STRIKE ORDER STANDS, MINERS' DEFY TO WILSON

Officials Announce After Conference They Have No Idea of Modifying Call For Walkout

PRESIDENT'S PRONOUNCEMENT WITHOUT SINGLE DEFENDER

Indianapolis, Oc. 29.—The strike order of the United Mine Workers, effective Friday midnight, stands. After two hours' discussion the conference here to-day of officials of the big union it was announced had no idea of modifying the call for a cessation of work.

President Wilson's pronouncement on the threatened industrial war had no defender in the conference, it was stated. The condemnation of the proposed walkout by President Wilson and his suggestion that a tribunal be appointed to find a basis of settlement of the disagreement between workers and employers with coal production continuing meanwhile, held no charms for the union leaders.

Predict Reply to Wilson. Just prior to the conference, authoritative forecasts of the action to-day are almost totally lacking. There is a well-defined impression, however, that a reply to President Wilson would be outlined, at least, if not fully drafted and adopted by the conference as a whole.

Final Word. With but 60 hours left before the time for stoppage of production of the nation's fuel supply, the meeting is the most weighty one which has yet been held in connection with the miners' demands for a six-hour day, a five-day week and 60 per cent. increase in output of it which will become the final word of the miners on the situation.

Representatives of coal miners in all parts of the country were here to-day, for while it originally was planned to hold only a meeting of the executive board of the organization at this time, in view of the demand of President Wilson last Saturday that the strike order be rescinded, Acting President John L. Lewis broadened the scope of the conference.

Realize Seriousness. The delegates entered the conference this morning with a full realization of the seriousness of their undertaking. In the first place, they have met with expressions of the grave consequences attaching to the
