DIES SUDDENLY

News of the death was conveyed in messages to relatives here yester day. Although relatives and close friends here were aware of his illness, there had been no intimation that his condition was critical and it is supposed his death was sudden. William Beury was born May 19, 1844, in what is now Port Carbon, Schulykill county. His father was one of the first settlers and a pioneer coal operator of that section. As a young man, William Beury took up the occupation of anthracite mining and in the years that followed became an expert on every phase of the industry.

Fire Destroys Plant of Dallastown Gas Co.

Dallastown, Pa., Oct. 30.—Fire of unknown origin destroyed the plant of the Dallastown Gas Company. The structure, a two-story brick building, is entirely gutted out and the roof burned off. The fire was discovered by workmen who were installing a new boiler in the plant Several men at work on the second floor were trapped and forced to jump from the windows. The loss is about $2,200, with no insurance. The tools of the workmen were lost in the flames. The plant furnishes light and fuel to Red Lion and Dallastown. The tanks are situated some distance from the building and were not damaged, so that there is a few days' supply of gas still intact. Dallastown, Pa., Oct. 30 .- Fire of

Man Hastens Fire With Oil; Burns May Be Fatal

Lebanon, Pa., Oct. 30. — Elmer Reiter was probably fatally burned by the explosion of coal oil at his home in this place. Reiter was starting a fire in the kitchen stove with oil when the contents of the can became ignited and set fire to his clothing and the building. His clothes quickly became a mass of flames. His screams attracted his wife and neighbors who tore his clothes from him and extinguished the blaze that threatened the home. The building and furniture of the family were badly damaged.
