

COLLECTIVE BARGAINING IS OPPOSED

Capital Representatives at Conference Score Strikes, Blacklists and Boycotts

WANT ADJUSTMENT FIRST Present Principles; All Three Groups Have Put in Proposals

Washington, Oct. 10.—Opposition to collective bargaining and the closed shop were among twelve fundamental principles outlined by a group representing capital at a pre-conference.

While deploring strikes and lockouts, the principles set forth that the right of strikes or lockouts "should not be denied as an ultimate resort after all possible means of adjustment have been exhausted."

Industrial Units For the settlement of disputes in private industry it was proposed that each establishment be regarded as an industrial unit with adequate machinery for adjustment of misunderstandings between employees and the management.

Proposals of all three groups in the conference—capital, labor and the public—have now been prepared and the committee of fifteen to which all matters are first referred under the conference rules, will be able to begin work.

150 More Rooms May Be Added to Penn-Harris to Meet Urgent Demand

While no official action has yet been taken by the directors of the Harrisburg Hotel Company, owners of the Penn-Harris, regarding an enlargement of the hotel to provide additional rooms, it became known today that the owners are seriously considering an extension of the building with a view to meeting the increasing demand for accommodations.

From the beginning the Penn-Harris, regarded as a landmark building at the outset for a number of years, proved so popular that the public has been clamoring for more room to supply the demand. Thousands of people have been turned away from the desk unable to secure rooms.

W. L. Stoddard, the architect, has been consulted regarding the best plan of enlargement and will probably be ready to submit his suggestions when the directors conclude to go ahead.

THE WEATHER Harrisburg and Vicinity: Unsettled with showers, probably tonight and Saturday, much cooler Saturday afternoon and night.

PROBING STRIKE CONDITIONS IN PITTSBURGH FIELD

Congressional Committee to Get Intimate View of Trouble on Grounds; Shots Fired as They Enter Mill

WITNESSES ON BOTH SIDES OF CONTROVERSY TO BE HEARD

Pittsburgh, Oct. 10.—Headed by Senator Kenyon, of Iowa, the Senate Labor Committee investigating the strike of steel workers arrived here early today from Washington and instituted its inquiry into conditions surrounding the walkout in the Pittsburgh district.

Four other members of the committee, Senators Phipps, Colorado; McKellar, Tennessee; Walsh, Mass.; and Sterling, South Dakota, accompanied Chairman Kenyon. The committeemen were busy during the early hours of the day arranging details for their investigation, which is expected to continue until next Monday or Tuesday.

According to the program mapped out by Senator Kenyon, the committee will endeavor to get an intimate view of strike conditions in the district and will inquire into charges of labor leaders that the strikers' rights of free speech and free assembly have been violated and that the workers have not been treated right by certain steel companies and the police authorities of some Western Pennsylvania towns.

Make Early Start An early start was made, the committee leaving by automobile for points up the Monongahela river. The first stop was made at the Homestead plant of the Carnegie Steel Company, a subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation.
