One Customer's Verdict on Morning Shopping

"Oh, Miss Sachs! Why didn't I awaken long ago? It's such a delight to shop here in the morning." Thus remarked a customer a day or two ago as she completed her purchases.

Here I find the store so restful, so uncrowded, with plenty of time to make leisurely selections,

"I can carefully compare one garment with another, estimate my expenditures carefully, calmly figure my needs in relation to the sum I can afford to invest. It's so much more satisfactory."

Then, too, your salespeople, although always attentive and courteous, can better concentrate on my particular problem.

"And I feel that their advice is based upon such cool, deliberate judgment. They must of necessity be more competent in the morning: their perceptions keener, their eye for color harmonies truer. Hereafter I shall do all my shopping mornings."

The Sigler Piano There is no excuse for a home to be without a good piano these days. There are many cheap pianos on the market, but they are not good pianos. The Sigler Piano is a good piano at a moderate price. It is sound in construction—made of the best materials, and has a rich tone that is pleasing to the finished musician and an inspiration to the child just beginning its music lessons. The Sigler Piano is not a new instrument—there are years and years of service back of it to justify your choice of it for your home. Scores of Sigler Pianos are in local homes and have been there for generations. Let it prove what we claim—A Good Piano at a Moderate Price.
