Peters, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Bonfer, and sons Wilbur and Carl.

NOTED VIOLINIST WITH OLD FRIEND

Sir Henry Heyman and Mrs. Zeline Mantey von Bereghy Meet After Many Years

Sir Henry Heyman, a noted violinist in San Francisco, stopped in Harrisburg yesterday enroute to New York city, to visit Prof. and Mrs. Julius Von Bereghy, 224 North Fifteenth street. Sir Henry and the latter were classmates at the Leipzig Conservatory studying the violin when she was Miss Zeline Mantey, the famous young concert violinist. It was the first time they had met in years.

Sir Henry was for a number of years a conductor of orchestras and director of many notable concerts, touring with Charles Camille Saint Saens, the noted French composer.

"I believe in America for American musicians," Sir Henry said during his talk about musical events. "Of course the European artists are wonderful but we have plenty of fine talent here and why shouldn't the public encourage it?" Years ago it was right that we turned to European musical art, but we have that genius here now and many of us do not appreciate the fact."

Shower of Leaves Tells News of Engagement

Garlands and branches of autumn leaves made beautiful decorations for the home of Mrs. John H. Nunemaker, of Crescent street, last evening, when she gave a little party for her daughter, Miss Sara Catherine Nunemaker, announcing her engagement to W. Clarence Thurman, of Dillsburg, receiving teller of the Harrisburg National Bank. During the supper a shower of leaves told the story. The marriage will be a spring event.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Central High school, class of 1915, and of the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago, 1918.

At last evening's party were: Miss Ruth Willoughby, Miss Clara A. Mahaney, Miss Emily Cummings, Miss Mabel Wright, Miss Pauline Hauck, Miss Lenore Studler, Miss Susan Thompson, Miss Margaretta Reed, Miss Edna Muzabagh, Miss Evelyn Speakman, Mrs. Curtis, Mrs. Fressler, Mrs. McAllister, Miss Louise Aughinbaugh and Miss Mabel Clark.

Give Surprise Party For Recently Returned Sailor

A surprise party was given in honor of Leroy Kerns, who has just returned from the Navy, at the home of William Conrad, 1003 Berryhill street. Games and music furnished the evening's entertainment. The decorations were pink and yellow. A buffet supper was served to the following: Miss Esther Shuey, Miss Betty Bushey, Miss Viola Kerns, Miss Laura Moreland and Miss Alice Kerns; Jack Keister, Paul Chrimer, William Conrad, Leroy Kerns, Lester Duncan, Harry Myland, William Rothrock, George Kerns, Earl Kerns, Mrs. George Kerns, Mrs. Conrad and Mr. Fields.

Visiting the Shops with Adele

I WAS walking by the main entrance to the Capitol several days ago, when some beautiful satins attracted my attention to the window of Louis, the Ladies' Tailor. On crossing the street, I discovered that with them was a lovely piece of material known as Chameleon Cord. It's the very latest thing, you know, and I've searched for it elsewhere in vain. It took Louis to exhibit it first, as is usual! Louis always carries a select assortment of the most exclusive materials and advance style sketches. At present he has on hand many lovely fabrics, including Peach Skin, Twilled Frostone, Pom Pon Bolivia and Warewell Silk Duvetyn. These he makes into beautifully tailored suits, modeled according to the individual figure and trimmed with rich beaver and seal. For superior quality, correct style, artistic workmanship and perfect fit, Louis' garments cannot be excelled.

I'N strolling down Second street the other day with a friend, I suddenly espied a beautifully gowned woman approaching from the opposite direction. "Isn't she a marvel of style?" I exclaimed. "Just look at that frock and hat." "Yes," answered my companion, "but please don't stop there. Look at her feet, if you will." I did, and, oh, my! Immediately the effect was spoiled, for her shoes were both shoddy and untidily large. I sighed and wished that she might have a pair of La France patent or vic kid that W. F. Paul is showing at his shop, 11 North Fourth street. Their long, narrow vamp and high, graceful heels combine to give them a slender effect that is so much desired—and they sell for just $12. Can you believe it?

H'ERE'S hoping I'm not disclosing a secret when I say that one of the foremost china painters of the city will, with her pupils, give an exhibition on October 16, 17 and 18 at Sultziger's Art and Antique Store, 223 North Second street. I was talking to Mr. Sultziger yesterday—and, incidentally, admiring the beautiful iridescent glass tumblers he is displaying—when he casually mentioned the matter. Not having been told to remain silent on the subject, I am passing the news on to you, confident that each and every lover of art in the vicinity will be vitally interested in the display.

W'AT a happy fate befell the little beaver chosen to trim the frock of brown duvetyne I found at the Cloos Shop this morning. Despite my frequent visits to the shops, I've failed to find anything more lovely in many and many a day. The lines of the dress are most distinctive and the soft, thick beaver of the collar and cuffs adds a rich, appealing note. Equally attractive is a frock of navy blue Paulette, with blouse and pelum effect, heavily beaded in green and blue. Bead trimmings encrust the pockets and a cord tie, ending in a chenille trimmed tassel, completes a remarkably clever garment.

T'ELL me, have you seen the display of artistic parchment motives in the lower window of the Art and Gift Shop, 205 North Second street? No? Well, you've surely missed a worth-while sight. Seldom do I find anything more desirable than these bits of hand-illuminated art. Framed in antique gold, they come in single or in double panels, some appropriate for the desk, others for the bookcase and still others for the music cabinet. Again, there is the one made expressly for that empty space above the fireplace, white scrolls have been placed beneath the glass of trays. All in all, they're just the most attractive little gems of art you'd care to find in many a day's weary journey.

Eaglesmere Booster Club Elects Officers at Church

The first meeting of the year of the Eaglesmere Booster Club was held in Stevens Memorial Church. The business meeting consisted largely of reports and elections. The results of the elections were as follows: President, Mr. Leon S. Simonetti, Fifth Street M. E. Church; secretary and treasurer, Miss Catherine Frederick, Stevens Memorial; executive committee, Dr. Heckman, district superintendent, C. W. Boli; district Epworth League president; the Rev. E. J. Keboch, Ridge avenue Methodist Episcopal Church; Miss Helen Broomall, Camp Curtin Methodist Episcopal Church; Miss Jane Horting, Ridge Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church; Miss Zula Brady, Epworth Methodist Episcopal Church; Miss Adeline Paul, Grace Methodist Episcopal Church.

After the business meeting a pleasant social hour was enjoyed. The next booster meeting will be held at the Fifth Street Methodist Episcopal Church, the date to be announced later.

Find Betrothal Story on Prescription Blanks

Guests at a little supper party given last evening by Miss LeNora Fry, of Riverside, had the pleasure of meeting Miss Beatrice Hinkle as the honored guest. Immediately after supper Miss Hinkle was seemingly ill, reviving only after taking some pellets from a tiny pill box.

The guests were each given similar pillboxes containing prescription blanks of Dr. William Stanley Carter, of Hazleton, with Latin directions, really announcing the betrothal of Miss Hinkle and Dr. Carter.

W. C. T. U. Contributes in Name of Minerva Hepford

Mrs. Carroll Kinter presided at the fall rally of the W. C. T. U. held yesterday afternoon in the Fourth Street Church. God, when Mrs. Manuel Andujar, of Porto Rico, made an address on "How the W. C. T. U. Came to San Juan." Her little daughter sang "The Holy Bible" and "America" in Spanish. It was unanimously voted to contribute $20 toward the soldiers' memorial in the name of Miss Minerva Hepford, the one member of the society to have seen "A" service during the war.

Have You Good Taste?

Most people think that they have good taste, but unfortunately an instinctive sense for harmonious color combinations is far from universal.

Fortunately, science has established certain laws which make it unnecessary to depend upon mere intuitive perceptions. And I have taken pains to see that my staff is familiar with these established standards.

Here is one simple test to apply to colors which will help you when undecided. We quote from a work by Prof. Spindler, of Wisconsin:

It is easy for any one to find out what colors are complimentary, and, therefore, harmonious, owing to the beautiful phenomena called "after images." If we take a small red card or a piece of cloth, for example, and place it upon a white back-ground, and look at the red steadily for thirty to sixty seconds, then drop the red piece and look steadily at the spot on the white back-ground where it was, we will soon get a beautiful after image, seemingly in that spot, of the color complimentary to the red—in this case a bluish green. This is the color harmonious to the original stimulation.
