

FEAR BREAK IN CHURCH UNITY AT CONVENTION

Fight Seems Apparent Among Episcopalians Over Prayer Book

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 13.—Breach of unity, possibly amounting to immediate schism, in the body of Protestant Episcopal Church in America, may result if further attempt to revise the prayer book is made in the present triennial general convention, according to opinion expressed by many leading churchmen attending. There is noted a distinct lining up of delegates in the House of Deputies for and against revision, with the controversy centering about the attitude of the delegations from the three Virginia dioceses.

Both clerical and lay delegates from Virginia have made plain their determination to "fight to the last ditch" against further revision of the devotional service and, it is said, their stand is having strong influence on other southern delegations.

Springs Sensation
A sensation was developed in the house of bishops by Bishop Joseph E. Cheshire, of North Carolina, who introduced a resolution to strike out "The Star Spangled Banner" and "America" from the church hymnal. More than 100 bishops and several hundred churchmen and church women who crowded the galleries listened with amazement to the proposal.

So that no one might doubt his loyalty, Bishop Cheshire said he had a son who "split his blood" on the battlefields of France, and added that his objection to the national anthem and "America" in the hymnal was due to the fact that they encouraged people to worship standards, after the manner of the old Roman empire.

"The essence of a hymn is its worship of God," he said. "I object to the inclusion in the church hymnal of these two hymns, which encourage worship of a flag."
When Bishop Cheshire ceased speaking Bishop James Henry Darlington, of Harrisburg, expressed his emphatic opposition to the resolution.

"I cannot conceive how any one can object to the singing of 'The Star Spangled Banner' and 'America' at any time or in any place," he said, when the resolution was placed on the calendar.
After the session several bishops said that Bishop Cheshire's resolution was certain to be defeated. They characterized his objections to the anthems as those of a "purist," also of one who was somewhat "finicky."

One Billion Loss in Sale of Supplies Is Charged to Baker

Washington, Oct. 13.—Sale of suburban property of the American Expeditionary Force at a loss to the government of more than $1,000,000,000, under the direct orders of Secretary Baker, is shown in the records brought from abroad by the House subcommittee investigating War Department expenditures, or which Roy L. Johnson is chairman.

The record of the policy laid down by Secretary Baker for the American Expeditionary Forces is found in the official minutes of a meeting of the American Liquidation Commission in Paris on April 16, 1918, which Mr. Baker attended. The declaration of the Baker policy, which was offered by the liquidation commission as its excuse for the wholesale sacrifice of American goods and the government's interests, reads in part as follows:
"The Secretary of War expressed the opinion that no property or material not needed by the army for consumption in the United States should be returned to the United States; and that in no event should such commodities as clothing, food supplies and engineering equipment be returned, but that all such commodities, as the same became surplus, should be disposed of by the commission in Europe to the best advantage."

Pursuant to Mr. Baker's orders, surplus commodities in France which had cost the government $1,426,000,000 were sold to the French government for the round sum of $400,000,000, or considerably less than one-third their cost price.

"Closed Shop" Is Not American, He Says

Washington, Oct. 13.—That the "closed shop" is un-American, is the assertion of the Republican Publicity Association in the following statement, given out by the president of that organization, Jonathan Bourne, Jr.:

"The crux of the demands of the labor group presented to the labor-capital conference may be summarized as follows: The right of wage-earners to bargain collectively, through unions, represented by agents of their own choosing. It is a one-sided proposition. It speaks of the 'right' of wage-earners to bargain in a certain way, but assumes that there shall be no right to bargain in any other way. What the unions desire is not the right, but the power, to bargain collectively, and, under the form of bargaining collectively, to dictate terms to employers. Their object is not bargaining, but dictation."

Raisuli Offers to Surrender to Spain

Madrid, Oct. 13.—A report from Tangier says that Raisuli, the bandit, has offered to surrender to the Spanish government. Spanish troops, according to Moroccan reports, have occupied Fez, Marrakech, Rabat and Casablanca.
Raisuli's forces were recently defeated by Spanish troops and his stronghold in Morocco captured. Latest reports had the bandit in flight.

ALLIED TRADE DELEGATES HERE FOR CONFERENCE

Five-Day Meeting Will Begin at Atlantic City Next Thursday

By Associated Press
New York, Oct. 13.—The International Commission to the International Trade Conference, consisting of 36 delegates from Great Britain, France, Italy and Belgium has arrived here on the transport North Pacific to represent their respective countries at the five days' conference which is to open in Atlantic City next Thursday.

The delegates are here as guests of the United States, and include sixteen members from France; six from Great Britain, seven from Italy and seven from Belgium. A corps of secretaries and financial experts also accompany the party.

The British delegation includes John Greeley Jenkins, M. P., a native of Pennsylvania, who migrated to Australia in 1872 and became premier in 1901. Marshall Stevens, M. P., also with the British delegation, has financial interests in America which have been frequently brought him here.

The French commission consists of several bankers, merchants and manufacturers, as well as commercial experts and educators.

The Italian mission numbers several internationally known persons, including Dr. Luigi Luiggi, who served on the advisory board of the Suez canal construction commission.

Florimond Hankar, head of the Belgian mission, is director of the National Bank of Belgium, and internationally known as a financial and insurance expert.

With Deadlock on, Hope Remains For No Strike in Mines

By Associated Press
Philadelphia, Oct. 13.—Although the conference between bituminous coal operators and miners, which was held here last week, ended in a deadlock and it was announced that a general strike would be called for November 1, there were indications to-day that the difficulties would yet be adjusted. Both sides officially declared their willingness to meet again and it was strongly indicated that a third interest, more than likely of the bituminous coal operators, would bring the two together.

John L. Lewis, acting president of the United Mine Workers left for Indianapolis last night. Before going he announced that he would issue the strike call by telegraph on Tuesday. No strike vote will be necessary, owing to the action of the recent convention in Cleveland.

Shipping Officials Have No Word of the Ammonosic

New York, Oct. 13.—Although reports were received that the 1,523-ton wooden steamship Ammonosic, bound from Baltimore to Rotterdam with coal, was in a serious condition and expected to sink unless help was held out, shipping officials here were without any official information of the ship.

The Ammonosic was reported on Friday in a dispatch from Boston as "drifting with her engines disabled." The last reported position of the vessel was given to-day as latitude 39 degrees, 11 minutes north, longitude 60 degrees, 23 minutes west.

Girl Cut on Face Trying to Prevent Murder of Mother

Ocean Grove, N. J., Oct. 13.—Christine Hartman, a 17-year-old girl, was cut on the face and shoulders and will be scarred for life as the result of a futile effort she made last night to prevent her mother from being murdered, according to the police.

At the conclusion of a quarrel between her mother and her uncle, Joseph Mackey, the young girl is said to have thrown herself between the two men, but she was cut and hurled across the room, and before she could return to her mother's side she had almost severed the head from the body. Mackey later ended his life by cutting his own throat.

Cardinal Mercier Is Honored by Pennsylvanians

New York, Oct. 13.—Cardinal Mercier was the guest at a luncheon at the Waldorf-Astoria tendered him by the Pennsylvania Society which presented him with a gold medal. The presentation was made by Charles M. Schwab, president of the society, before 500 members.

Cardinal Mercier said he appreciated deeply the contributions of Pennsylvania toward the winning of the war. The iron, steel and coal which had come from that State, he said, had been an important factor in the aid which the United States had brought to Europe. He paid tribute to Mr. Schwab, who made possible the bridge of ships from the United States to France, and declared that America's success in the war was due both to her material means and her ability for applying them.

Harrisburg Navy to Plan For Future at First Annual Banquet

Although the Penn-Harris in its young life has already seen many jubilee banquets, it is doubtful if it has yet had anything that will in any way near approach the Ki-Paneta banquet to be held Thursday evening.

For instance, Admiral J. William Bowman, who will be toastmaster, will conduct the affair from the deck of the flagship Ki-Paneta, the samp flag from the deck of which he presided over the big Labor Day festival on the river. A big force of decorators from the local department stores, now working like beavers to decorate the big ballroom and one of their tasks is to get the big flagship into the room.

Just how they will solve this problem is hard to say, perhaps John Newton and his Sons of Rest, who evolved the plan for getting that famous steam shovel out of the Penn-Harris cellar, will be called upon to get the fifty-foot boat to the third-floor ballroom. Anyway the decorators have promised that the ship will be there, so car count upon seeing Admiral Bowman on deck in real naval style.

Ira C. Kandler and the other members of the banquet committee report that the demand for tickets has far surpassed their estimates and those who desire to attend should get in touch with the committee at once. Tickets may be obtained at the Chamber of Commerce offices or from the presidents of the Rotary or Elks Clubs. All the organizations have endorsed the Navy's plans and Thursday's affair will be a real community event.

The object is to awaken interest in plans to develop Harrisburg's wonderful natural advantages for recreation on the Susquehanna and the proposed loan for $40,000 for river bathing beaches and bath-houses. Mr. Kandler has a big boost. This loan will be submitted to the voters at the November election and is sure to pass.

While the committee desires to get into personal touch with every canoeist in the city, the time is far too short, so canoeists are urged to attend and make their reservations into which Mr. Kandler is prompt. Every canoeist should be a strong Navy booster and should show his interest by being on hand Thursday evening.

Cheap Oil to Be Used For House Heat

A device that will revolutionize the heating of buildings, do away with the chattering of the water boiler, and provide additional safeguard from fires, has been patented by William M. Hoffman. By its use a fuel oil burner, without mechanical aids, and out of a very small amount of oil, through perfect combustion, great heat is secured.

The burner is called the three-element burner, because in its operation it blends in its flame carbon, hydrogen and oxygen. It is by the blending of these three elements that the carbon gives a very hot flame, and being lighted, generates in a very simple manner steam which furnishes forced draught for the burner. A mass of very hot flaming gas—a miniature gas well—comes out of the top of the burner and is radiated out into the combustion chamber of the stove or furnace. One valve regulates the amount of heat furnished.

Some of Harrisburg's leading business men, and some of the resident state officials have invited the inventor to make a demonstration here this week. Officials of the Chamber of Commerce and Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs will be among those invited to inspect the invention.

State High in Number of American Legion Posts

Pennsylvania has now 395 posts of the American Legion, the third largest number of any State, according to reports recently sent out from the national headquarters in New York. The membership of the Legion in Pennsylvania is approximately 750,000 soldiers, sailors, marines, yeomanettes and nurses.

The figures given above are inclusive of September 30, and do not include the membership in the drive for 1,000,000 members. It is expected that by November 11, when the national convention of the Legion opens in Minneapolis, that there will be over 6,000 posts in the United States with the membership goal secured.

There are at present 395 posts in this State and many more are applying for charters daily. At the time of the State convention on October 2, 3 and 4, there were only 150 posts. It was at that time that Governor Sproul made his address to the Legion and gave it his unqualified endorsement, pledging every aid that lay in his power.

Mark E. Minor, of Post 27, and Patrick Sweeney, of Post 279, are the local men who will attend the convention.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

NO MINISTERIAL STRIKE
To the Editor of the Telegraph:
Should the minister strike? No. Does he strike? Yes. He strikes for God's stars, for the Home fires, and ever for the country's sanctity, but not for "wages."

Sounds Call For Mobilization to Down Anarchists

By Associated Press
Pittsburgh, Oct. 13.—The Very Rev. Father Ignatius Smith, of Holy Name Society, in an address here yesterday before the annual session of the Diocesan Union, sounded the mobilization call for the 1,600,000 members of the organization to combat what he termed an "anarchist" to overthrow the government of the United States and "hoist the red flag in stead."

Present day unrest, said Father Smith, can be traced to radical foreigners "who we invited over here to partake of our hospitality." "These anarchists," he continued, "who know neither God nor obedience to our laws must be crushed down. We need not be armed with the rifle and the machine gun to crush them down; we will leave that to the armed forces, but we can help to defeat them by our example of our obedience to the law and the government."

Urges "Service at Cost" For Street Railways

Washington, Oct. 13.—Adoption of the "service-at-cost" plan of fixing street-railway fares by municipalities, with the valuation based upon cost of replacement, probably will be recommended by the President's Electric Railway Commission. It is to report within a few weeks its conclusions from the extended hearings held recently in Washington.

The "service-at-cost" plan, which members of the commission look upon as the most logical and equitable solution of the street-railway problem from the standpoint of both the public and the companies, is based on the principle of payment on basis of mileage and municipal ownership is not regarded by the commission as suggesting a satisfactory settlement of the problem.

It is understood also that the commission will take some action in the matter of immediate relief for the companies, and suggest that higher fares should be granted to meet temporary relief for the companies to meet the acute financial difficulties into which many of them were said to be drifting. The commission is to urge also, it was said, the absolute necessity for a better understanding between the public and the street railway managers.

Sunday School Rally Held in New Cumberland Church

The annual Sunday School rally was well attended at St. Paul's Lutheran Church yesterday morning. The auditorium was decorated for the occasion with fall flowers and pennants. The program included songs by the choir, selections by male quartet, addresses by Professor Chas. Beckley, Simon Boyer and superintendent; solo, Mrs. Maude Boyer; recitation by pupils of Sunday school; cornet solo, Mrs. Irene Michael. One of the features was an exercise by members of Sunday School entitled "God's Gardeners" who passed through gates overhung with an arch decorated with green. As each member passed through, Scripture verses were recited. Several boys acted as guards.

CENSOR GERMAN PAPERS
Berlin, Oct. 13.—French authorities in the zone of occupation are now systematically censoring and suppressing the German newspapers which are coming into unoccupied Germany, according to the Frankfurt Gazette.

Rally Day Observed by Zion Bible Class

Rally Day in the Men's Organized Bible Class, Zion Lutheran Church, was fittingly observed yesterday. The new music books recently purchased by the class were used for the first time.

Webster S. Koehlhaas, class secretary, rendered a baritone solo in fine voice, accompanied by J. E. Major and Lewis Zarker, contributed a most pleasing tenor solo. He was accompanied by W. E. Bretz. Arthur H. Hull taught an interesting lesson on "Fishers of Men." A volunteer committee visited Robert L. Boyer, a member of the class, at the Harrisburg Hospital, where he is recovering from an operation performed last Wednesday.

An every-member canvass of the class is being conducted this week to get in close touch with each man preparatory to celebrating the tenth anniversary rally Sunday.

West End Republicans to Hold Big Banquet

The West End Republican Club will serve a chicken and waffle supper to-morrow evening. A special program is being prepared and will include a number of speeches by the Republican nominees and other prominent men.

ATTENDES CONVENTION
Anton Benson, advertising manager of Benson & Co., left for Wilkes-Barre to-day to attend a conference of representatives from the various advertising clubs of the State. There will be a banquet this evening at Hotel Fort Duquesne and a discussion of the promotion of a state association of advertising clubs.
