least, the tailoring or quality.

You have heard many times that so long as a man gets the correct style in his clothes, so long as his suit or overcoat looks good, he is satisfied.

A few men might be like that, but we believe the majority of men want their clothes well tailored, the best quality possible to get, and both combined with the correct style.

Schleisner suits and overcoats are authentic in fashion, tailored the best that men's clothing can be tailored, and the quality of material is assured. Yet Schleisner Clothes cost you no more than the ordinary kind, therefore, it is real economy to wear Schleisner clothes.
