USES COMMON YELLOW MUSTARD FOR CHEST COLDS AND SORE THROAT Old Fashioned Simple Home Remedy Much Used by Doctors and Nurses for Inflammation, Congestion, Aches, Pains and Swellings. Mustard, real yellow mustard, the kind you use at home, is being used more than ever to banish distress and misery and free mankind from agony and suffering. Not very long ago people used to make yellow mustard into a paste, spread it on a cloth and apply it to the part of the body where pain or inflammation was present. It surely did do the work it was expected to do, but it was messy and bothersome and often blistered the skin. People still use yellow mustard when they get a cold in the chest or have pleurisy, lumbago or rheumatic pains and swellings. But nowadays they buy this yellow mustard in condensed form all ready for use for sore throats, chest pains and other ailments. It is a box and it is much better, cheaper and cleaner than mustard plasters. This is a 30-cent box—you'll praise it to the skies as millions are doing every day. Always in the yellow box.

Wheat—The average yield of wheat is estimated at 17.7 bushels as compared with 13.3 bushels last year and a 10-year average of 13.1 bushels per acre.

The total production is estimated at 28,011,000 as compared with 26,022,800 bushels last year. The increase in acreage accounts for the difference in the total. Conditions for wheat were ideal and a good crop was expected until when excessive rains prevented proper fertilization. Then insect pests and plant diseases, together with storms before harvest and while the grain was in shock, blasted the hopes of the Pennsylvania farmers. Last year conditions improved as harvest approached and this year it was the reverse. The quality of wheat is estimated at 81 per cent compared with 103 per cent one year ago.

Oats—The average yield of oats is 29.6 bushels per acre, making a total production of 33,546,500 bushels. Last year's yield was 39 bushels per acre, and the total production 44,103,000 bushels. The 10-year average is 32.6 bushels per acre. Quality of oats this year is 89 per cent.

Barley—The average yield of barley is estimated at 24.9 bushels per acre and the total production 348,600 bushels.

Corn—Present indications are that the average yield of corn will reach 47 bushels per acre, and considering the large acreage, the total production will approximate 74,176,000 bushels. This is the largest corn crop ever produced in Pennsylvania. Weather conditions were very favorable during the growing season, and the crop has matured without damage by frost.

Buckwheat—The conditions of buckwheat is 92 per cent and is indicative of a yield of 21.0 bushels per acre. On this basis the total production will approximate 6,652,000 bushels. Last year's crop was estimated at 6,191,600 bushels.

Potatoes—The condition of potatoes on October 1 is 80 per cent and forecasts an average yield of 94 bushels per acre and a total production of 26,863,000 bushels. The average yield last year was 83.5 bushels per acre and the total production 24,753,000 bushels. The late potatoes are a better yield than the early ones. Considerable rot has been reported, more particularly in the northern part of the State, due to blight and wet weather.

Tobacco—The acreage of tobacco is 8 per cent below last year. Conditions are favorable for a normal and indicates a yield of 1,343 pounds per acre and a total production of 50,832,500 pounds. The crop last year was estimated at 58,007,000 pounds.

Pasture—The condition of pasture is 98 per cent compared with a normal and indicates that pastures and meadows are in very good condition.

Loses Fight For Corner Lot in Cemetery

Judge C. V. Henry, who presided at the hearing of the equity suit brought by S. S. Pick, of Millersburg, against the Oak Hill Cemetery Association, handed down an opinion yesterday afternoon. Mr. Pick asked the court to order the cemetery association to reopen certain streets in the cemetery which had been closed and laid out in lots to be sold for burial purposes. He contended he had purchased a corner lot, but by closing a street running beside it he lost the advantage of the lot. The cemetery association contended it had the right to close streets, so long as it did not deprive any owner from reasonable access to his lot. Judge Henry ruled in favor of the cemetery association and dismissed the bill of complaint. The court said the right to change the plan of lots was properly exercised by the board of managers and that it had the right to close streets if owners of lots were not deprived of access to them.
