SENATOR WILLIAM S. KENYON

While members of the United states Senate Committee on Labor and Education were making a personal investigation in Pittsburgh in connection with the steel strike, Senator William S. Kenyon, of the two days, chairman of the committee, narrowly escaped being shot. At first it was thought the bullets were directed at Mr. Kenyon and the other Senators, but it was learned that that they were fried at strike pickets by steel workers who had remained at work.

Decision Absolute

It was the first time the question of the packers' right to especially expedite service on nonperishable groceries had come before a tribunal with power to render an absolute decision.

with power to render an absolution.

The wholesale grocers' complaint is based on the allegation that the packers have entered extensively into the wholesale grocery business and are permitted to ship staple and nonperishable grocery products in their refrigerator cars with fesh meat. The I. C. C. is asked by the grocers to cause the railroads to remove from their tariffs that privilege.
