

SCHOOL FOR CAR CREWS IS OPENED

City's Motormen and Conductors Will Be Given Mechanical Instruction

Aiming to better its service generally, Harrisburg Railways Company has announced plans for a school of instruction for its motormen and conductors.

In this school, instruction will be given in the mechanism and operation of all parts of electric car machinery. This, it is believed, will increase the efficiency of the men, minimize delay in car movement and make a better service generally.

The local plan will be patterned after those now working successfully in New York City, Boston and Philadelphia, according to a statement of Frank B. Musser, president of the company.

Employees are already at work in the company's car barns in Eleventh street, constructing a skeleton car which will be used in the school. It will be so arranged that every working part will be in plain sight and exposed for study. Courses will be given in the use of the controller, the airbrakes will be demonstrated in all their parts and the heating and ventilating systems will likewise be studied.

Old employees on the lines as well as new applicants for positions will be given the courses of instruction, which according to present plans will be started within the next two or three weeks. The men will be divided into groups of a half dozen to constitute classes and each class will be given thorough instruction.

Numerous advantages will be gained by the new plan, said Mr. Musser on commenting on the school. "Men will be instructed so that they may become thoroughly familiar with all parts of the apparatus and will be able to make minor repairs on the road in a few minutes. Heretofore many of the employees have been unacquainted with the various working parts and the result has been that oftentimes trivial breaks have resulted in a holdup in traffic and a delay in getting passengers to their respective destinations. We hope, by the courses of instruction we are mapping out, to eliminate many of these delays and increase considerably the efficiency of street car service in Harrisburg."

"Well, give it then," retorted Francis. "Of course I'm wrong."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

GET WALLACE TO CUT LIVING COST

Trickster at Majestic Gets Dozens of Eggs From Empty Hat

Step right this way, Wallace Galvin, and sell us your hat and your secret. Anyone who can take an empty hat and get about two dozen eggs from it should take the first train for Washington and look up Herbert Hoover.

Wallace is the feature entertainer on the Majestic program for the last half. He comes on second, stays right at the front of the stage, and offers some exceptionally good illusions. First the usual card passes, then the disappearing egg, then the hat and eggs, and last of all he takes five large metal rings all linked together, then pulls them apart quite easily, without breaking the rings. How does he do it? Take a guess.

Armstrong and Downey start after the serial, one doing some songs and dance numbers, the other in a tramp makeup doing fancy bicycling and riding. Wallace Galvin is next with his trickery, then Harry Oakes and company present a sketch, "Behind the Future," which is fairly entertaining.

Shaw and Campbell are billed in "Moments Musical," the most musical part of the act consisting of a splendid piano solo, although some of their songs were good. McWatters and Tyson close the bill.

Red Losses Are Big in New Offensive

London, Oct. 31.—The situation on the Petrograd front is reported in official advices received here to be stable. It is asserted that the Bolshevik attack with heavy concentrations, which forced General Yudenitch's army back, appears to have exhausted the Reds, whose losses were very heavy.

A wireless dispatch received from Moscow reports that General Yudenitch has been compelled to evacuate Gatchina, owing to the fact that the Bolsheviks are menacing his line of communication.

THAT'S WHERE! Irwin O. Biffle, one of the air mail pilots who flies between Chicago and Cleveland, received an unexpected lesson in geography one day. He was flying westward when a storm came up. Fog enveloped him, and he was driven by diverse air currents many miles out of his course. Then his engine went wrong, and he was forced to descend.

He wasn't quite certain what state he was in. As he neared the ground, however, the skies grew lighter, and he saw a crowd of villagers running toward him through a field.

They surrounded him as he reached land. "Where am I?" asked Biffle. "You're in Jerry Hendick's cow pasture," said one of them.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

CAN'T TAX ESTATE OF HETTY GREEN

State Controller Is Denied the Right by the Surrogate Fowler

Holding that the late Hetty Green, noted as the world's wealthiest woman, had no business domicile in the State of New York, Surrogate Robert Ludlow Fowler has decided against the State Controller's office in its efforts to subject Mrs. Green's estate to taxation.

The Surrogate's decision holds that "the growing danger of injustice is not to the poor, but to the people of property," and sternly rebukes "Socialist tendencies" in many modern tax laws.

This is the fifth time that State authorities have sought to prove Mrs. Green was a resident of New York, in contention which was lost in both the Surrogate and Appellate courts. It was on the rehearing, ordered by the Appellate Division, that Surrogate Fowler handed down his opinion.

With respect to the Controller's assertion that Mrs. Green "did business" in this State the Surrogate observed: "A rich Roman 2,000 years ago might have loaned and invested and reinvested her billions of sestercs at her private chambers without any danger of being classed by the public authorities with the negotiators and assessors of carrying on 'business' provided she had not opened a Taberna Argentina, or money shop, where the public could resort for transactions of their own."

"Now, the evidence before the New York appraiser shows that Mrs. Green never did. She kept no 'open shop' or place of resort for the public. She made no transactions but her own, and in a legal sense, such transactions were not her 'business,' but her private affairs, of no actual or lawful concern to the State."

The surrogate holds that the term "business" is so indefinite, vague and ambiguous that it should never be used in the statutes of this State.

EDISON JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The students of section 8BS held an election the other day for class officers. The officers elect are: president, Bernard Watson; vice-president, Edward Updegraff; secretary, Irma King; assistant secretary, Mary Wiperman; treasurer, Josephine Stein; assistant treasurer, Kathryn Oyer; class captain for boys, Harold Nelson; class captain for girls, Evelyn Seibert; lieutenant for boys, Russell Metzger; lieutenant for girls, Helen Scott; parliamentary critic, Eugene Willis; assistant parliamentary critic, Sara Hetrick; watch your speech critic, Mildred Crouse; assistant watch your speech critic, Abram Smith; reporter to the Edison Guard, Ira Brehm.

The equipment is being installed in the lunch room and that room should be ready for the use of the students within the next few weeks. When it is ready food will be sold to the students at a figure as near the cost as it is possible to make.

The policy of the management will be to make this department of the school just meet its expenses. The equipment being installed is modern and of such nature that it will suffice to prepare and serve food to a large number of students in the least possible time.

The authorities are making every effort to get the building ready to accommodate the entire student body. It is hoped that the school will be ready to go on full time in the near future. It is quite possible that the academic department will be able to go on a full-time basis before the shops are ready. If this occurs the shop students will be excluded from school during the period in which, according to their present schedules, they should be doing shop work.

Nearly one hundred students from section 8B1, 8B3 and 8B7 hiked to Spooky Hollow a few evenings ago. When they arrived at their destination they built campfires and tasted marshmallows. After they had had a thoroughly good time they returned to the city, reaching their starting point about nine fifteen.

They had spent about two and one-half hours on the trip. Mr. Albright accompanied the hikers.

The manager of the football team has not succeeded in arranging a game for the coming Saturday and it looks as if the team will be idle on that day. This is a bitter disappointment for the boys as they have been training hard this week and their season is short at best.

Next Saturday is also open. It was generally expected by the team that the manager would succeed in getting Millersburg for a game Saturday morning, but Millersburg could not arrange to accept the date.

Section 8A3 has held their election for home-room officers. The following are the officers elect: president, Theodore Nye; vice-president, Harvey Dintman; secretary, Marie Baum; assistant secretary, Thelma Warner; treasurer, George Missemer; assistant treasurer, Julia Shartzler; class captain for boys, Luther Shoop; class captain for girls, Helen Shambaugh; lieutenant for boys, Stanley Geetz; lieutenant for girls, Cora Bell; parliamentary critic, Simon Katzen; assistant parliamentary critic, Sara Martin; watch your speech critic, Mary Blalock; assistant watch your speech critic, Frank Hope; reporter to the Edison Guard, Marlin Bender.

Roundup of Reds in Cleveland Planned

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 31.—The terrorist menace disclosed by police raids since Tuesday has gained such a foothold and has become so widespread in Cleveland, according to Police Captain Martin Lavelle, that the arrests thus far made do not begin to clarify the situation.

"Our investigation tends to show there are between twenty-six and thirty Communist Party chapters being organized in Cleveland, their purpose being simply to precipitate a reign of terror and take over the government," he said to-day.

Sixteen men and one woman have been arrested since Tuesday night. It was expected detectives from all parts of the country would begin reaching Cleveland soon to round up every rascal in Cleveland, now looked upon as the headquarters for a nation-wide reign of terror.

SUGAR and EXPERIENCE SUGAR shortage, governmental regulations and rationing apply to us as well as you, and, of course, this shortage has its effect on the number of TASTY-KAKES baked. It has been necessary that we limit, and in some cases discontinue the baking, of those cakes that require the highest percentage of white sugar. It may be at times you will be unable to purchase one of these varieties, and we ask your indulgence until such a time as conditions become normal. THROUGH governmental regulations we are receiving only a small portion of the sugar we require, but the experience of years in baking has taught us how to use this ration in the most economical manner, and get the greatest results from it. IT is almost impossible for the housewife to buy sufficient sugar to take care of the needs of her family. By taking advantage of our experience she can conserve her already limited supply by using one of the TASTYKAKE varieties that is suitable for dessert. A delicious plum pudding can be made with Molasses TASTYKAKE by steaming it for ten minutes and serving with a hot sauce. For the sauce use: 1/4 cup corn syrup 1 tablespoon flour 1/4 teaspoon salt to which add one cup of boiling water, and cook until it begins to thicken, then add a teaspoonful of butter and flavor with lemon juice and a bit of grated lemon rind. (Be careful not to grate the white of the rind). As a finishing touch, add a little nutmeg. HARRISBURG REPRESENTATIVE Mr. C. B. WOLBERT, 301 Briggs St., Harrisburg, Pa.
